Since COSATU's formation in December 1985 more than hall a million workers have joined COSATU affiliates.
COSATUs paid-up membetship is about 800,000 members now.
Towards the end of last year the 20,000
strong Post Office and Telecommunications ' Workers Association (POTWA) joined COSATU.
POTWA has had a close relationship with COSATU and mobilised workers in militant strike action in 1987/8.
Presently talks are going on between COSATU's ACTWUSA and the 110,000 strong Garment and Allied Workers Unlon (GAWU). GAWU has organised mainly coloured and indian workers in the Western Cape and Natal and has branches in the Transvaal and Eastern Cape. Last year GAWU ran a very successful Living Wage Campaign.
V ACTWUSA and GAWU are expected to merge before COSAIU's Congress in July.
At the same time, COSATU Education is co-ordinating merger talks between all black teachers unions in SA - and some white unions - with the idea of forming '
. one national teachers union. Giant teacher unions like ATASA and the CTPA are taking pan, as well as progressive teacher organisations like WECTU, PTA and DETU. One teachers union would represent ovev 100,000 teachets nationally.

Behind Angle's anti-apartheld talk lies vicious anti-worker action. Ask any mineworker and they will tell you - "Angle's anti-apanheid talk means nothing. Our reality is starvation wages, mass dismissals, naked racism and vicious repression. Capitalism and apartheid are two sides at the same bloody coin. Our struggle is to change these things - against both Botha and the bosses." A recent survey by NUM into the state of emergency ot the mine bosses on Angle mines reveals an all out attack on the NUM. The NUM has been built from the sweat and blood of workers. Through determination and struggle workets forced management to reeognise the union and negotiate on wages and working conditions. The NUM became the backbone of CO-SATU and a thorn in the flesh of the apanheid-mpitalist cheap labour system. b But since the 1987 stn'ke, when the bosses dismissed over 40 000 workers in a legal strike. the bosses have waged war against the union in REPRESSION an attempt to roll back the gains mineworkers have made. There have been dismissals, physical assaults, disciplinary charges, police-style _ raids and terrible hanasment. They have one aim: to break the power of NUM and tum it. as NUM President James Molatsi has said. "into a toothless welfare association of minework-

Democracy means having real control over every decision that attects us decisions on every law. on wages, on jobs, on production and distribution, on housing, on education, on health - on everything that concerns us in daily lite. , Workers know lrom experience real democracy can only come from strong organisation. That is why COSATU was built on the toundations of non-racial national industrial organisation., workers' democracy and workers control. That is why we have regular elections of our leaders, accountability at our leaders to the membership and mandates from our membership that our leaders must carry out. Of course, we'don't have ,any democracy in South AtricasBut in our organisations, we build democracy everyday by giving every _t worker the space to say exactly what they think; by discussing tot , gether all the ideas we have and by democratically deciding on the' best and strongest ideas by deci-;. sion at the majority. The people shall share the wealth! and youth are building the organs of demoaacy. These are the same structures that the people will use a to build the democratic rule at the masses in a liberated South Attica. Our committees of today are the loundation tor the democratic organs ol selt-government which the Freedom Charter calls tor. COSATU and our Whole movement demands one person one vote in a democratic non- racial SA! But are we stmggling every day, just to have a vote once in 5 years? Are we sacrificing every day. just to win the kind of "democracy" that whites have - where real power is outside parliament? One petson one vote means much more than this in our organisations today. It means that we decide everything, every day, on the basis of majority decisions within our democratic organisations.

It means we need the same democracy tomorrow in our country, that we are building today in our movement. We are taking the' question of democracy into our own hands. We are building democracy today in our struggles and in our organisations. Tomor- . row, we will build that mass-based democracy in our society. Today we need to strengthen working class democracy. In this way, we will not only strengthen the foundation for the people's government - we will also be strengthening our organisational basis tor the hard struggle means that democratic bodies controlled by the people will run the country, at the local and national level. That the parliament of the people should be directly controlled by the people. That every elected delegate should be accountable and recallable by those who elected him or her. That every person should have the right to participate in the people's democracy.

This is teal majority mle - where decisions are taken every day according to the majority vote 'within democratic organisations a and bodies. i irresponsible and wasteful with bility. Funds are abused when the organisation's money is not used tor organisational work, but tor personal use. This is stealing. it can take diiterent forms. Comrades claiming expenses when they have no right to. Using a hired car when they could get a lift or use public transport. Keeping the hired car tor longer than neccessary. The second kind of abuse is when money is used for organisational, worktor which they have no mandate. Or it an account is not given. Whenever money is spent. there must be a proper report back on why and how the money was spent. There must also be receipts or invoices. It tunds are not used for the organisation it is a came against the workers. It tunds are used tor strugglework, but without authority and accountability. this is also a crime. Both are corruption. Both must be rooted out of any democratic organisation.

How can we avoid misuse ot funds?

1. Through a code of conduct that builds discipline, commitment, reliability and accountability . among leadership and members. -

- 2. Through building strong structures that control the use of funds (e.g. national exec, regional/branch committees and local committees which check on why and how money is spent).
- 3. Through a clear policy that has been tully discussed by membership. '
- 4. Through proper procedures for requesting money.
- 5. Through proper procedures for giving reports and accounts.
- 6. Through proper discussion at .tinancial reports.

Smash the lies

Every week, all over the country, there are pamphlets and posters and stickers and newsletters coming out attacking our organisations. They carry the names and logos and addresses of our unions. They talk about our struggle. But they don't come from our organisations. They'are not the voice of workers. They come from the bosses and the racists - the people who ate workers and worker organisations. ey are using their propaganda , poison to create contusion; to make divisions; to disintorm us; to turn worker against worker; to try d kill the unity and organisation 9 have built.

The bosses and the racists are always trying to do this to workers. We are used to them lying in their newspapers and TV and radio about our struggle. Now they are coming like a tax at night and spreading their poison to workers i in the name at our organisations. The people doing this have millions of rand to spend. And they have some coniused information which their lmpimpls have sold them, MEDIA

They put this together to attack our unions. our unity, our strength as a class and our pride as workers. There are pamphlets trom COSATU attacking NACTU and pamphlets irom NACTU attacking COSATU. There are newsletters from socalled 'workerists' attacking 'populists' and 'populists' attacking 'workerists'. There are posters l which look exactly the same as ' COSATU posters except the message is completely different. There are regular newsletters like the S.A. Trade Union Monthly Tltbits. There are smear pamphlets. There are slanderous character assasinations. There are hate campaigns. There are accusations. There are lies. This poison ls never given out openly.lt is spread secretly at night at busstops, in hostels and in our workplaces. Sometimes it is even posted to workers. On one occassion a casspir was seen disi tributing them in a township. Pamphlets from COSATU are distributed openly "through our structures. They talk about our real problems in life - the bosses and the racists - and what we must do to overcome them. Any problems we have in COSATU are dealt with by the only method that can solve them - the method oi worker de- ' mocracy. This is what the enemies of the workers movement hate so much.

There are many things we in COSATU can do to stop this Build media committees!

Sarmcol Workers Co-op Project, (SAWCO) is a co-operative project established by strikers fired by BTR Sarmcol in Howick, Natal, during May 1985. When union members saw that the struggle for reinstatement at the factory would be very long, ideas were put torward tor collective activities to occupy and serve the strikers. The committee is developing plans for a consumer cooperative and a building project. The NUMSA meeting discussed many issues related to co-ops in general, and the specific problems of the NUMSA-supported co-op projects. The meeting dealt in particular with the principles on which co-ops are based. And it discussed why NUMSA supports the development ot co-ops and how they should be linked to NUMSA.

The most important principle on which the co-operatives are based is democratic control 01 production and distribution. This involves oommittment by co-op members To developing democratic structures tor planning and carrying out production and distribution. to be involved at every level of planning and decision making. But toroo-op structures to be truly democratic, members need to gain the skills and experience necessary to understand and control all the procedures for producing and marketing the product. Co-op workers also need the skills tor planning production and finances, and tor : etlective administration. Cleariynot every member can know and understand every aspect ' o e work. But each member s to know enough to participate effectively in making important decisions relating to the overall control of the project. It is many important tor all mem-. to be able to decide together how to use the profits.

This means that a co-opicannot concentrate only on becoming ' productive and earning money. Co-op members must get training and education so that they can exercise democratic control over the project. In capitalist industry the skills of planning and managing a a factory. workshop or shop are kept in the hands of management. when workers begin to run r own projects they need to start with careful discussion and planning. Workers need to plan how to tinance the project; how to st skills to manage and control; w to get trainingjn ordering _ . supplies, producing, distributing and selling their products. To suoceed. the oo-op needs to build up real democracy in production and distribution.

But at the same time workers should be productive enough to provide a living to the members. union suggert tor cg-opg The NUMSA meeting argued that it is Important tor the union to . support the co-ops. It is important Co-op workers and members need . EDUCATION tor the worker movement to team from the experience of co-ops. And it is important. it cotops want to siJrvive, to have the support of organised workers. Especially because we are building co-ops in a hostile capitalist environment. It the experience of 'co-ops is to serve the worker movement, then their mistakes and successes must be discussed and understood by organised workers.

Many people look to co-operatives as a solution to unemployment. But the capitalist system has been unable to solve the problems of mass unemployment in South Africa. This system controls the whole economy, while oo-ops are only a very tiny part at the economy. The control over planning and over the 'massive resources required to begin solving unemployment is not in the hands oi oo-ops or unions at present.

The experience of co-operatives in other capitalist countries has also not led to a solution to unemployment. In Italy for example, where mom ucu Ammo ro ins mun TO IACN ACOOIDMG TO HIS NEED$ the co-operative movement has been established for over 100 years, co-operatives control over 10% ot the economy._ But co-ops have not solved widespread unemployment in that country. The 00- . ops are linked to unemployed groups. but have not been able to provide Iobs tor most of them. Workers must be careiul about Education for liberation! Page" Cosatu News February 1989 'y perience oi co-operatives to evalui is important tor the worker movelooking to co-ops to solve unem- . ployment. It workers see this as the main aim of co-ops they can make the mistake ot concentrating mainly on the number of jobs to be provided in a project. And they can fail to develop the democratic principles that make the workers co-op different from a capitalist business.

60-095 and worker struggle We are not saying co-ops have no role to play in the workers struggle. A_co-operative can be a school where workers have the opportunity to develop skills and experience they would never have access to while working tor the bosses. This training can provide important lessons to the worker movement on how to build democracy in production. Similarly in the communities where workers live. consumer oo-ops can develop community understanding and control over marketing and distribution at goods and services.

When workers call tor an end to exploitation under capitalism, what they are saying is: $_$

'We want democratique ontrot over production and distribution, and over the protits we make tor the bosses. We want control over the lruits of our labour."

Organised workers can use the exate ways of building democracy in production and distribution. _

NUMSA support tor co-operatives ment to gain trom the experience of building and developing co-operatives. Co-op members in turn see the support of NUMSA and COSATU as important tor the co-ops to survive and succeed in their struggle.

Workers power builds co-ops!

INTERNATIONAL Workers must free Namibia! Last month the Mineworkers Unlon ot Namibia (MUN) held its thlrd Congress. A comrade trom COSATU spoke at the Congress. These are some parts at his speech: youth can organise, mobilise and build unity and democracy is in SWAPO. Bemuse of our social weight in society and in production. we workers must make sure that our voice is the loudest voice in our organisations; that our needs are the needs that come first in our organisations; that our dreams are the dreams ol our organisations; that our struggles are the struggles of our organisations. Workers in South Africa and workers in Nambia are fighting the same struggle in so many different ways. Together we reject racial domination . tor the evil and the ., cancer that it is. Together we struggle . against the exploitation of monopoly capital. particularly Anglo: American. COSATU General Secretary. Jay part of a strong COSATU delegation.

Jay said SACOS did not have a very meant township sports - especially
