Dear Ned,

Re: Imfundo Trip to Southern Africa

Thank you for making time to see me earlier today. Further to our conversation I am sending you a note about Imfundo and the work we are involved in together with a rough itinerary of my proposed trip to South Africa.

Imfundo is part of a Cambridge charity (registered charity no. 288365) and supports educational programmes for the disadvantaged of Southern Africa. Last year we raised £80,000 from members of Cambridge University via schemes in 24 of the 31 colleges. Our funds are used in part to provide bursaries to the university and in part to fund a wide range of 'glternative' community-based educational projects in Southern A rice.

The widest definition of education is used as will be . demonstrated by the following examples of our recent grants; we . have contributed to a women's literacy scheme near Johannesburg, to building classrooms in a rural school near Durban, to a centre for disabled children in Bulwer, and to a teacher training project run by the Church Council of Namibia. The enclosed leaflets should give you more of an idea of the work we do.

The increasingly unaffordable cost of foreign student fees in this country, the insuitability in many Cases of a Cambridge education to the Southern African situation and the recent possibilities for the return of exiles, however meke it important for Imfundo to consider ways of switching to the support of 'further education' within the region. We are likelyt to meke use of the expertise of the Canon Collins Irust in thie area. t t

To date we have relied on reports from our project partners in the region for feed-back. We feel that the rapidly changing political situation in Southern Africa, the need to evaluate our past contributions, and to publicise this work to the donors in Cambridge requires a representative to visit the region.

Most of our funds are raised via students' college bills subject to the understanding that money for administration and publicity is raised separately. All the people working for the charity do so on a voluntary basis. Neither personal means nor the small amount of money we currently have in our administration fund will cover the expected costs of the trip. A breakdown of this sum is attached overleaf.

We have already raised $1000 in Cambridge, from churches and from the Rotary Club, leaving us a further $1300 to find. I would be grateful to know of anyone who would be prepared to help provide some of this remaining sum. I have already approached BART, AEI, WUS, and Canon Collins.

The itinerary is of necessity fairly sketchy at this stage. Although a number of people are expecting to see me, we do not as yet have a specific appointment time. These will have to be made when I get there.

I hope you'll be able to pass on the enclosed information to those you mentioned yesterday. It would be good to be shown around and to get a run down of the situation from them. On returning I would be very happy to provide a written report or to speak in public about the trip.

If you would like some more information of the trip or on the work of Imfundo in general please do not hesitate to contact me on 081-295-1235.

Yours Sincerely

M&dw
