Proposed talk by you on 18 August, titled Women and the Political Process

To confirm my telephone discussion with Mercedes Seeta this morning.

You may recall that at the Carlton Hotel showing of Miriam Patsanza's video on the returned exiles, I approached you, asking if I might in future invite you to speak to a large group of executive wives representing the top 100 companies (from the Financial Mail Listing) in South Africa. The women are a most receptive audience and have great influence in South Africa's business environment.

For the past two years, First National Bank has invited these women to regular lunchtime talks by eminent, topical speakers. The presentations, preceded by a finger luncheon at 12:30 are held at our Centre for Management Studies in Sandown. The actual presentation lasts for one hour, from 13:00 to 14:00.

We would be greatly honoured if you, representing the Women's Coalition (of which I am a member), as well as the ANC, were to address the meeting on Wednesday 18 August 1993.

Previous speakers have included prominent business and political personalities, but to hear you at this time in our country's history would be of great benefit. This would also pave the way for me to introduce more controversial speakers. I do hope that you are able to come.

Hazel Swart

invites you to a talk entitled

Women's Aspirations and the Political Prooeoc'

by

Fran. Glnmla

Convener of the Women's National Coalition

and Head of Research for the ANC

South African women have the opportunity to make their voices heard - to ensure that their needs, concerns and demands are entrenched in a new democratic constitution.

The broad-based Women's National Coalition has undertaken the massive task of reaching women in all comers of the country and all strata of society. to find what they would like included in a women's charter of rights.

Founded last April, the Coalition comprises more than 70 women's organisations across racial, political and cultural divides. Membership ranges from the Girl Guide Association to the ANC Women's League, from the Democratic Party to the National Party. the Vroue-landbou-unte, Women for Peace and the YWCA.

Women's issues cut across traditional groupings and the Coalition is determined that women are not Iett behind and that their position in society is guaranteed. Now is the time to learn from the mistakes of other countriesand to incorporate these lessons In a charter of women's rights.

'Atthoug we can't forget, we don't have to be overcome by the plot:
