

SOUTH AFRICAN
LABOUR BULLETIN

May/June 1992 Volume 16 Number 5

Forestry
Toyota speak
workers in 1992:
COSATU in 1992:
Bobby Marie evaluates

COSATU:
gaining influence,
losing power?

You too can get it from the horse's mouth!

Whether you are a worker or a student, an academic or a manager, a political leader or a grassroots organiser, you should be reading the South African Labour Bulletin. After 18 years of publication, we believe we are still the most important labour journal in the country. But don't take our word for it.

Read what other people have to say about the Bulletin:

'The SA Labour Bulletin has a very high reputation internationally and deservedly so.

I wish there were equivalents to the Labour Bulletin in other countries.'

- Denis Mac Shane, International Metalworkers' Federation

'Anyone who wants to know what labour is thinking should read the Labour Bulletin.'

- Jay Naidoo, COSATU

'The Labour Bulletin is essential reading.' - Jenny Cargill, Finance Week

'For any manager serious about engaging the labour movement, the Bulletin is compulsory reading.'

- Bobby Godsell, Anglo American

'No trade unionist, or any other person who has an interest in South African labour issues, can do without the Labour Bulletin.'

- Cunningham Ngcukana, NACTU

'In its field, the Bulletin is without peer ...' - Andre Lamprecht, Barlow Rand

Subscribe now!

See inside for details