Mr. Oliver Tambo,
c/o Africa South in Exile
London, England. {

Dear Er. Tambo:

w.

II have just read in our daily press that you have successfully reached London after your departure from your country, which is indeed gratifying.

I wrote on a previous occasion to the secretary of African*Nationalweongress as Well as to the Ban-Afrioan Congress, but received no reply for obvious reasons. I wrote after both organizations were outlawed by South African Government. I wished to offer my services for the cause of your people in South Africa, be it here in U.S.G.A.m

or abroad; I often travel to Europe on business and perhaps there is something I could do, in way of publicity, public relations or organizing of public support here in this country or elsewhere. I can furnish best possible references, both business and personal attesting to my integrity.

I am a U.S. citizen, 34 years of age; veteran of U.S. Army and have had wide business and public contact experience. Presently I am connected with a U.S. Research Institution and a travel agency in New York City.

Kindly let me know how I can contribute towards the goal of gaining the status of human beings for your compatriots, and to end the disgraceful conditions prevailing in your country at the present time. With my sincere wishes for your success,
