Dear Cde. Mongalo,

Thank you for your kind letter about the work on the economy we have produced under the London Sub-Committee of the ANC Research Unit. I shall certainly convey your thanks to the authors.

I am concerned that you have not yet received the Economic Assessment Papers, for a set was despatched by air mail on the same day as my letter of 7 November. In case they have gone missing en route I am sending another set air mail today. Perhaps you could let me know if they fail to arrive soon after this letter.

Yours sincerely

Dear Louy,

I received your recent letter regarding your receipt of my article analyzing the Comprehensive Anti-Apartheid Act of 1986. As you requested, I will gladly send you follow-up information on the Act's implementation. Enclosed you will find a summary of the report on "Communist influence" in South Africa, commissioned by the Act.

I am also enclosing the latest issue of Black Enterprise Magazine, a monthly business and finance publication with a national readership of about 2 million. Page 18 contains an article on the ANC. Finally, you will find the premier issue of The Legal Front, a publication on legal-related questions in the South African struggle, of which I am co-editor.

I have been asked by The Legal Front, as well as by Essence Magazine (circulation 4 million) to obtain an interview with the President for publication. This was attempted during his brief visit here, but my phone calls were not returned by Neo Mnumzana, the Chief Rep. When Shabo arrived I gave him a set of questions but apparently there was no time to obtain a response. We would still like to have the interview, therefore I plan to send Shabo a set of revised questions. I will also send you a copy and hope that you can facilitate. Thanks in advance.

Warmest regards,

Jeanne

Dear Sir/Madam,

We are in receipt of your letter dated 12th August 1986, which has a fuel and oil receipt attached to it. Unfortunately the fuel and oil receipt has no monetary total due upon it and therefore we are finding it a little difficult to effect payment to yourselves.

If you could supply us with a proper invoice for the amount concerned, it would help us a great deal.

Thank you for your patronage.

Yours faithfully.

THE HUNGER PROJECT

The Hunger Project, an international not-for-profit organization, is the sponsoring agency for The Africa Prize for Leadership.

The purpose of The Hunger Project is to create the end of hunger and starvation on our planet as an idea whose time has come.

Through programs of education and communication, The Hunger Project is building a global constituency and commitment to the end of hunger in order to bring forth the work that must be done to end the persistence of hunger and starvation on our planet by the turn of the century.

As of 1 January 1987, more than 5 million individuals living in 152 countries had declared their commitment to the end of world hunger by enrolling themselves in The Hunger Project. Currently, The Hunger Project has ongoing activities in 25 countries.

The Hunger Project is on the roster of the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC).

THE AWARD

The Africa Prize for Leadership will honor annually a distinguished African who, in the eyes of the jury, has exhibited exceptional leadership in bringing about the sustainable end of the persistence of hunger at the national, regional or continent-wide level.

The prize focuses on those individuals working in such arenas as public policy, science, agriculture, education and health whose leadership and policies reflect courage, initiative, creativity, boldness and, in some cases, personal sacrifice. The prize is intended to acknowledge and honor the recipient's outstanding contribution to the general well-being of the people of Africa. In addition, the prize seeks to generate heightened awareness within the world community of the many African leaders who are making the difficult public policy decisions necessary to resolve the pressing agricultural, economic, political and social issues facing the continent.

Ultimately, the prize is intended to engender a greater appreciation for, and support of, the effective and dynamic leadership associated with the end of hunger in Africa on a sustainable basis.

NOMINATIONS

Nominations for the 1987 Africa Prize for Leadership can be submitted by individuals or organizations.

Written nominations can be made by letter or by submitting the nomination form. Current biographical information should be included if available, as well as a brief statement concerning the leadership qualities of the nominee that qualify him or her for the prize. Additional information, reports or articles that would serve to inform the jury of the nominee's work are welcome.

Nominations and accompanying materials must be received no later than 15 June 1987.

THE PRIZE CEREMONY

The Africa Prize for Leadership will be presented at a ceremony in New York City on 17 September 1987, coinciding with the annual opening of the UN General Assembly.

The prize recipient must be present at the prize ceremony.

INTERNATIONAL JURY

Robert S. McNamara, former president of The World Bank, serves as chairman of the international jury that will make the final selection of the prize recipient.

The jury will be composed of distinguished individuals prominent in African affairs and international development.

Joan Holmes, executive director of The Hunger Project, serves as executive secretary to the jury.

Dear Ms. B.R. Tangri

We have received with deep appreciation your letter and the enclosed publication - the Arturo Tanco Memorial Lecture - delivered by General Obasanjo.

The publication will certainly be of great use to us who have to plan the agriculture for a future united non-racial and democratic South Africa, basing ourselves on the conditions in South Africa and the experiences of other African countries.

Should it be possible, please send us some of your other publications.

Yours sincerely

Dear Mr. Mongalo:

On behalf of Mr. Robert McNamara, I am writing to invite you to submit nominations for the first annual Africa Prize for Leadership for the Sustainable End of Hunger. Mr. McNamara, former president of the World Bank, chairs the international jury which will make the final selection of the prize recipient.

The Africa Prize for Leadership will honor a distinguished African who, in the eyes of the jury, has exhibited exceptional leadership in bringing about the sustainable end of the persistence of hunger at the national, regional or continent-wide level.

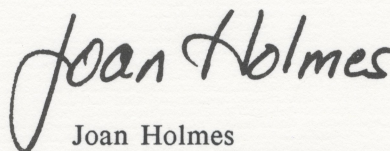

The prize will be presented annually, beginning in September 1987. In addition, the prize seeks to generate heightened awareness within the world community of the many African leaders who are making the difficult public policy decisions necessary to resolve the pressing agricultural, economic, political and social issues facing the continent.

For your information, we enclose a brochure concerning the Africa Prize, as well as a form you may use in submitting your nomination. Nominations and accompanying materials must be received no later than 15 June 1987. Please do not hesitate to copy and share the enclosed materials with your colleagues and associates who may have an interest in presenting their own candidates for the prize.

We value your participation in this project, and look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Most sincerely yours,

Joan Holmes

The Hunger Project is privileged to send you a copy of its newest publication, the Arturo Tanco Memorial Lecture. Established by the Hunger Project in 1986, the Annual Arturo Tanco Memorial Lecture is dedicated to the late Arturo Tanco, former president of the World Food Council, minister of agriculture for the Philippines, and member of The Hunger Project Board of Directors.

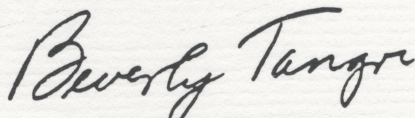

This year, The Hunger Project was honored to have General Olusegun Obasanjo, former head of state of Nigeria, deliver the lecture on the topic "Issues in Agricultural Development in Africa." Asserting that "the economic future of Africa depends on the future of agriculture," General Obasanjo provides a comprehensive overview of the agricultural problems facing Africa today.

With between 70 and 80 percent of the population and labor force depending upon agriculture for employment and income, General Obasanjo emphasizes the importance of appropriate land tenure policies, price policies, infrastructure and research in agriculture. He also singles out the attitude of Africans toward agriculture as key to its future, noting that young people often opt for non-agricultural occupations.

General Obasanjo concludes by saying: "Africans must learn from their mistakes to be able to eradicate hunger from the continent by the year 2000. I believe this is an achievable objective"

Given the critical importance of agricultural development in Africa to all of us, I am pleased to send you this copy of General Obasanjo's remarks.

Sincerely,

Beverly R. Tangri
Director of Research
