Next meeting

The next meeting will be held on Monday 8 June 1992

THESE ARE DRAFT MINUTES AS APPROVED BY THE CHAIRPERSON OF THE GENDER ADVISORY COMMITTEE. THEY ARE CONFIDENTIAL AND RESTRICTED TO THE MEMBERS OF THE GENDER ADVISORY COMMITTEE, ITS STEERING COMMITTEE, THE DAILY MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE AND THE MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE. THEY ARE STILL SUBJECT TO RATIFICATION BY THE GENDER ADVISORY COMMITTEE AT ITS NEXT MEETING.

DRAFT OF MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF GAC TECHNICAL COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE GENDER DISCRIMINATORY LEGISLATION ON TRADITIONAL LEADERS.

STRUCTURE OF TRADITIONAL LEADERS

es Undemocratic
2:6 Patriarchal

2 Undemocratic Structure of Traditional Leaders

1.1 A person becomes a Chief by birth or appointment not through democratic elections

Patriarchal

2.1 Chiefs are always men with very few exceptions, the structures they use are predominantly male in their composition. e.g. Councillors, Tribal Authorities, "Ibunga", "â\200\230â\200\231Ibandla", "â\200\234Inkundla"

Attitude

2.2.1 Women are expected to be submissive, subordinate, subservient to men. The women have to stay home bear children, and look after the family. This is common amongst all societies.

2adwue Women have lower status than men, and cannot take decisions.

Powers and duties of Traditional Leaders

The Traditional Leaders have both Traditional and Executive power.

Executive powers are legally defined by local authorities.

Traditional powers are guided by the accepted norms and values of that particular area.

Before the colonialists came Chiefs and Kings ruled this country.

Chiefs are Custodians and guardians of our customs and traditions.

Chiefs have a right to allocate land.

Chiefs have to see to it that people pay tax and other levies.

The land is usually allocated to men. e.g. unmarried men in the family can approach the Chief for allocation of land where as it is not done with unmarried women and widows.

Economic Powers

Traditional Leaders collect all sorts of levies e.g. land, cattle, traditional economies etc.

Male dominated structures decide what to do with the levy. They decide how much fine should be paid when a woman is raped, assaulted etc.

2.6 Security Powers

Chiefs have a right to maintain Law and Order.

The Traditional law enforcement officers are always men.

2.7 Customary Powers

2.7.1

As custodians of our Traditions and customs they have to take responsibility even for customs that discriminates against women e.g. Lobola, Polygamy, Customary union, Ukungena, Ukuthwalwa. (explanation below)

"Ukungena"- when your husband dies one of his brothers or a relative take you as a wife and the children.

"Ukuthwalwa" - Abduction of a girl and subsequent forced marriage.

Inheritance

2.7.2.1 e.g. after the death of the Father the eldest son automatically is entitled to everything. In some of the homelands this law has changed but in practice this is still what happens.

Arbitrator

Traditional Leaders mediate in conflict situations between families.

36 2,

3.2

Discriminatory mourning amongst husbands and wives.

Sexuality - when a man has many romantic relationships is classified as prestige, where as if its a woman it is seen to be a disgrace.

The stigma of unmarried women and men, and also women who cannot have children.

Deflowered girl - Community embarrasses the man who takes a virgin to bed.

"Ukuhlolwa" examination for virginity

Initiation School, circumcision - there is discrimination against women and men who have not been to these schools.
