Foundation Day.

According to the usual custom this, the 12th Anniversary of the founding of the College, was begun at 9 o'clock a.m., with a meeting in the big school of the Old Kingswoodian Club, which is now on a very satisfactory footing, and has 85 members. The Old Boys were welcomed by the Principal in a few well-chosen words.

After the minutes of the last meeting had been read, reports were given by representatives from local centres. A letter from Johannesburg was read, announcing the formation of a local branch with some 20 members.

Various subjects of interest were discussed, and the progress of the O.B. Scholarship Fund reported on favourably. The retiring officials were re-elected, and the meeting then adjourned to the City Lords.

PAST vs. PRESENT CRICKET MATCH.

A strong team had been whipped up, and some excellent cricket was shown. The Past batting first put together the respectable total of 85, some fine catches in the long-field being responsible for the retirement of several batsmen with far fewer runs to their credit than had been anticipated. On the Present going in to bat, Bayes and Stephenson bowled so well that the score stood at 75 for 9 wickets, when Halse joined Smart and 40 runs were added for the last wicket, giving the Present an advantage on the first innings. At 4.30 rain brought the match to a premature close, the Past having scored 46 for 5 wickets at their second venture. The following are the scores :—

THE ANNUAL DINNER.

At 7 p.m. Mr. Henry Wood, M.L.A., took the Chair at the Annual Dinner in the College Gymnasium, which had been tastefully decorated by Sergt. Benn.

Mr. Wood was supported by the members of the Council, the Principal and Staff of the College, and a number of Past Kingswoodians, some 140 in all being present.

Due justice was done to an excellent menu, and the Chairman then opened the toast list with "The King."

After a pianoforte solo by Mr. Hubert Sallmann, which was heartily encored, Mr. D. Knight, J.P., rose to propose "The Land we Live in." He alluded, in opening, to a little island, some 7 miles by 5, which was so populated that younger sons could find nothing to do, and were pushed off, a fact which accounted for his presence there that evening. He looked forward to a great future for this country, and was confident that many of those before him would contribute to make that future great. For the moment South Africa lay under a cloud, but he felt no doubt that the cloud was lifting, and that they would soon be on the road to a great prosperity.

Mr. W. B. Chubb (O.K), observed that it was 8 years since he had been present at a Foundation Day, and he was astonished at the immense progress which had been made by the College. Personally he believed that South Africa was a white man's land, and must remain so. If, however, that were to be so, they must be prepared to hold the ground against allcomers, and that could only be done if well-equipped men could be turned out from the schools and colleges. He trusted that it would always be the work of Kingswood College to develop such men; and with such institutions they need have no fear for the future of the country.

In proposing the toast of the "College Council," Mr. T. Bundock said he believed that there was one unique feature in connection with that particular day. They were able to welcome their Chairman who in former years had had important duties in Capetown to occupy his attention. He did not know why the opening of the Legislative Assembly was postponed until April, but he supposed that the Government had at last recognised that they ought not to do anything that would clash with Kingswood Foundation Day. In thinking of the Council and its doings, special longings must occur to the minds of his hearers. Some would like to see the tennis-courts finished, and some would like to have other pet schemes carried out. He feared, however, that they would have to wait for more prosperous times. In drinking that toast, they would at the same time really be expressing their wishes for the future prosperity of the College. The Council would then again show that liberality which was manifested in more prosperous days.

In reply Mr. Wood observed that it gave him great pleasure to be there, as owing to Parliamentary duties he had spent the last two Foundation Days with Old Kingswoodians, at Capetown. It was now 12 years since the College started, with 12 boys, and he thought that the Council had a fitting reward for their labour, when they looked round and saw the great mass of buildings that had been erected during those 12 years, by the help of friends, and without the aid of Government. They were proud of the large measure of success that had befallen them. Much of this they owed to the Principal and his assistants, for while the Council had secured buildings and students, the staff had enabled the College to take its place in the front rank with much older institutions. The Council like to feel that in the College the training which boys received would fit them to fill in later years the highest posts in the country. There was abundant room for good men, and he knew that those sent out from Kingswood would prove themselves such. Many things were still wanted, but for the present they must wait. He looked forward to days of great prosperity for the College, and a still further enlargement of its sphere of work.

Mr. P. M. Orton then gave a song "Long ago in Alcala," which he was called upon to repeat; after which Mr. R. Restall Stocks proposed the toast of "The College." He claimed to have been identified with it from its inception, as it was the outcome of a conversation which he had had with certain gentlemen as to the desirability of establishing a Boys' School as a brother institution to the W.S.H. He then detailed an ingenious scheme, which he had suggested for the raising of the necessary endowment. That scheme at the time had been voted too slow, but it was not yet too late to see it carried into force, and he had no doubt of its ultimate success if this were attempted. The toast was drunk with great enthusiasm.

The Principal, in replying to the toast, began by welcoming both the members of the Council and the Old Boys present, who were there in some cases after many years' absence. He held in his hand a large sheaf of telegrams from all quarters of the country, and was glad to be able to tell them that there was hardly a single centre of importance in South Africa from which congratulations and good wishes had not been received during the day. This admirable loyalty shown by their old students was one of the things he was most proud of.

Continuing, the Principal commented on the excellent work which was already being done in the country by Kingswoodians. In particular they were devoting themselves to the law and the Civil Service, and with one school-fellow on the Bench and another as an advocate, he thought that none of them, should they ever be unjustly indicted, need have anything to fear. It did not do, however, to forget that there were other walks in life. The country above all things needs development, and that was the work of the farmer, and it would not be done satisfactorily until they sent from their Colleges for this purpose not the worst, but the best. He would commend also to them two other fields of work—the church and the school. At present their country supplied the requirements of neither, and the land could not be called self-sufficient, nor were young colonists doing their full duty to their country until this work was being done not by men from over the sea, but by the men bred and born in the Colony itself.

The toast itself—the speaker continued—was a comprehensive one, and to reply to it was really to sum up all that had been said and to anticipate all that was to follow. He would, however, like to refer briefly to one or two departments of their school-life. As to their work in the class-rooms, it might no doubt be better, it could certainly be very much worse. It was not free from certain difficulties peculiar to schools of the kind ; it had, however, been commented on favourably at a recent inspection, and a further test was the diligent way in which some of their students who had left were pursuing their studies by themselves, in some cases not without serious difficulty. The standard at games was good, in view of the age of the members of the teams, and the Cadet Corps had received a very gratifying report from the Commandant-General at the time of his inspection a few days before. They had still much to accomplish, but for the present it was a case of "marking time." He was, however, a firm believer in the future success of the College, and urged all its present members to show the same loyalty of attachment as had been displayed by their predecessors.

In proposing the toast of the "Old Boys," the Rev. J. Metcalf remarked that they must always remember they were specimens of the work done at the College, and in the future as in the past add to the honour and credit of the institution.

Mr. Roberts, in reply, referred to the work done by the Capetown branch as a great factor in furthering the interests of the College, and added that for the first time an O.B. dinner was being held that day in Johannesburg.

Mr. J. R. E. Chalker hoped that all leaving the College would at once communicate with a local Secretary or the General Secretary, as otherwise they were often missed, and by adopting colours of clubs they joined were sometimes passed without being recognised as old Kingswoodians.

Mr. Bundock gave a fine rendering of the song "Message from the King."

Mr. L. B. Dold said that he was as interested in sport as he had ever been, and often wanted to join in cricket. He hoped that a professional would be obtained again, and that the games would continue to improve. The head must be made to help in order that success might be assured. With sports he coupled the Cadet Corps, for which he had nothing but praise. He looked forward to the time when his own boys would be in the Band. He often had opportunities of listening to the Band, and he did so with pleasure.

Messrs. S. W. Smart and A. T. Williamson replied in suitable terms.

To Messrs. Parsonson and Stephenson fell the honour of proposing and replying for "The Ladies," whose work was so evident in the preparation and arrangement of the good things consumed.

An enjoyable day was brought to a happy conclusion by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and God Save the King.

Foundation Day at Cape Town.

The Cape Town branch of the O.K.C. celebrated the day by a banquet held in the York Room, Theatre Restaurant. In addition to a good attendance of Old Boys, there were present guests in the persons of the chairman (Mr. Thos. Ball, C.M.G.), Rev. O. Carey and Mr. Webb.

An excellent bill-of-fare having been subjected to a thorough analysis, the company entered upon the lighter part of the programme. After the loyal toast, Mr. W. E. Carey proposed that of "The Land we Live in." The speaker regretted the absence of a healthy national sentiment in South Africa, such as existed in Canada and Australia, and enumerated several reasons for such a condition of things, chief among them being the unfortunate race-hatred which had marred South African history.

Mr. Ross Dold, who responded, remarked upon the grand possibilities afforded to young men of education and ability by the South Africa of the future.

Mr. L. Gane, in proposing the toast of "The O.K. Club," congratulated the Club on the progress made since its foundation four years ago. He pointed out the advantages of the existence of the Club in maintaining a band of union among past students of the College, and stated that the Old Boys were entitled to a pat on the back for the manly way in which they had undertaken the responsibility of founding an Old Boys' Scholarship. In his opinion, the Old Boys would materially assist the College to return a satisfactory answer to the old Harrow question: "How will it be with you 40 years on?"

Mr. E. R. Roper suitably responded, and in the course of his remarks, stated that while exhibiting traits which were distinctly South African and which should be fostered and encouraged, Kingswood had succeeded well in translating as much of the English Public School system as was applicable to this country.

At this stage of the proceedings, Mr. Theo. Gladwin (Secretary, Cape Town branch), read, amid applause, the following telegram from Messrs. H. Wood, M.L.A., and J. Slater, M.L.A., who, on account of the later meeting of Parliament, were not present as on preceding occasions: "We wish your branch of Kingswood Old Boys this evening much pleasure and strength."

The next toast on the list—"Kingswood College"—was dealt with in an able speech by the chairman, who remarked upon the increased interest manifested nowadays by past students in the Colleges which had given them their start in life. As a Methodist, he watched keenly for results in the case of Kingswood College, which was the recognised Methodist educational institution in South Africa. He could not help thinking that colleges such as that to which they were doing honour that evening would have a great influence on the future of the land we live in.

Mr. Gladwin, in replying to the toast, touched upon the past history of the college. It was only twelve years ago, he said, that a few enthusiastic Methodists decided that the time had arrived to found a school in connection with the Church. They had started with four boarders in what was now facetiously known as "The Tin College," but such a large measure of success had attended their efforts that three years later the erection commenced of what were now admittedly the finest buildings in Grahamstown. And that Kingswood had also succeeded otherwise than in numbers was shown by its record as regards examinations and sport. Kingswood had prospered in spite of the fact that it had received no Government grants, and that it had not benefitted like so many other establishments of the kind under the will of the late Mr. Rhodes. The speaker referred at some length to the proposal to establish a "Theological Institute" in connection with Kingswood, a proposal which was also being dealt with at the General Meeting of the Club in Grahamstown that day. It was the duty of the Old Boys, he said, to urge upon the Conference of the Church the need for such an institution, so that the ministry might as largely as possible be recruited from South Africa. There were two great obstacles at present in the way of South African boys intending to join the ministry, namely, their reluctance to leave their homeland to undergo training in England and, further, the important question of finance, which difficulties would be solved by the carrying out of the new proposal.

The toast of "The Clergy" fell to the lot of Mr. F. C. Barnes, who stated that old Kingswoodian functions would not be complete without the presence of a representative of the Clergy, to whom their College largely owed its existence.

The Rev. O. Carey suitably replied, and remarked that the proposal to establish the Theological Institute appeared to him as being very practicable, as well as necessary.

The last toast on the list—"Absent Friends"—was proposed by Mr. M. W. Hartley, and replied to by Mr. W. E. Ball, who referred to the bond of sympathy that united Old Kingswoodians on March 14.

The programme of the evening was interspersed with songs by Messrs. Webb, R. Dold, and W. Stent, who materially contributed to the enjoyment of the evening.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the proceedings to a close.

Foundation Day, Transvaal Branch, O.K.C.

On Wednesday evening we held our first annual dinner at the Goldfields Hotel, Johannesburg. Arrangements were made for the seating of twenty old Kingswoodians, but to our great disappointment only seven put in an appearance:—R. Stanton, H. M. Slade, A. M. Slade, H. R. Trollip, D. Steenkamp, G. K. Tucker, and E. C. Parsonson.

The dinner, however, was very much appreciated, and full justice was done to it. Owing to the small number present there was very little formality, and the speeches were principally characterised by their brevity.

After reminiscences had been indulged in for some little time the formation of a branch of the O.K. Club was discussed. It was decided that if a sufficient number could be induced to join, a club should be formed. A. M. Slade was appointed Secretary to organise the Club. He is in the office of the Receiver of Revenue, Johannesburg, and will be pleased to hear from any O.K.'s at present in the Transvaal or entering it.

Heartiest congratulations are offered to Frank Bayes on his being selected to represent South Africa against the M.C.C. Team. E.C.P.

We extend a hearty welcome to Mr. H. K. Sallmann, who has come to fill the post of music-master, vacated by Mr. P. Scholes at the end of last term. He was formerly at Epworth College, Rhyl, and had previously studied for 3 years at the Guildhall School of Music.

We have been sorry to lose the services of Mr. Thomas Wood as violin master and cricket coach. Mr. Wood has proceeded to Queenstown, leaving Grahamstown cricket all the poorer. The first eleven has profited greatly by his able coaching during the season, and on his departure presented him with a bat in token of their appreciation. Mr. Wood has already got the bat to work and made 65 for Queenstown in his first match there.

The Annual Athletic Sports will be held on Wednesday May 2nd, and we shall be glad if those who are kindly thinking of giving prizes or contributions towards the Prize Fund will send them to the Sports Secretary at the College.

* * * *

Mr. E. G. Gane has recently been appointed Captain of B Company of the 1st City Volunteers, and will go with his Company to the Camp of Instruction, that is to be held at Fort Beaufort during Easter week.

* * * *

During the quarter we have had a visit from Mr. J. Abbey, Organising Secretary of the S.A. Temperance Alliance. He has been touring the Eastern Province, and gave us a most sensible and interesting address on the principles that he upholds.

* * * *

It is with great pleasure that we have to thank Mr. R. Restall Stocks for the gift of the following books to the library this quarter :—Fairy Tales Retold, Guide to South Africa, Pelham, An Ocean Tragedy, Won by Waiting, On the Face of the Deep, Home Reading, The Pillar of Fire.

At the Albany Cycling and Athletic Club's Sports, held on City Lords on March 31st, the following boys were successful in winning prizes :—

N. Impey, first in the 440 yards open handicap, second in the 100 yards open handicap, and first in the 220 yards open handicap. E. J. Mitchell, third in the mile open handicap. R. B. Main, second in the 100 yards handicap (open to boys under 16.)

The boys had the pleasure of witnessing the play of the M.C.C. team in their match with 18 of Grahamstown. As the match was on a Wednesday (with its half-holiday) and Thursday, and the boys had previously worked through a wet Wednesday afternoon, they were able to be present on both days. Kingswood was especially interested in the play of F. Bayes, an Old Boy, who obtained 5 wickets for 45 runs. It was this success that caused him to be chosen reserve in the Cape Town Test Matches.

All who are in any way connected with Kingswood College will congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Gane on the birth of their third son, which took place on Thursday, April 5th.

Cadet Corps News.

The following were the promotions made at the beginning of the year :

Sergt. Mitchell to be Company Sergt.-Major ; Corpls. H. H. Brown, G. Craig, and Pte. J. E. Hurworth to Sergeants ; Pte. R. Hope, and Bugler H. E. Metcalf to Corporals.

H. Guest has been appointed Lieutenant vice H. H. Birkett resigned.

The principal doings of the Cadet Corps were crowded into one glorious week-end,—Friday and Saturday, March 9th and 10th. On Friday, His Excellency the Governor, Sir Walter Hely-Hutchinson, visited the town in order to unveil the Memorial to the Fallen in the Anglo-Boer War, which has been erected in the High Street. The Corps paraded at 10.30, and marched to the scene of operations, where they took up a position lining the left-hand side of a square, which surrounded the platform and reserved enclosures. The actual unveiling ceremonies passed off without a hitch, and were intensely interesting to all present, although the rear ranks were slightly incommoded by the enthusiasm of the onlookers, who seemed to think that the line of khaki was only made to be broken. After the presentation of the medals to the Town Guard had taken place, the various corps were dispersed to their respective parade grounds, and were dismissed.

Saturday, March 10th, was, however, the gala day for the Corps, as on that day the Cadets of Grahamstown were inspected by the Commandant-General, Col. H. Lukin, C.M.G., D.S.O. Although the inspection came very early in the year, and combined drills had been infrequent owing to the number of recruits and the frequency of rainy days, yet the results were highly satisfactory.

All the local Corps paraded on the Drostdy under Capt. Gane in the morning. The Corps were inspected in line by the Commandant-General, who then retired to the saluting base, while the Corps moved off in half battalions to march past. The whole line then advanced in review order, and were then addressed by the Commandant-General, who congratulated Capt. Gane and the other officers on the excellent show made by the Cadets. He had seen very few corps in England to touch them, and certainly the Grahams-town Cadets were second to none in the Colony.

The Brass Band which had played for the march past also received the commendation of the Commandant-General, and well it deserved it.

The day's work was not yet over. In the afternoon a "field day" took place in which the Volunteers joined the Cadets. The three ridges between the Rover's ground and the toll gate on the Cradock road were defended by a force consisting of the K.C.C.C., the Public School C.C. and St. Aidans under Capt. Gane, whilst the attacking force, which advanced from the south, comprised the 1st City Volunteers and St. Andrews C.C. The attack was made on both flanks, the centre being too much exposed to allow of any attack being made there. The Mounted Coy. of the 1st City scouted for the attack, some of the scouts, notably one on a white horse, being so keen on their work, and doubtless relying on the absence of ball cartridge, that they scouted (?) right through our lines. The first attack was made on the left by the Highland Company who advanced out of the bush and sat down in the open about two hundred yards from our trenches. After receiving a couple of volleys they incontinently retired, and though theoretically "dead" they made an attempt to outflank the left wing which signally failed. In the meantime the right wing, consisting of the First Company K.C., had repelled the enemy's attack and made a brisk separate counterattack, which was in the act of being pressed home, when the "cease-fire" sounded. The various Corps then assembled on the Cradock Road where the officers in command stated their orders and how they had carried them out, and the umpires declared their verdict, which was that the attack had failed in both quarters where an attack had been made. This was decidedly the best of all the field days that we have had, and the Cadets acquitted themselves remarkably well, being highly praised by the Commandant-General.

A novelty has been introduced this year in the shape of a signalling class. Under the able instruction of Cpl. Leggatt, C.M.R., sixteen N.C.O.s and men are being trained in the mysteries of "flag-wagging." Judging by the number of signals, which one sees in the course of a circuit of the grounds, the class bids fair to be a success. A further novelty in the shape of a "Maxim" class may be expected later, when drill is more proficient.

The following are the scores made in the Watts Challenge Cup Competition, which was fired on Saturday, March 31st.

The total at the corresponding ranges last year was 581, but as the competition was then fired with the rifle, the scores this year are not on the whole quite as good. We were indebted to Capt. Bomford for kindly acting as Superintending Officer.

Old Boys' Column.

The following have become members of the O.K.C. since the last list was published:—H. H. Birkett, W. J. Chipps, W. G. Chubb, H. E. Garner, H. G. Parsonson, D. J. Steenkamp, J. P. Watson.

* * * *

News of the following successes has reached us:—V. A. Leppan and L. R. P. Fennell have obtained the Cape Law Certificate; F. L. Osman has gained the Cape C. S. Lower Law Certificate; C. Whiley has passed the Cape University Matriculation in the Third Class; W. M. Thompson has passed the Intermediate Arts Examination; E. R. Roper has passed the Preliminary L.L.B.

In Sport, H. W. Walker and J. C. Walker came in first and second respectively in the 10 mile cycle scratch race on the Wanderers' Ground, Johannesburg.

* * * *

It will be no news to our readers, considering the great interest taken in the M.C.C. and S. A. Test Matches, that F. Bayes was chosen as first reserve for the South African Team in the last two. He proceeded to Capetown, but unfortunately was not called upon to play in either. In the Cape Times there appeared a fine portrait of him in characteristic bowling attitude, taken during practice at the nets.

* * * *

The Past v. Present Football Match will take place on Saturday, June 9th. It is hoped that a sufficient number of Old Boys will be able to turn up, so that the match may not fall through. Those who wish to play are asked to notify J. E. Trollip, Daggaboer, Witmoss.

The General Secretary of the O.K.C. asks us to state that the subscriptions are now due.

On Foundation Day telegrams were received from the following, congratulating Kingswood on its past, wishing it prosperity in the future, or conveying some kindred sentiment:—"Old Boys" at Capetown, Cradock, Johannesburg, and Queenstown, also from the following individually:—J. Cricket.

In our last number it was stated that the results in the latter half of the season would probably be much better than was the case in the earlier part. What was said then of Mr. Wood's valuable coaching has proved to be true, for the members of the team are now showing the effect of it. This is especially so with Smart and Morum, who have developed into sound bats, with a style that is distinctly "cricket." The distressing series of disasters reported last quarter may almost be forgotten now that the last match, a glorious victory, has been played. Albany had hitherto won all their League Matches, and only required a win over Kingswood to secure the Cup. As it is, they now tie with Fort England and have to play a deciding match. Their partisans were wont for a week or two, when they spoke mildly, to talk of the "glorious uncertainty of cricket," but the victory was thoroughly well deserved, for Kingswood showed up well in batting, bowling and fielding, especially in the last two. In conclusion the fielding of the team as a whole throughout the season is worthy of praise. A critique of the play of the individual members of the team will prove interesting.

Smart, the ablest man in the team, is a very stylish and sound bat. He is likewise a splendid fielder and a good bowler.

N. Impey is a good but rather unfortunate bat. He is a smart fielder and a very steady and reliable bowler.

Hurworth—one of the best wicket-keepers we have had. His batting has improved wonderfully under Mr. Wood's coaching.

Craig is a reliable and stylish bat, but unenergetic in the field.

Morum has the makings of a sound batsman, but he must overcome the habit of "pulling." He has vastly improved in his fielding.

Bennett with practice will prove a good bat, but as yet he is unreliable. He is one of the best fielders in the team, and is a good change bowler.

R. Impey is not much of a bat, but he holds his place in the eleven because of smart fielding.

Hope has a bad habit of "swiping" to leg. He has proved himself a splendid change bowler, but is a very weak fielder.

Halse, who is a steady but rather nervous bat, has fielded remarkably well at point.

Vice as a steady bat would do well, but he prefers to hit. He is very good at long field.

Brown as a bat does not play forward enough. He is fairly good in the field.

ST. AIDAN'S v. KINGSWOOD.

This friendly match was played on the Kingswood Ground on February 7th, and resulted in a draw, favourable to the home team. Before the innings was declared closed, Kingswood had made 150, and of these Mr. Wood compiled 80 and Impey 27, both not out. O'Callaghan with 12, not out, made the chief score on the St. Aidan's side; but unfortunately there was no time to do more than just start the innings. Another day could not be found for the continuation of the match because St. Aidan's had League fixtures to work off.

ALBANY 1st v. KINGSWOOD 1st.

This League match was played on the City Lords on March 3rd and 26th. Giddy won the toss and allowed Kingswood to begin the batting. The total reached, mainly through the effective bowling of Campbell, was small—only 54,—Craig alone, with 10 to his credit, making double figures. Albany in their first venture gave even a poorer display, and of their score of 47, Carter was responsible for 22. In the second innings Morum and N Impey started well, and succeeded in breaking the bowling to such an extent that with the assistance of Smart, Craig, and extras, 101 runs were compiled for 5 wickets. The remaining batsmen were more easily dismissed, and the score reached 119, leaving Albany only 126 runs to get. Giddy, with a score of 54, made a big effort, but he gave a hot chance to Impey when he had made 13. As the rest did next to nothing, the total score was only 77, and Kingswood won by 49 runs.
