UNIVERSITY OF NATAL

DURBAN

GRADUATION/DIPLOMA CEREMONY

1996

FOR THE FACULTIES OF SOCIAL SCIENCE, MEDICINE AND ARCHITECTURE & ALLIED DISCIPLINES,

TUESDAY 19 MARCH

18:30

DURBAN CITY HALL

The Chancellor

Chancellor is an office that goes back to Antiquity: the original cancellarius regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of the writing departments of the early kings. As so few people were literate, a chancellor was automatically learned. This explains why the heads and spokesmen of the early universities were also accorded the title. More recently, the office has become largely symbolic. The executive head of a university is its vice-chancellor.

Archbishop Hurley is the fifth Chancellor of the University of Natal. His predecessors were: The Honourable D G Shepstone (1949-1966), Dr G G Campbell (1967-1973), Dr B A Armitage (1973-1983), and the Honourable R N Leon QC (1983-1992).

The Mace

The Chancellor's Mace, generally referred to as "the Mace", is used on ceremonial occasions presided over by the Chancellor and is regarded as the Chancellor's "staff of office". It symbolises the University's protection of its Chancellor.

The use of the mace as a symbol of authority has a long history. The head of a copper mace, which apparently dates back to the 12th Century before Christ, has been excavated at Beyce Sultan in Asia. In the early centuries, churchmen who went to war often carried a mace in preference to a sword. One side of the mace-head was beautifully decorated with the owner's emblem and on the other side was a large knob which served as a weapon; this was always round so that the church law never to shed blood was always carefully observed! In the early centuries the mace was a symbol of the king's authority. During the power struggle between the king and the Commons in the 13th Century, the king gave the speaker the mace as a symbol of his indemnity against arrest.

The University of Natal Mace was designed by Mr G H Atkins, senior lecturer in sculpture in the University's Department of Fine Arts, was made in England and was first used at the 1970 graduation ceremonies.

The Armorial Bearings (See front cover)

The armorial bearings of the University of Natal were awarded by the College of Arms in London.

The two black wildebeest come from the arms of the province of Kwazulu-Natal. They are shown in full course to symbolise movement and progress. The two open books represent the universal heritage of knowledge and the two centres of the University, Durban and Pietermaritzburg. The five pointed star represents the land of Natal discovered and named on Christmas Day in 1497. Stella Aurorae, star of the dawn, symbolises the role of the University in dispelling the darkness of ignorance and evil.

Academic Dress

the wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and impressive custom. When the graduating students at universities receive their diplomas or degrees, they, too, (and perhaps, for some, only this once in their lives) wear the caps and gowns of this long tradition. By wearing the ancient regalia, they hold hands with students past and students present.

In modern times the standard cap and gown are almost universally worn. Of all the components of the costume, the hood conveys the greatest amount of information: it makes clear the level of the degree, the faculty in which it was given, and the institution which awarded it.

Convocation

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands to the President of Convocation or his representative a hood incorporating colours that indicate the degree being awarded and the Faculty in which it is being awarded. The President places the hood upon the graduates shoulders, and, at the end of the ceremony, after the Chancellors procession has left the stage, leads a procession of the new graduates out of the hall, row by row, to symbolise their acceptance into, and future membership of, the Convocation of the University of Natal, the statutory body through which graduates have the opportunity to play a continuing part in the affairs of the University.

CONFERMENT OF THE DEGREE OF
DOCTOR OF LAWS
HONORIS CAUSA, UPON:
MATAMELA CYRIL RAMAPHOSA

Cyril Ramaphosa was born in 1952 and grew up in Western Native Township and Soweto. He matriculated at Mphahluhi High School in Sibasa in the Northern Transvaal in 1971. In 1972 he enrolled for a BProc degree at the University of the North where he joined the South African Students' Organisation, becoming chairman of the University branch in 1974. As a result of a pro-Frelimo rally he was detained for eleven months in Pretoria Central Prison.

He continued to play a leading role in black politics, becoming involved in the Black Consciousness movement and serving in the leadership of the Black People's Convention. In 1976 he obtained articles with a Johannesburg firm of attorneys. In June 1976 he was again detained in terms of the Terrorism Act and was held for six months at John Vorster Square. On his release he continued his legal studies, obtaining a BProc degree through the University of South Africa in 1981.

Before being admitted as an attorney, however, he joined the Council of Unions of South Africa as an advisor in its legal department. In 1982 CUSA decided to form a National Union of Mineworkers (NUM) and he became its first General Secretary. By 1986, under his leadership the trade union had a membership of over 400 000 members and had established an industrial relations system in the mining industry. Issues with which he became involved included the removal of racial discrimination in the mining industry, equal pay for African mineworkers doing work legally reserved for whites, and changes in conditions of employment.

He also played a leading role during 1984/5 in the consolidation of what became the Congress of South African Trade Unions. By 1988 he was involved in the Soweto Civic Association that began the negotiations with the Johannesburg City Council and has created the new Metro structure of the city. He played a prominent role in most of the campaigns of the Mass Democratic Movement, and has been at the helm of every negotiation towards a new democratic dispensation. Since the unbanning of the ANC he has become its chief negotiator and mediator.

Cyril Ramaphosa is Secretary General of the ANC, a Member of Parliament, and Chairperson of the Constitutional Assembly.

National Anthem of South Africa

Nkosi sikelel' i-Afrika,
Maluphakanyisw' uphondo lwayo.
Yizwa imithandazo yethu,
Nkosi sikelela,
Thina lusapholwayo.

Morena boloka
Setjhaba saheso.
Ofedise dintwa lematshwenyeho

O se boloke, O se boloke
Setjhaba saheso.
Setjhaba sa, South Africa
South Africa

Uit die blou van onse hemel
Uit die diepte van ons see
Oor ons ewige gebergtes
Waar die kranse antwoord gee
We can hear the land rejoicing
With a voice not heard before
Let the people of our country
Live in peace for evermore

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NATAL

In 1910, partly on the initiative of the Natal Colonial Government, the Natal University College (NUC) in Pietermaritzburg enrolled its first 57 students. A handful of Professors taught in various venues, even in a corrugated iron annexe behind Maritzburg College! In 1912 the Old Main Building at Scottsville opened.

However, from the beginning there had been a strong feeling that Durban, too, should have the advantage of tertiary education. Here the Natal Technical College supplied the foundation, though by 1922 NUC had taken over courses in engineering and commerce. In 1932, Howard College opened on the Durban Berea. Thus was born an abiding feature of the NUC - its dual-based character. In scale it remains unique in South Africa.

With the dedicated assistance of the Fabian Socialist, Mabel Palmer, classes for so-called "non-europeans" were run by NUC from 1936 onward. Gradually the non-racial character of the institution established itself, though the Medical School, founded in 1951 for African, Indian and "Coloured" students still fitted the segregated pattern of the surrounding society. The National Party Government's University Act of 1959 was a blow to this emergent non-racialism. Overriding all protest, it not only imposed apartheid on the institution but also drew strict limits around the "autonomy" that the NUC had achieved in 1949 as the "University of Natal". Aside from the Medical School, persons of colour were forbidden to enter the University till racial restrictions were partly lifted in 1983. Since then the University has welcomed increasing numbers of students who are not white, whose overall numbers in 1993 stood at 48.8% of the University's total enrolment.

A major step in developing "dualism" was taken in 1952, when Dr E G Malherbe moved the administrative function from Pietermaritzburg to Durban. Departments in the two centres separated in 1973; though when academic expertise is needed, there is still much fruitful interchange between Durban and Pietermaritzburg. Today 9500 students are in the former centre and 5500 in the latter. There is a considerable overlap of subjects offered in Arts, Humanities, Law, Commerce and Natural Sciences. However, the Durban campus has long been recognised for its Engineering, Architectural and Medical Faculties; while Pietermaritzburg developed its highly regarded Agricultural Faculty.

The University of Natal has been fortunate in having some outstanding men as Principals and Vice-Chancellors. A sign of changing historical times has been the recent appointment of the first woman to achieve this status at a South African university, Professor Brenda Gourley. The largely ceremonial Chancellors, too, have been distinguished, not least the present incumbent, Archbishop Hurley. Among the alumni are men as renowned in their somewhat different fields of endeavour as Alan Paton and Steve Biko; while Honorary Graduates include Roy Campbell, Abdullah Ibrahim and Nelson Mandela.

The old order yields place to the new. Today the University has embarked on a major re-evaluation of its role in future South African Society. This is reflected in its Mission Statement 1989, which dedicates the University in practical and realistic terms to service of the whole regional community, irrespective of race, sex, colour, creed or nationality. In incorporating development as a key component of its Mission besides teaching and research, the University has declared its commitment to upliftment but not at the cost of academic standards. This is the responsibility the University will have to shoulder in the stirring times that stretch up to the Centenary Year 2010.
