Dear Peter

Further to our telephonic conversation, this is the information
I would like you to furnish me with:

1. Early in the 50's J. C. Strydom said:
"Die wit man moet altyd bly/wees"
2. Verwoerd said of the policies they were revolving that:
(Apartheid is a granite rock"
3. Robert C. Swart as Minister of Justice said:
"The police must shoot first and answer questions afterII
4. J. B. Voster said:-
I'The promotion of Nationalist Party policies came before economic growth"

The statements in no's 1.,2,3 were made during the 50's. John Voster made this statement after he took over as Prime Minister after the death of Verwoerd.
Please find out the context in which these statements were made.
I require information urgently, i.e. by the middle of October at the latest.
