The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12t century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellor" is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this tfitle. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from anindigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artist's home near Bergville.

The head of the Mace is made up of three opened book-like forms, suggestive of scholarship but also of the massive landscape forms of our province, onto each of which is placed aruler, a pen and a pencil. These refer respectively to the scientific and computational, the text-based and the creative sides to the University's work. Below this are an encircling set of heads, representing the diverse University community. The whole is surmounted by an alighting secretary bird (iNtungunono), an elegant and active bird found throughout the province and equally at home on land or in the air. At the foot of the Mace is a hoof-like shape, giving a sense of contact with the soil of Africa.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the Universityâ\200\231s status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

The hood conveys the most amount of information vyiTh the addition of braid or coloured linings differentiating the different quo!iï¬\201cohons: The colour of the band or hood lining represents the Faculty, each of which has its own colour.

Convocation

The Convocation of the University of KwaZulu-Natalis the statutory body consisting of all alumni and the academic staff (current and retired) of the University. On graduation, graduates and diplomates automatically become members of Convocation which is the largest stakeholder body with over 140000 members. Convocation provides a link with graduates, past and present, and through this structure graduates have the opportunity to play a continuing role in the affairs of the University.

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood fo the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduateâ\200\231s shoulders and, in so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University's standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders - staff and students â\200\224 unite.

The African shield symbolises the protection of our most valuable assets, namely, education, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginning and acts as a symbol of enlightenment.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language - as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

Thg University logo represents University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s unique quadilities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isizulu translation was approved.

HONORARY GRADUAND
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

Doctor of Social Science (honoris causa)

Ms Ela Gandhi

As a nine-year-old Ela Gandhi was taken by her father to the Pietermaritzburg Railway Station where she learnt how her grandfather, the legendary Mahatma, was ordered off a train and how this experience of racial discrimination led him to develop the philosophy of Satyagraha â\200\224non-violent action for change. Ela Gandhi has kept alive the spirit of her legendary grandfather promoting the enduring relevance of his philosophy. But she has done so in her own unique manner, quietly but tenaciously seeking out opportunities to educate people of all ages about non-violent ways to resolve conflict and build positive relationships between people of different races, genders and faiths.

Her profound commitment to humanity is manifest in her choice of a career as a social worker. Similarly, her passion for equality and justice saw her courageously throw herself into politics. She was a founding member of the Natal Indian Congress when it wasrevived in 1973 and served as its vice-president. She suffered banning by the state and endured house arrest for five yearsin 1975, with restrictions being imposed for a further three-and-a-half years. Her courage and determination remained undimmed following the lifting of her banning order and she served on several anti-apartheid structures, most notably the United Democratic Front, the Detaineesâ\200\231 Support Committee, the Natal Organisation of Women and the Crisis Network for Victims of Violence.

Following the ANC's unbanning, she served as freasurer of the ANC Women's League in Natal and represented the Natal Indian Congress at the Congress for a Democratic South Africa (CODESA) talks. She was a member of the Transitional Executive Committee prior to the 1994 democratic elections and served as a member of Parliament from 1994 until 2004.

Moved by societyâ\200\231s high levels of violence, Ela Gandhi developed a 24-hour programme against domestic violence and in 2007 established the International Cenftre of Non-violence at the Durban University of Technology to promote the teaching of non-violent methods of resolving conflict to schoolchildren and university students.

Ela Gandhiâ\200\231s advocacy of respect and tolerance among people of different faiths led to her appointment as a vice-president of the World Council of Religions for Peace and her service on the advisory board of the Parliament of World Religions.

In 2002, she received the Community of Christ International Peace Award, and in 2007, the Padma Bhushan Award â\200\224 Indiaâ\200\231s highest civilian honour â\200\224 for her community service.

Ms Gandhi’s personal record is one of distinguished service in the advancement of democracy, justice, social service and community leadership. She has succeeded in taking forward the Mahatma’s values of morality, volunteerism and compassion and on her own terms has made a notable contribution towards the creation of a society where peace, folerance and harmony can flourish.

For her selfless service to society and her dedication to the pursuit of justice and equality, the University of KwaZulu-Natal awards Ela Gandhiits highest honour, the degree of Doctor of Social Science honoris causa.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in fradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12" century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellor" is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access fo the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artist's home near Bergyville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding insfitution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long fradition and joins hands with students past and present.

The hood conveys the most amount of information with the addition of braid or coloured linings differentiating the different qucxliï¬\202coï¬\201ons: The colour of the b and or hood lining represents the Faculty, each of which has its own colour.

Convocation

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood to the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduateâ\200\231s shoulders and, in so doing, symbolizes acceptance info the Convocation of UKZN

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University's standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders - staff and students â\200\224 unite.

The African shield symbolises the profection of our most valuable assets, namely, education, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginning and acts as a symbol of enlightenment.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language â\200\224 as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

Tht? University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s unique quadlifies, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu translation was approved.

DISTINGUISHED TEACHER
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

Dr A Collins

Dr Anthony Collins, a Lecturerin the School of Applied Human Sciences in the College of Humanities, is recognised for his scholarly approach fo teaching and curriculum development. He has developed three new ground-breaking modules which have addressed gaps not only in the discipline of psychology but within wider society. Designed to break away from traditional approaches to his discipline, the modules open up societalissues for critical examination but at the same time are conceived with an awareness of and sensitivity fo context.

Dr Collins is widely acknowledged as an outstanding teacher who uses a variety of methods, texts, visuals and online resources. He has proved himself to be highly responsive in his teaching to peer and student evaluations and the academic and emotional needs of his students. He has consisted adopted an innovative approach to his teaching responsibilities, adapting his teaching practices where appropriate to cater for very large class sizes.

Dr Collins has contributed to the development of teaching and learning materials in psychology and has introduced these online as well as translations into isizulu.

For his sustained commitment to students and to his discipline and for the impact he has made on the teaching of Psychology, the University of KwaZulu-Natal is pleased to make the award of Distinguished Teacher to Dr Collins.

HONORARY GRADUAND
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

Doctor of Literature (honoris causa)

Mr Ranjith Kally

Ranjith Kally has been a witness and archivist of some of the most poignant moments in South African history, including the Treason Trial, the awarding of the Nobel Peace Prize to Chief Albert Luthuli, the Rivonia Trial and the momentous resisfance events of the 1970s and 1980s, including the aftermath of the Maseru Massacre. The pictures of this giffed photojournalist have graced newspapers around the world. They are part of the Nobel Collection, are featured in school texts, and depicted on two South African postage stamps.

Ranjith Kally’s career spanned more than five decades during which time he chronicled important social and political events, principally for Drum Magazine in Durban where he worked from 1955 to 1985. He also worked for the Golden City Post and the Sunday Tribune. Now in his eighties, Ranjith Kally ranksâ\200\230among the most politically courageous and artistically giffed photographers of his generation, with his works being exhibited at the Guggenheim Museum in New York and the Nobel Peace Center Commemoration of South African Nobel Peace Laureatesin 2009. He was admitted as an Associate of the Royal Photographic Society in 1967.

In many ways, Ranjith Kally’s personal journey reflects the hardship of the Indian working class. Largely self-taught and often using rudimentary cameras, he worked his way up from a shoe factory to a part-time photographer in Plowright Lane, to finally taking up the profession full-time but never benefited from the certainty of permanent employment. Yet his work never suffered from overt cynicism or darkness. Instead, a defining characteristic is his lyricism and ability to capture the dignity of the downtrodden.

Ranijith Kally’s work included sensitive and insightful studies of the wider political struggle, including non-racial leaders of the ANC and its alliance partners, as well as liberal elements of society in opposition to apartheid. He was, for example, the first photographer to capture the mixture of pleasure and humility of Chief Albert Luthuli at his farm stall at Groutville after the news of the Nobel prize broke in the 1960s. He captured an iconic scene which has come to symbolise the shimmering jazz age in townships in the 1950s in his portrait Umkumbane. And when an exiled Miriam Makeba returned to Maseru for a concert at the height of apartheid, Ranjith Kally went to Lesotho and returned with a clandestine portrait.

As well as capturing luminaries such as Nelson Mandela, Chief Albert Luthuli, Oliver Tambo, Monty Naicker, Winnie Madikizela-Mandela, Billy Nair, Miriam Makeba and others, Ranijith Kally's pictures also document the pain of forced removals, the loss of innocence associated with gangsterism, and the everyday contradictions of apartheid.

For his outstanding contribution as a photojournalist and archivist of South Africaâ\200\231s freedom struggle, for poignantly documenting our social history, and fostering greater understanding of ourselves as a society, the University of KwaZulu-Natal recognises Ranjith Kally by awarding him its highest honour, the degree of Doctor of Literature, honoris causa.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12" century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellor" is an office that goes back to Roman fimes: the criginal chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary rolesis to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwazZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede andis carved from anindigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artistâ\200\231s home near Bergyville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

Convocation

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University's standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language â\200\224 as well as social values. The book/wave /wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s unique qualities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu translation was approved.

Doctor of Music (honoris causa)

Johnny Clegg

Anthropologist, dancer, singer, songwriter and French knight â\200\224 all of these tags fit but none can fully describe the energetic, passionate human being who has become one of South Africa's greatest musical exports. With a career spanning over 30 years Johnny Clegg is one of South Africa's most prolific musicians and performers. With a critical eye on South Africaâ\200\231s racialimbalances, he has promoted a unique pride in African heritage in a way that reconciles rather than tears asunder. At the height of apartheid he made possible what seemed impossible: a celebratory ideological and artistic model for tolerance and human brotherhood against the backdrop of South Africaâ\200\231s divisive racial policies.

While lecturing anthropology at the University of Witwatersrand, Johnny Clegg worked on blending English lyrics and Western melodies with Zulu musical structures. South African musical producer Hilton Rosenthal signed up Clegg and his musical associate and friend, Sipho Mchunu, at a time when there was official prejudice against mixed race groups.

Johnny Clegg and Sipho Mchunu called their band Juluka (â\200\234sweatâ\204¢ in isiZulu). Facing censorship from the state broadcaster, the band toured South Africa. Testing the Group Areas Act, they played at universities, church halls, migrant labour hostels and in private houses.

Juluka released their first album, Universal Men, which was a musical journey into the life of a Zulu migrant worker caught between two worlds. A second album, African Litany, followed to critical acclaim, although largely ignored by the state-owned SA Broadcasting Corporation. Their third album, Ubuhle Bemvelo, was recorded entirely in isiZulu. Following the bandâ\200\231s break-up, Johnny Clegg formed Savuka which recorded two best-selling platinum and five gold albums. The band split in 1993 but Mr Clegg continued with a solo career.

Johnny Clegg â\200\224 who campaigned against the injustices of apartheid and was instrumental in putting the new South Africa on the world map - has performed on all four of Nelson Mandelaâ\200\231s 46664 Aids Awareness Concerts in South Africa and Norway.

In addition to a number of international awards and honorary degrees, Johnny Clegg's South African awards include the Four Outstanding South Africans Award in 1990; an honorary doctorate from Wits University in 2007; SA Music Association nomination for the Best Live DVD in 2008, and the Order of khamanga in 2012 for his â\200\234excellent contribution to and achievement in the field of bridging African traditional music forms, promoting racial understanding ... working for a non-racial society and being an outstanding spokesperson for the release of political prisonersâ\200\235.

For his sensitive and inspiring promotion of South African culture, music and history, both nationally and internationally, and for his success in uniting South Africans and bringing both pride and hope to South Africa, the University of KwaZulu-Natal awards Johnny Clegg its highest honour, the degree of Doctor of Music honoris causa.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12â\204¢ century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellorâ\200\235 is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this fitle. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artist's home near Bergyville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institufion.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long fradition and joins hands with students past and present.

il

Convocation

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood to the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduateâ\200\231s shoulders and, in so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University's standing and integrity within the province of Kwazulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language - as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s
unique quadlities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu translation was approved.

HONORARY GRADUAND
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

Doctor of Education (honoris causa)(Posthumous)

Professor Hugh Africa

Hugh Africa was a brilliant academic and an exira-ordinary individual who shared his genuine warmth for people and his passion for higher education to create a new paradigm that embraced innovative thought and empowering change in the higher education sector.
Hugh Africa was indeed a distinguished son of Africa.

Professor Africa had a profound commitment to education, in particular higher education, and believed that education should be accessible to all of South Africaâ\200\231s people. He obtained his BA and BA Honours degrees from the former University of Natal, goingon to earn his MA from the University of Leeds and his PhD from the University of Toronto. He also holds a Natal Teachersâ\200\231 Diploma. He began his career as an educator in Durban in 1956 and taught at various educational institutions in South Africa until 1964. He then moved to Zambia and in 1973 he moved into higher education, holding senior positions at a number of universities and at the United Nations Institute for Namibia in Lusaka. During the period 1991 to 1994 he served as a consultant to the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Namibia and then as Dean of Studies.

He returned to South Africain 1994 after an exile of 30 years, faking up a position as senior advisor at Technikon Southern Africa with the broad mandate of assisting the transformation process. He was appointed Vice-Chancellor of the Vista University in 1996, retiring in 2000 on the completion of his contract. He served as interim Vice-Chancellor at the University of Zululand in 2002 and 2003.

Professor Africa was atf the forefront of higher education fransformation in the post-apartheid South Africa. Well known for his cogent arguments, his incisive intellect, his calm voice of reason and his kind and caring disposition, Professor Africaâ\200\231s depth of wisdom and vast knowledge in addressing challenging areas of education is admirable. A highly respected academic, he served with distinction on the Council for Higher Education and also provided exceptional leadership as Chair of the Higher Education Quality Committee which instituted a national system of quality promotion and assurance.

In the early years of the newly-merged University of KwaZulu-Natal, Professor Africa undertook a study at the request of the Students' Representative Council, looking at student dropouts and failure rates The results were presented to the Senate and laid the foundation for the implementation of a successful academic monitoring and support system. Professor Africa also served UKZN as a member of Council from 2007 to 2011.

Hugh Africa was a highly respected educationist who served the higher education sector with distinction and contributed to the development and advancement of highereducationforoverfivedecades, particularlyintheareasoftransformation and scholarship.

The University of KwaZulu-Natal takes great pride in posthumously conferring the degree of Doctor of Education honoris causa, on Professor Hugh Africa, as one ofSouthAfrica'smostprolificeducatorswhogainedinternationalrecognition, respectandadmirationforhissignificantcontributionstothehighereducation sector.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates backtotheestablishmentofthefirstuniversitiesinEuropeinthe 12 " century.

The Chancellor

or cancellarius(astheofficewasknown),regulatedaccesstotheRomanTribune.

In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancelior was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universitieswerealsoaccordedthistitie.Morerecentlytheofficehasbecome largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor Mr Zamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the arfist's home near Bergyville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient andsignificanfcustom.Bywearingagownwhenreceivingtheirdegreesand diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

The hood conveys the most amount of information with the addition of braid or colouredliningsdifferentiatingthedifferentqualifications.Thecolouroftheband or hood lining represents the Faculty, each of which has its own colour.

Convocation

The Convocation of the University of KwaZulu-Natal is the statutory body consisting of all alumni and the academic staff (current and retired) of the University. On graduation, graduates and diplomates automatically become members of Convocation which is the largest stakeholder body with over 140000 members. Convocation provides a link with graduates, past and present, and through this structure graduates have the opportunity to play a continuing role in the affairs of the University.

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage andhandsthehoodtotheRobingofficerwhorepresentsthe Convocationofthe University. TheRobingofficerplacesthehooduponthegraduate'sshouldersand,

in so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

The University Logo

TheoriginalUniversityLlogowasofficiallylaunchedon27February2004andit

is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University's standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above dll, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders - staff and students â\200\224 unite.

The African shield symbolises the protection of our most valuable assets, namely, education, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginning and acts as a symbol of enlightenment.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language - as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africa's unique qualities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurfuring and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu translation was approved.

GUEST SPEAKER
Professor Shirley Walters

Shirley Walters is the first professor of Adult Education in South Africa. This distinguished title goes part of the way towards highlighting her pioneering role in the development of the field of lifelong learning and adult education - both at home and abroad.

Through her sustained commitment to adult education that supports the voiceless and the poor, as well as her achievements as an internationally-recognised scholar, Professor Walters has successfully combined academic leadership and educational innovation with exemplary service to the community.

At the height of apartheidin 1985, Professor Walters became the founding director of the Centre for Adult and Continuing Education at the University of the Western Cape, an organisation that was instrumental in developing the first educational methodologies and training materials with a gender and anti-racism focus. These methodologies and materials have subsequently been applied internationally.

During South Africaâ\200\231s transition to democracy, Professor Walters was actively involved in building the field of adult education and developing its policies. She was appointed for two terms by the Minister of Education as Chairperson of the South African Qualifications Authority and has been invited to serve on a number of ministerial committees, the latest being the Ministerial Oversight Committee on Transformation in South African Public Universities. In 2000 she became the founding director of the Division for Lifelong Learning at UWC.

Professor Walters was inducted into the International Adult and Continuing Education Hall of Fame in 2005 and awarded an honorary doctorate by University of Linkoping, Sweden, in recognition of her contribution to adult education internationally.

The University of KwaZulu-Natal is honoured to welcome Professor Shirley Walters as its guest speaker for this Graduation Ceremony.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12 century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellorâ\200\235 is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In- medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily leamed. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this fitle. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artistâ\200\231s home near Bergville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

Convocation

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University's standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language â\200\224 as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s
unique quadlities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu franslation was approved.

Emva kokwenganywa ngesiggoko nguShansela, yilowo nalowo othweswa iziqu uhamba adabule isiteji, bese edlulisela umngwamba kuMngwambisi (Robing Officer), okunguye omele isiGungu Sabaneziqu eNyuvesi. UMngwambisi ubeka umngwamba emahlombe alowo othweswa iziqu, ngokwenza kanjalo efanekisa ukwamukelwa esiGungwini sabaneziqu zeNyuvesi yaKwaZulu-Natali, okuyisigungu esimisiwe esixnumanisa abathweswa iziqu beNyuvesi, okunikeza abathweswa iziqu ithuba lokubamba ighaza elighubekayo ezindabeni zeNyuvesi.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has along history and is steeped in fradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12 century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellor" is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor Mr Zamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artistâ\200\231s home near Bergville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding insfitution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, feachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long fradition and joins hands with students past and present.

Convocation

structure graduates have the opportunity fo play a continuing role in the affairs . of the University.

tAfter being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage +and hands the hood to the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduate’s shoulders and, Â¢in so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

The University Logo

Â¢The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it 2is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of \excellence. In addition, it emphasises the Universityâ\200\231s standing and integrity wit hin tthe province of Kwazulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, fat home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal â\200\230stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

Â¢ A s 4 :
{he African shield symbolises the protection of our most valuable assets, namely, reducation, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginning and acts as a symbol of enlightenment.

â\200\230Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language - as well as social values. The book/wave /wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, 1and soaring to new heights.

tThe University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ \200\231s unique qudlities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isizulu translation was approved.

FELLOW OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

Professor J Banasiak

Professor Jacek Banasiak has made sustained and notable contributions to the field of Mathematics and Applied Mathematics over the course of his career .

Professor Banasiak's research interests are in nonlocal, integro-differential models of applied sciences, including kinetic theory, mathematical biology and fragmentation-coagulation theory. He has co-authored five research monographs, authored or co-authored over 90 refereed research papers and presented papers at over 50 local and international conferences. His 2006 research monograph, Perturbations of positive semigroups with applications (Springer, with L. Arlotti), was awarded the 2009 University of KwaZulu-Natal Book Prize and has received 100 citations. His 1995 monograph, Singularly Perturbed Evolution Equations with Application to Kinetic Theory (World Scientific, with J R Mika) received the University of Natal Book Prize in 1997.

Professor Banasiak's notable contributions to research are reflected in his B1-rating by the National Research Foundation. The regard with which he is held by the international academic community is evident in his position as a visiting Professor at the University of Franche-Comte, the University of Strathclyde and an Extraordinary Professor at the Technical University of Lodz. He is the Editor-in-Chief of the journal Afrika Matematika (Springer), sits on two other Editorial Boards and is a member of a number of scientific societies. He received the South African Mathematical Society Award for Research Distinction in 2012.

Professor Banasiak joined the then Department of Mathematics and Applied Mathematics in 1992 where he moved through the ranks fo become a Senior Professor in 2008 and Research Professor in 2011. He was the Head of the School of Mathematical Sciences from 2005 to 2007.

He has supervised or co-supervised 15 MSc and six PhD students and is currently ˜ supervising one postdoctoral, five PhD and five MSc students.

For oufstanding contributions to the mathematical sciences, and for exemplary leadership and service to his discipline, the University of KwaZulu-Natal is pleased to bestow the fitle of Fellow on Professor Jacek Banasiak.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12" century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234"Chancellorâ\200\235 is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chan cellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellorâ\200\231s primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies .

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg boftlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artist’s home near Bergyville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University’s status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

Convocation

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stfage and hands the hood to the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduate’s shoulders and, in so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University’s standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language â\200\224 as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring fo new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s
unique quadlities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu translation was approved.

HONORARY GRADUAND T
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

Doctor of Science (honoris causa)

Dr Uche Amazigo

Through her pioneering research and visionary leadership skills Nigeria-based public health specialist Dr Uche Amazigo has made a palpable impact on the health of communities in a number of West African countries afflicted by a neglected disease known as river blindness (Onchocerciasis).

Dr Amazigo's innovative research on the disease formed the basis for the UN/World Bank-administered African Programme for Onchocerciasis Conftrol (APOC). In addition, she successfully coordinated and implemented the World Health Organisationâ\200\231s African programme for river blindness control. Based on community-directed treatment with ivermectin (CDTI), the programme allowed for community participation in one of the largest control programmes undertaken for a single disease. Showing exemplary leadership skills, she repositioned APOC from a river blindness control body to an elimination programme, in the process engaging bilateral and mulfi-lateral donors and private sectors to support over 120 000 communities in the control of river blindness in Africa.

Dr Amazigo's research experience embraces strategies for the control of neglected tropical diseases and the formulation of community-directed interventions. She has also undertaken extensive research on issue of adolescent reproductive health, producing Broken Wings, a film on teenage pregnancy for the first World Conference on Women in Beijing, China.

Originally trained in public health and parisitology, Dr Amazigo is today an experienced scientist and a competent administrator with broad expertise in international and community health. She has also proved her ability to forge strategic public-private partnerships, identity critical research areas and develop and implement policy frameworks and strategy development plans. Dr Amazigo has worked with both bi-lateral and multfi-lateral agencies, governments, foundations, civil society and the public sector and has extensive experience in coordinating and networking, and building successful partnerships. She was instrumental in APOC's success in mobilising more than US$80 million between 2006 and 2011.

Dr Amazigo has been an influential member of a variety of organisations and institutions, including the Royal Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene, the White House Summit of International Development, the Japan Centre for International Exchange, the World Health Organisation, and the United States Academy of Science. A prolific researcher, she has published more than 50 articles in peer-reviewed journals in the fields of community health, public health and parasitology. J/An international consultant on public health, with an emphasis on community-directed interventions, her clients include such organisations as the United Nations ,and the World Bank, USAID and the World Health Organisation.

iFor her pioneering scientific work, her excellence in scholarship, her visionary leadership, and her fireless commitment to improving the lives of poor and vulnerable communities on the African continent, the University of KwaZulu-Natal honours Dr Amazigo with its highest award, the degree of Doctor of Science honoris causa.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12" century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellorâ\200\235 is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellorâ\200\231s primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artistâ\200\231s home near Bergville.

The head of the Mace is made up of three opened book-like forms, suggestive of scholarship but also of the massive landscape forms of our province, onto each of which is placed aruler, a pen and a pencil. These refer respectively to the scientific and computational, the text-based and the creative sides to the University's work. Below this are an encircling set of heads, representing the diverse University community. The whole is surmounted by an alighting secretary bird (iNfungunono), an elegant and active bird found throughout the province and equally at home on land or in the air. At the foot of the Mace is a hoof-like shape, giving a sense of contact with the soil of Africa.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

The hood conveys the most amount of information with the addition of braid or coloured linings differentiating the different qualifications. The colour of the band Â¢ or hood lining represents the Faculty, each of which has its own colour.

Convocation

The Convocation of the University of KwaZulu-Natal is the statutory body consisting of all alumni and the academic staff (current and retired) of the University. On grcduomn graduates and diplomates automatically become members of
- Convocation which is the largest stakeholder body with over 140000 members. Convocation provides a link with graduates, past and present, and through this structure graduates have the opportunity to play a continuing role in the affairs
. of the University.

â\200\230After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood to the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduate’s shoulders and, tin so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

HONORARY GRADUAND
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

Doctor of Medicine (honoris causa)

Professor Welile Shasha

Accomplished medical scientist and internationally recognised public health specialist, Dr Welile Shasha, has earned distinction through his role in facilitating and promoting health initiatives which have improved the lives of poor and rural communities, both in South Africa and on the African continent. While working for the World Health Organisation (WHO) and the Department of International Development (DFID), he played a pivotal role in the implementation of health systems reforms nationally and internationally.

He is currently the manager of health system reform at the Letsema Circle Trust, an NGO based in East London which seeks avenues to help communities sfrengthen the health system by working with local government departments. In this capacity, Dr Shasha instituted a system which saw the infroduction of follow-up by community health worker-based primary healthcare teams at household level, providing an evidence base for the implementation of the health system modeled on the re-engineering of primary health care, as set out in the 10-point strafegic plan of the National Department of Health.

The organisation has successfully quantified the quadruple disease burdenâ\200\224TB/HIV, diabetes/hypertension, injuries/accidents and maternal/child health challenges â\200\224in four pilot sites. The process will assist outreach teams to be more effective i n their follow-up of disease at household levels.

As a consultant to the national Department of Health, Dr Shasha played aleading role in the re-engineering of primary health care and took aleadership role in the containment of cholera in Limpopo â\200\224 one of three cholera control initiatives in which he was involved. He has participated in the optimisation of the National Programme of HIV/AIDS treatment centres in the nine provinces of South Africa.

Further afield, Dr Sasha conducted a programme evaluation to consolidate and synchronise health research in Kenya and served as a leading facilitator for a Public Health course for students from the United States, Botswana and South Africa, sponsored by the WK Kellogg Foundation.

Dr Sasha facilitated the establishment of the limalethu Development Association, a national non-governmental organisation aimed at sustainable rural social development focusing on orphans and vulnerable children. He also served as the first and last South African to represent the World Health Organisation in the country as liaison officer for a period of nine years during the challenging period of AIDS denialism. As a public health consultant he was involved in carrying out a process evaluation of the National Programme of HIV/AIDS treatment centres in South Africa. The final report is currently in use to control the epidemic.

Dr Shasha has authored or co-authored articles in a variety of respected health journals and has had four books published featuring his isixhosa poetry.

For his invaluable contributions to policy formulation and prevention health strategies, his scientific leadership and his humanitarian commitment to improving the quality of lives of ordinary people, the University of KwaZulu-Natal honours Dr

Shasha with its highest award, the degree of Doctor of Medicine honoris causa.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12" century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellorâ\200\235 is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university isits Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artistâ\200\231s home near Bergyville.

The head of the Mace is made up of three opened book-like forms, suggestive of scholarship but also of the massive landscape forms of our province, onto each of which is placed aruler, a pen and a pencil. These refer respectively to the scientific and computational, the text-based and the creatfive sides to the University's work. Below this are an encircling set of heads, representing the diverse University community. The whole is surmounted by an alighting secretary bird (iNfungunono), an elegant and active bird found throughout the province and equally at home on land or in the air. At the foot of the Mace is a hoof-like shape, giving a sense of contact with the soil of Africa.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institufion.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, feachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

Convocation

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University's standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language - as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s unique qudlities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurfuring and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isizulu translation was approved.

FELLOW OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

Professor M Newell

As Director of the Africa Centre for Health and Population Studies, Professor Marie-Louise Newell has been at the forefront of an innovative HIV/Aids research and freatment programme which has not only helped fo improve the lives of tens of thousands of rural South Africans living with HIV but has enhanced our understanding of the impact of HIV infection at the level of populations, communities, households and individuals.

Keenly aware of the importance of collaboration, Professor Newell established an effective partnership with the Department of Health in the Hlabisa sub-district in which the Wellcome Trust-funded Centre is based. This partnership has seen the number of HIV-infected people receiving freatment and care rise to 24 000 as at the end of 2012. Recent research from the Cenftre indicates that the HIV tfreatment provided in the public programme has resulted in a substantial reduction of adult and child mortality and has also started to have a positive impact on HIV incidence.

Professor Newell has consistently used her academic expertise â\200\224which combines Medicine, Demography and Epidemiology â\200\224 and her research on maternal and child health, particularly infections and transmission from mother to child, to tackie one of the greatest health and social challenges of our fime.

Professor Newell has published extensively in her field and is currently a B1-rated National Research Foundationresearcher. She has over 100 cited publications with over 8 000 citations and an h-index of 52. She reviews for a large number of expert journals, such as Lancet, AIDS, JAIDS, and serves on a number of international expert review bodies and committees. Her commitment to the next generation of medical academics is evident in her having successfully supervised over a dozen PhD and Masters students.

For her excellent and sustained research and collaboration efforts, and her exemplary leadership in the fight against HIV, the University of KwaZulu-Natal is pleased to bestow the title of Fellow on Professor Marie-Louise Newell.

FELLOW OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

Professor LR Uys

In 2008 Professor Leana Uys made academic history when she became the first nurse in South Africa to achieve a B-rafing from the National Research Foundation. In addition to herimpressive research profile â\200\224made up of 101 peer-reviewed articles, 30 professional articles and 28 books or book chapters â\200\224 Professor Uys demonstrated significant leadership ability through her successful overseeing of many externally funded research projects and her competence in academic management. She also has served on the editorial board of 10 national and international professional journals and supervised 28 Masters and 14 PhD candidates who have completed their studies.

Professor Uys entered academia with valuable experience of the coalface of healthcare and nursing in a rural hospital in Limpopo. While at the University of KwaZulu-Natal she became a Professor of Nursing and served as Head of the School of Nursing from 1986 to 2001. Her managerial and administrative skills were acknowledged through her appointment as Deputy-Vice-Chancellor and Head of the College of Health Sciences in the newly merged University of KwazZulu-Natal in 2004.

During her career, Professor Uys proved her ability to perform in various leadership capacities and respond to pressing health challenges. For example, she worked as World Health Consultant in countries including Uganda and Mauritius, served as President of the Africa Honour Society for Nursing 2000 to 2006, and was a member of the Medical Research Council from 1994 to 2004.

Professor Uys’s achievements and contribution to the development and fransformation of the nursing profession have been recognised by many local and international awards.

In recognition of her services to her profession, her path-breaking leadership and her contribution to academic research, the University of Kwazulu-Natalis pleased to bestow the fitle of Fellow on Professor Leana Uys.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12" century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellor" is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this fitle. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bofttlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artistâ\200\231s home near Bergville.

The head of the Mace is made up of three opened book-like forms, suggestive of scholarship but also of the massive landscape forms of our province, onto each of which is placed aruler, a pen and a pencil. These refer respectively to the scientific and computational, the texi-based and the creative sides to the University's work. Below this are an encircling set of heads, representing the diverse University community. The whole is surmounted by an alighting secretary bird (iINfungunono), an elegant and active bird found throughout the province and equally at home on land or in the air. At the foot of the Mace is a hoof-like shape, giving a sense of contact with the soil of Africa.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long fradition and joins hands with students past and present.

The hood conveys the most amount of information with the addition of braid or coloured linings differentiating the different qudlifications. The colour of the band or hood lining represents the Faculty, each of which has its own colour.

Convocation

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood to the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduate's shoulders and, in so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University's standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders - staff and students â\200\224 unite.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language - as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s unique qudlities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu translation was approved.

HONORARY GRADUAND
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

Doctor of Administration (honoris causa)
Mr Carl Wright

Carl Wright has earned widespread respect for his commitment to democracy and international cooperation, for his defence of human and labour rights, and for his promotion of social and economic development, especially in the area of public administration and local government. As Secretary-General of the Commonwealth Local Government Forum, a position to which he was appointed in 1995, he has played a significant role in the promotion of local democracy and good local governance globally.

His impressive career spans policy and representational positions in such bodies as the Commonwealth, the United Nations and the European Union, including the international trade union movement. Carl Wright has helped to secure international policy positions in areas such as labour standards and trade, and codes of conduct for private investors and has played an international leadership role in public administration and policy-making.

Cenfral to this work has been a commitment to international cooperation based on a concern about global conflict and political and economic inequalities. To this end the CLGF became the first Commonwealth body to formally engage with South Sudan in 2011 and Myanmar/Burma in 2012 with a view to helping to develop democratic local government structures.

Although primarily an administrator and policy-maker, Mr Wright has not shied away from activism, especially in the area of labour and trade union rights. He campaigned for better worker rights on Sri Lanka's tea estates in the 1970s. In Africa, he supported FRELIMO and SWAPO and encouraged local democracy in many counftries such as Sierra Leone, Nigeria, Pakistan and Zimbabwe.

Between 1974 and 1988 he worked for the international trade union movement, initially with a major focus on economic and social issues, then as founding director of the Commonwealth Trade Union Council. He was active within the anti-apartheid movement and played a role in marshalling international support for bodies such as SACTU and COSATU, and NUNW in Namibia. When he moved to the Commonwealth Secretariat, he facilitated contacts between the ANC and the UDF/COSATU. Much of his work after 1990 was focused on Commonwealth programmes aimed at Southern Africa, including oversight of the Commonwealth report on human resource development for post-apartheid South Africa and the organisation of the firstinternational donorsâ\200\231 conference in South Africa after 1994.

He confined a close engagement with South Africa, assisting in the development of local government structures. Through his relationship with the eThekwini Municipality Durban has benefitted from several CLGF activities and projects. The University of KwaZulu-Natal has also been an associate member of CLGF and was represented on the organisationâ\200\231s board, giving it access to academic and practitioner networks throughout the Commonwealth.

For his masterful contributions to policy development and democratic structures, his fireless championing of human rights, and his promotion of social and economic development, the University of KwaZulu-Natal awards Carl Wright its highest honour, the degree of Doctor of Administration honoris causa.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12 century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellorâ\200\235 is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access fo the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is fo confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artist's home near Bergville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

The hood conveys the most amount of information with the addition of braid or coloured linings differentiating the different qualifications. The colour of the band or hood lining represents the Faculty, each of which has its own colour.

Convocation

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University’s standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above dll, it provides an idenfity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language â\200\224 as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s unique qualities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurfuring and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu translation was approved.

GUEST SPEAKER

Justice Dhaya Pillay

A defender of human rights and an expert in labour law Dhayanithie Pillay was appointed as a judge of the High Court in Pietermaritzburg and Durban in 2010. Prior to this she was a judge of the Labour Court of South Africa for 10 years.

Admitted as an attorney in 1982, Pillay was drawn to the plight of political detainees, specialising in human rights and administrative law disputes arising the various emergency and security laws in force at the time. She was recognised as a human rights defender by the Amnesty International SA Durban Group in 2005.

After turning to labour law and industrial relations, Judge Pillay was selected to be involved in the draffing of key pieces of national legislation, including the Public Service Labour Relations Act, the new Labour Relations Act, and clauses of the Constitution relating to the Public Service Commission and Electoral Commission. She has been a Senior Commissioner (part-time) of the CCMA since 1996.

Judge Pillayâ\200\231s legal acumen has been internationally acknowledged, most recently through her appointment as a visiting professor for the Open University in the United Kingdom. She has published and presented more than 40 papers during her career.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12 century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellor" is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artist's home near Bergyville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the Universityâ\200\231s status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

The hood conveys the most amount of information with the addition of braid or coloured linings differentiating the different qualifications. The colour of the band or hood lining represents the Faculty, each of which has its own colour.

Convocation

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood to the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduate’s shoulders and, in so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University’s standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

The African shield symbolises the protection of our most valuable assets, namely, education, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginning and acts as a symbol of enlightenment.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language - as well as social values. The book/wave /wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring fo new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s unique qualities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu translation was approved.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12 century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellorâ\200\235 is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval fimes, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor Mr Zamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artist's home near Bergyville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, feachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

Convocation

The University Logo

the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, af home and abroad. Above dall, it provides an identity around which internall stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

The African shield symbolises the protection of our most valuable assets, namely, education, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginning and acts as a symbol of enlightenment.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language - as well as social values. The book/wave /wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s
unique quadlities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu translation was approved.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in fradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12 cenfury.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellorâ\200\235 is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chanc ellor
or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access fo the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the arfist's home near Bergyville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long fradition and joins hands with students past and present.

The hood conveys the most amount of information with the addition of braid or coloured linings differentiating the different qualifications. The colour of the band or hood lining represents the Faculty, each of which has its own colour.

Convocation

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the Universityâ\200\231s standing and integrity with in the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

The African shield symbolises the protection of our most valuable assets, namely, education, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginning and acts as a symbol of enlightenment.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language - as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s unique qualities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protfecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu translation was approved.

Umcimbi Wokuthweswa Kweziqu

Umcimbi wokuthweswa kweziqu unomlando omude futhi ugxile esikweni. Wavela emuva le ekusungulweni kwezikhungo zemfundo ephakeme eYurophu ekhulwini leshumi nambili ekubalweni kweminyaka.

UShansela

Ubuâ\200\234Shanselaâ\200\235 yisikhundla esisuka ezikhathini zombuso wamaRoma: ushansela wokuqgala noma i-cancellarius (njengoba sasaziwa kanjalo lesi sikhundla), nguye owayelawula ababephethe umbuso wamaRoma. Ezikhathinizakudala, isikhundla sahumusheka nezinhloko zeminyango yokubhala zamakhosi akugala. Ngenxa yokuthi babembalwa abantu ababekwazi ukufunda nokubhala, ushansela kwakumele kube ngofundile. Yilesi sizathu esenza ukuba izinhloko nabakhulumeli bamanyuvesi akugala banikwe leli gama. Kamuva nje lesi sikhundia sesimele kakhulukazi uphawu, kanti uMphathi oyinhloko yenyuvesi nguSekela-Shansela wayo. Okunye okusemqgoka kakhulu okwenziwa nguShansela, wukuthwesa iziqu emicimbini yokuthweswa kweziqu.

UDokotela uZwelini Mkhize unguShansela wesibili weNyuvesi yaKwaZulu-Natali. Owamandulelayo nguDokotela uFrene Ginwala (2005-2009).

Ubhoko IweNyuvesi (Mace)

UBhoko IweNyuvesi luwuphawu iwamandla negunya, lususelwe esikhalini sempi Iwaguquka lwaba yisivikelo samakhosi emicimbini emgoka, iwagcina seluwubhoko olumele isikhundla emicimbini. The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in fradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12 century.

â\200\230The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellor" is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor’s primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artist’s home near Bergville.

he carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the Universityâ\200\231s status as a Jegree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

he wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and liplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands vith students past and present.

Convocation

|
The Convocation of the University of KwaZulu-Natalis the statutory body consisting â\200\230 of all alumni and the academic staff (current and retired) of the University. On â\200\230 graduation, graduates and diplomates automatically become members of | Convocation which is the largest stakeholder body with over 140000 members. â\200\230
Convocation provides a link with graduates, past and present, and through this structure graduates have the opportunity to play a continuing role in the affairs | of the University.

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood to the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduateâ\200\231s shoulders and,
in so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University’s standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and sfudents â\200\224 unite.

The African shield symbolises the protection of our most valuable assets, namely, education, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginning and acts as a symbol of enlightenment.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world- | class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language â\200\224 as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200 \231s
unique qualities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, | nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu transiation was approved.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in fradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12 century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellorâ\200\235 is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this fitle. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is fo confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede andis carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artistâ\200\231s home near Bergyville.

The head of the Mace is made up of three opened book-like forms, suggestive of scholarship but also of the massive landscape forms of our province, onto each of which is placed aruler, a pen and a pencil. These refer respectively to the scientific and computational, the text-based and the creative sides to the University's work. Below this are an encircling set of heads, representing the diverse University community. The whole is surmounted by an alighting secretary bird (iNtungunono), an elegant and active bird found throughout the province and equally at home on land or in the air. At the foot of the Mace is a hoof-like shape, giving a sense of contact with the soil of Africa.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, feachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

Convocation

The Convocation of the University of KwaZulu-Natal is the statutory body consisting of all alumni and the academic staff (current and retired) of the University. On graduation, graduates and diplomates automatically become members of Convocation which is the largest stakeholder body with over 140000 members. Convocation provides a link with graduates, past and present, and through this structure graduates have the opportunity to play a continuing role in the affairs of the University.

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood to the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduate's shoulders and, in so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University's standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

The African shield symbolises the protection of our most valuable assets, namely, education, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginning and acts as a symbol of enlightenment.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culfure, language â\200\224 as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring fo new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive fo Africaâ\200\231s

HONORARY GRADUAND
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL

Doctor of Social Science (honoris causa)
Mr Daisaku Ikeda

For over 50 years Daisaku lkeda has pursued a culture of global peace and has made international conftributionsin a variety of fields, including education, peace and the promotion of culture.The hallmark of his remarkable strategy is engaged dialogue. Aiming to build solidarity around issues such as education, nuclear abolition, sustainable development and human rights, he has pursued conversations with prominent activists and individuals such as Nelson Mandela, Rosa Parks, Wangari Maathai, Rajiv Gandhi, Vacla Havel and John Gailbraith.

Daisaku lkeda had a humble upbringing in Japan with limited opportunities for formal education. Today he is the founder of the internationally-recognised Soka Education system which is based on a belief in the limitless potential of every individual. He has also published books in a variety of languages, and created several institutions aimed at promoting peace research and cultural exchange at an international level.

A Buddhist philosopher, keda became the president of the Soka Gakkai lay Buddhist movement in 1960 at the age of 32. The movement, which now has a global network of about 12 million members in more than 190 countries, encourages members in the process of personal transformation and societal contribution. He has founded kindergartens in six countries, an elementary-to-graduate level school in Japan, and a liberal arts university in the United States which was ranked in the Top 100 best National Liberal Arts Colleges by the US News and World Report Best Colleges 2012 Rankings.

Understanding the imperatives of an African Renaissance, Daisaku lkeda has, since the 1960s, promoted the idea that â\200\234Africa must be the continent of the 21+ Centuryâ\200\235 and that those who have historically endured the greatest suffering have the greatest right to happiness.

He founded the Boston Research Center for the 215 Century in 1993 (later renamed the lkeda Center for Peace, Learning and Dialogue) to promote dialogue around human rights, non-violence, environmental ethics, womenâ\200\231s leadership and economic justice.

His wide-ranging conftributions have led him to receiving honorary doctorates from more than 300 institutions in about 50 countries as well as honorary citizenship and other commendations from 720 cities, states and local governments. In 2002 he received a Commendation for Peace and Human Rights Contributions from the Nelson R Mandela School of Medicine at the former University of Natal.

lkeda’s confributions and engagement franscend the narrow confines of any particular religiosity and are aimed at strengthening the groundwork of globall peace and individual empowerment, with education â\200\224 both formal and social â\200\224 and the encouragement of youth as the cornerstones of his engagement.

For his unique contributions in the fields of education, peace and the promotion of dialogue, the University of KwaZulu-Natal awards Daisaku lkedaits highest honour, the Degree of Doctor of Social Science honoris causa.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12 century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellorâ\200\235 is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is fo confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwazZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artistâ\200\231s home near Bergyville.

The head of the Mace is made up of three opened book-like forms, suggestive of scholarship but also of the massive landscape forms of our province, onto each of which is placed aruler, a pen and a pencil. These refer respectively fo the scienfific and computational, the text-based and the creative sides to the University's work. Below this are an encircling set of heads, representing the diverse University community. The whole is surmounted by an alighting secretary bird (iNtungunono), an elegant and active bird found throughout the province and equally at home on land or in the air. At the foot of the Mace is a hoof-like shape, giving a sense of contact with the soil of Africa.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the Universityâ\200\231s status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, feachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradition and joins hands with students past and present.

Convocation

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addifion, it emphasises the University's standing and inte grity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above dall, it provides an idenfity around which internal stakeholders - staff and students â\200\224 unite.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the mulfi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language â\200\224 as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s
unique quadlities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and profecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu translation was approved.

FELLOW OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KWAZULU-NATAL
Professor GO West

Professor Gerald West has played akey role in bringing together diverse voices and creating a space for African biblical scholarship in the international academy.

For more than 20 years Prof West has been involved in the work of the Ujamaa Centre, a research and community development centre within the University of KwaZulu-Natal. During this time, Professor West has produced pioneering research on the relationship between African biblical scholarship and the ways in which the Bible is interpreted in local African communities. His work has given rise to innovative engagement with the role of the Bible in topical contemporary issues such as race, class, gender, HIV, sexudlity, the environment and disability.

A Senior Professor in the School of Religion, Philosophy and Classics, Professor West’sresearch has focused on four areas: the use of the Bible in African liberation struggles, the role of ordinary readers of the Bible in liberation hermeneutics, the history of the Bible’s reception by indigenous Africans, and the various ways in which the Bible is present in the African public realm.

Professor West’s impressive research profile â\200\224 which includes over a hundred academic arficles and essays and a number of books including edited volumes â\200\224was recognised in part last year when the College of Humanities awarded him the DVC’s Award for Research Excellence.

In addition to his research endeavours, he is currently the General Editor of two important journals, Semeia Studies (based in the United States) and the Journal of Theology for Southern Africa (based in South Africa), and sits on the boards of anumber of other academic journals. He is also currently serving on the Council of the Society of Biblical Literature.

For his accomplished research and commitment to the development of the discipline of African biblical hermeneutics the University of KwaZulu-Natalis pleased fo bestow the fitle of Fellow on Professor Gerald West.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12â\204¢ century.

The Chancelior

â\200\234Chancellor" is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor’s primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artist’s home near Bergyville.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the Universityâ\200\231s status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tradifion and joins hands with students past and present.

The hood conveys the most amount of information with the addition of braid or coloured linings differentiating the different qualifications. The colour of the band or hood lining represents the Faculty, each of which has its own colour.

Convocation

The Convocation of the University of KwaZulu-Natalis the statutory body consisting of all alumni and the academic staff (current and retired) of the University. On graduation, graduates and diplomates automatically become members of Convocation which is the largest stakeholder body with over 140000 members. Convocation provides a link with graduates, past and present, and through this structure graduates have the opportunity to play a continuing role in the affairs of the University.

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood fo the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduateâ\200\231s shoulders and, in so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University’s standing and integrity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders - staff and students â\200\224 unite.

The African shield symbolises the protection of our most valuable assets, namely, education, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginnihg and acts as a symbol of enlightenment. -

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s unique quadlities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same fime, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isiZulu franslation was approved.

The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12 century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellor" is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is fo confer degrees atf the graduation ceremonies.

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bofttlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artistâ\200\231s home near Bergville.

The head of the Mace is made up of three opened book-like forms, suggestive of scholarship but also of the massive landscape forms of our province, onfo each of which is placed aruler, a pen and a pencil. These refer respectively fo the scientific and computational, the texi-based and the creative sides to the University's work. Below this are an encircling set of heads, representing the diverse University community. The whole is surmounted by an alighting secretary bird (iNfungunono), an elegant and active bird found throughout the province and equally at home on land or in the air. At the foot of the Mace is a hoof-like shape, giving a sense of contact with the soil of Africa.

The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the University's status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, feachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long fradition and joins hands with students past and present.

Convocation

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the University's standing and inte grity within the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above all, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

The African shield symbolises the protection of our most valuable assets, namely, education, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginning and acts as a symbol of enlightenment.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language - as well as social values. The book/wave /wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s unique qualities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isizulu translation was approved.

He was also involved in the commissioning of the South African Micro Satellite and the Sumbandile Sat, the development of the South African electric car, the launch of the South African Research Chairs Initiative and the programme for Centres of Excellence. He was responsible for winning and launching the African component of the International Centre for Genetic Engineering and Biotechnology. His tenure also saw the expansion of relations oetween the South African science and technology system and those of other

) The Graduation Ceremony

The graduation ceremony has a long history and is steeped in tradition. It dates
- back to the establishment of the first universities in Europe in the 12" century.

The Chancellor

â\200\234Chancellorâ\200\235 is an office that goes back to Roman times: the original chanc ellor
orcancellarius (as the office was known), regulated access to the Roman Tribune.
In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded this title. More recently the office has become largely symbolic and the executive head of a university is its Vice-Chancellor. One of the Chancellor's primary roles is to confer degrees at the graduation ceremonies.

e

Dr Zwelini Mkhize is the second Chancellor of the University of KwaZulu-Natal. His predecessor is Dr Frene Ginwala (2005-2009).

The Mace

The University of KwaZulu-Natal Mace was designed and executed by local sculptor MrZamokakhwe Gumede and is carved from an indigenous wood, Drakensberg bottlebrush (umBande), gathered from the artistâ\200\231s home near Bergyville.

The head of the Mace is made up of three opened book-like forms, suggestive of scholarship but also of the massive landscape forms of our province, onto each of which is placed aruler, a pen and a pencil. These refer respectively to the scientific and computational, the text-based and the creative sides to the University's work. Below this are an encircling set of heads, representing the diverse University community. The whole is surmounted by an alighting secretary bird (iNfungunono), an elegant and active bird found throughout the province and equally at home on land or in the air. At the foot of the Mace is a hoof-like shape, giving a sense of contact with the soil of Africa.

| The carrying of the mace in procession symbolizes the Universityâ\200\231s status as a degree awarding institution.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. By wearing a gown when receiving their degrees and diplomas, the graduating student participates in this long tfradition and joins hands with students past and present.

Convocation

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood to the Robing officer who represents the Convocation of the University. The Robing officer places the hood upon the graduate’s shoulders and, in so doing, symbolizes acceptance into the Convocation of UKZN

The University Logo

The original University Logo was officially launched on 27 February 2004 and it is a powerful visual symbol through which the University projects an image of excellence. In addition, it emphasises the Universityâ\200\231s standing and integrity with in the province of KwaZulu-Natal and within the academic and business communities, at home and abroad. Above dll, it provides an identity around which internal stakeholders â\200\224 staff and students â\200\224 unite.

The African shield symbolises the protection of our most valuable assets, namely, education, culture and, by extension, African Scholarship. The globe with multi-coloured rays epitomises a rising sun, a new beginning and acts as a symbol of enlightenment.

Further, the globe represents the University as a global player, producing world-class graduates, while the multi-coloured rays embody diversity â\200\224 race, culture, language â\200\224 as well as social values. The book/wave/wings, which underscore the visual, represent the foundation of knowledge, the spirit of the eastern seaboard, and soaring to new heights.

The University logo represents a University that is rooted in and responsive to Africaâ\200\231s
unique quadlities, challenges, diversities and strengths, while, at the same time, nurturing and protecting African Scholarship.

On 3 June 2010 the current logo, with the isizulu translation was approved.

GAUDEAMUS IGITUR

Gaudeamus igitur, juvenes dum sumus;
Gaudeamus igitur, juvenes dum sumus;
Post jucundam juventutem,

Post molestam senectutem,

Nos habebit humus, nos habebit humus.

Ubi sunt qui ante nos in mundo fuere?
Ubi sunt qui ante nos in mundo fuereÂ¢
Vadite ad superos, transite ad inferos,
Ubi jam fuere, ubi jam fuere.

Vita nostra brevis est, brevi finietur;
Vita nostra brevis est, brevi finietur;
Venit mors velociter, rapit nos atrociter,
Nemini parcetur, nemini parcetur.

Vivat Academia, vivant Professores,
Vivat Academia, vivant Professores,
Vivat membrum quodlibet,

Vivant membra quaelibet,

Semper sint in flore, semper sint in flore.
