clear mandate had been given by the Regional Conference delegates for the EC to:

streamline the administration, ) develop clear and direct lines of accountability, and i) allocate specific responsibilities to REC members.

he new REC has divided its activities into a political section, an organising ction and a policy development section. The administration and treasury ill be separate sections and will service the other three sections.

new rec two
The political section will deal mainly with political strategising for the ANC. Its tasks include negotiations, conflict resolution, international affairs, political education, internal media, producing political analyses and discussion papers, convening political discussion forums, and issues pertaining to our relationshp with our allies and other organisations.

The organising section will deal mainly with strengthening the ANC. It will deal with organising our urban and rural branches and zones, building the organisation in areas where it is weak, building our relationship with squatter, religious and labour organisations, campaigning, and self-defence and marshalls.

The policy development section will inclide most of the existing ANC departments. It will deal with developing ANC policy on a variety of issues such as the economy, constitution, local government, health, science and technology, land, welfare and repatriation, sport, arts and culture, education, development, ecology, foreign relations and defence. It will also have the task to build strong relationships with other organisations who are already active in these areas.
