TO: ALL MEMBERS OF THE NEGOTIATING COUNCIL OF THE MULTI-PARTY FOR FAX: 011-3972211

The WOMEN'S NATIONAL COALITION has been instructed by the International Conference on Gender Equality in the New South Africa to protest the virtual exclusion of women from the technical sub-committees of the Multi-Party Forum. We note that only about 10% of those appointed are women, and are particularly concerned at the absence of women from the Committees on Constitutional Matters and the Independent Elections Commission.

Among the matters on which the former is required to report are the constitutional principles which will bind the Constitution Making Body. Clearly such fundamental principles will determine the extent to which the new constitution will provide for a non-sexist South Africa. A great deal of research and comparative analysis has been undertaken on the constitutional framework required to provide genuine equality for women, most of it by women. We are not aware of any expertise in this area among any of those who have been appointed to this technical committee.

The Technical committee on the Independent Electoral Commission will be making recommendations which will have a significant impact on the numbers of women who will participate in the elections, and hence needs to be sensitive to women's particular experience so that it will facilitate their meaningful participation in the democratic process.

South African women took seriously the commitment of the negotiating parties to the establishment of a non-sexist South Africa. They are now fearful that this commitment was mere rhetoric and electioneering and devoid of serious intent.

If it was not, we hope that the Planning Committee/ the Negotiations Council and your Party or Organisation will urgently reconsider the composition of the technical committees.

Sincerely,

MULTI-PARTY NEGOTIATING FORUM

Arising from concern that women appear to have been omitted from the Multi-Party Negotiating Forum, my City Council on 1993-04-05 resolved as follows:-

"That the City Council recommends to the Multi-Party Negotiating Forum that women be included in all discussions, and that all parties involved in the negotiating process at National, Regional and Local Government level, be requested to ensure the full participation of women in such process."

Yours faithfully

Dear Sir,

The Women's Lobby is extremely disturbed that political parties negotiating the new SA appear to be ignoring the representation of women - the major population group.

The present ratio of men to women on political delegations is totally unacceptable to the women of this country.

If political parties refuse to increase their delegations to include more women, then women demand a voice of their own.

A women's committee or caucus comprising women from political parties across the spectrum and non governmental organisations must be formed to represent women's fundamental interest in deciding our future. This caucus would negotiate and judge the effectiveness and impact on women of all issues being debated.

Women will not accept an advisory capacity relegated to the background and sidelines. Women are the majority of the voting public.

From past experience women have found men inadequate to represent their interests. Women demand a changed system-in racial and in gender terms. Women must interact with men in the negotiating forums of South Africa.

The manner in which women are being treated by the new negotiating forum makes a travesty of the idea of non-sexism.

It is imperative that women be an integral part of these negotiations.

We expect action on this issue now.

Yours cordially,

Dear Sir/Madam

INCLUSION OF WOMEN IN THE MULTI-PARTY NEGOTIATIONS

The South African Council of World Affiliated Young Women's Christian Association express its concern at the absence of women in the negotiating process.

We understand that in the previous negotiating forum (CODES) there was a Gender Advisory Group, while this may have not be the ideal situation it was however the beginning of the process of realising the need for women participation in any process that is being thought of in this country presently. We have not heard that there is anything of that nature or any other proposal to ensure women's participation in the Multi-Party forum.

We strongly feel that women are an important sector of the South African Society and also they are the majority of this country and as such they have to be part of the decision making process and any other process that will usher democracy in this country. For us if women are excluded it will be an indication that our country is still far from democracy that we are all patiently trying to shape and have struggled for so many years.

It is our belief that all of you in the committee are capable of making the right decisions that will be in the benefit of all South African Citizen.
