

MCA OR -& EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This initial draft has been Prepared on the basis of the written brief given to the Technical Committee on behalf of the Multi Party Forum.

(Addendum D: Proposals to the Negotiating Council on the appointment of Technical Committees, and their Terms of Reference on certain matters arising from the Consolidated Document, Planning Committee : 26 April 1993)

The Preamble indicates in general terms the ambit and purposes of the Act. and that the Independent Electoral Commission will, in terms of the present draft. assume responsibility for the conduct of democratic national elections for a new Parliament to function in terms of an Interim Constitution. As noted in the Planning Committee's Brief, where regional elections are involved, new formulations will have to be considered. Consequently these fall outside the ambit of the present draft although the South African Government's Submission envisages a broader context for this legislation.

Section 1 contains the definitions of the key terms used in the Act.

Attention is drawn to Section 1.8 in which a definition of "Eligible Voters" has been included. This definition confers the right to vote upon all South African citizens of 18 years and over, including citizens of the TBVC states, and only excludes persons from the right to vote, by reason of criminality, mental disorder and other provisions of the Act or Regulations to be promulgated under the Act. As noted in footnote 2 of the draft Act, certain submissions were made to the Technical Committee to the effect that prisoners should be entitled to vote. This is a policy consideration on which the Technical Committee will require guidance from the Negotiating Council, Section 1.17 contains a definition of "The Transitional Elections". which states that the Act applies only to the elections of a new Parliament.

Section 2 Provides, however, that the Act will remain in force until such time as it is repealed by Parliament. Until so repealed, it will be possible for a new Independent Electoral Commission to be reconstituted in terms of the Act. in order to perform similar functions in respect of any future election or Referendum. as the case may be.

Section 3 is intended to ensure that the Act and Regulations promulgated thereunder by the Independent Electoral Commission, in respect of the conduct and supervision of the Transitional Elections. will Override any Other statute or regulations which might be in conflict therewith. Theoretically, it might have been preferable to undertake an audit of every Act and Regulation on the statute book, and to repeal or amend any conflicting provision specifically, However, such an audit would be uneconomical and probably impracticable given the present time constraints. Section 9 deals with the circumstances in which a member's appointment can be terminated. This includes resignation by the member, and the withdrawal of the official nomination of any international representative. Application for the removal of a member can also be made to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court by the State President, the Transitional Executive Council, or any registered political party or one hundred eligible voters: provided that insofar as such party or voters are concerned, the Chief Justice must first give leave for such application to be brought. The Appellate Division can order the removal of a member of the Commission only in the event of serious misconduct or incapacity bearing upon a member's fitness for Office. This would include continued ill health, and a material breach of the pre-conditions and qualifications referred to in Section 7 (see paragraph 10 above), or any other substantial reason which the Court considers inconsistent with the member's continuation in office. The application must be heard by the Chief Justice and not less than six (6) other Appeal Court judges.

[2, Section 10 deals with the remuneration and conditions of appointment of members of the Commission.

13. Section 11 states that the Commission may be reconstituted, if necessary, in order to undertake the same or similar functions and responsibilities in respect of future elections which may be called in terms of the Constitution. The nomination and appointment of members of a reconstituted Commission shall be effected by the State President upon the advice of Parliament, acting in terms of a resolution passed by the

- Same Majority as 18 necessary to amend the Constitution. If parliament is deadlocked, and unable to establish the required Majority to nominate a new Commission, then the deadlock breaking mechanism is that the nomination and appointment of the reconstituted commission will be effected by the State President, on the advice of a majority decision of the full bench of the Appellate Division, comprising the Chief Justice and not less than six (6) other Appeal Court judges.

14. Sections 12-15 deal with procedure, administration, financial accountability and a Guarantee by the State for the commitments of the Commission.

Section 16 deals with the powers, duties and functions of the Commission. In particular: it is envisaged that the Commission shall set up three (3) separate Directorates, viz: an Election Administration Directorate, an Election Monitoring Directorate and an Election Adjudication Directorate. The Commission shall be entitled to co-opt suitably qualified persons including nominees from accredited international organisations to assist these Directorates.

Section 16.4 provides that each Directorate shall operate independently of the others, but will be accountable and subject to the overall management and control of the Commission.

16, Section 17 sets out the responsibilities of the Election Administration Directorate, including the role of voter education, determining the eligibility and identification of voters, the enforcement of an electoral Code of Conduct, administering the obligation to disclose the receipt and source of each financial contribution to a political campaign in excess of R1.000.00; and the promulgation of regulations governing political advertising, to be determined in consultation with the Independent Media Commission. It should be noted that the administrative details involving proof of eligibility and identification of voters has not yet been specified, and will require further consideration and technical advice. Guidance is required from the Negotiating Council whether detailed provisions are to be included in this Act or left to the Commission to determine, in view of the obvious need for substantial amendments to the existing Electoral Act. Provision is made for an electoral Code of Conduct to become Schedule A to this Act. This Code has not yet been drafted by the Committee, which has thus far received only two draft submissions from the negotiating parties in this regard.

Section 18 provides for the Election Monitoring Directorate. In particular Section 18.2 envisages that this directorate shall have investigative powers, including the right to issue and execute search warrants, and to seize items as evidence of alleged infringements of the electoral Code of Conduct.

Section 19 provides for the responsibilities of the Election Adjudication Directorate. Section 19.1 provides that this Directorate shall serve as the final arbiter of claims. Issues and disputes affecting the campaign, conduct and results of the Transitional Elections, save that there is to be a final right to appeal to the Commission.

Section 20 deals with the Commission's final adjudication of the election results. It is provided that the Commission shall be required within a period of 21 days after completion of the ballot, to determine and certify the final results of the Transitional

Elections, and to declare whether, and if so to what extent, such elections have been conducted in a manner which has been substantially free and fair. Section 20.2 provides that a simple majority is not sufficient to certify the result of the election, and a majority of at least eight (8) members is required. In the event that the Commission finds that the poll was partly untrue and unfair, Section 20.3 empowers it to implement such steps as it may deem appropriate in order to achieve a free and fair election result. This could enable the Commission to take limited action in a particular region, without having to hold a completely new national election, in the event that there were unacceptable conditions in a limited area of the country only.

Section 21 provides that the Commission's decisions are not subject to appeal, but may be reviewed by a Provincial Division of the Supreme Court, or with the leave of the Chief Justice by the Appellate Division.

Section 22 provides for the succession of the rights and prerogatives of the Forum firstly by the Transitional Executive Council, and ultimately by Parliament.

Section 23 empowers the Commission to delegate any of its powers, save only for its duty in respect of the final adjudication of the election results.

The ANC submission (Section 5.2 et seq) envisages 4 special deeming provision in relation to citizenship which includes birth in South Africa, at least one parent being South African, marriage to a South African, or continuous residence in South Africa for at least five years.

The term "criminality" is used at this stage merely to highlight the need for the Forum to address the principle involved. The Electoral Act (Section 4) contains an extensive debarment from voting of persons convicted of criminal offenses. The ANC suggests that this debarment be confined to persons convicted of corrupt or illegal practices under this Act. Lawyers for Human Rights in their submission suggest that at least in respect of the Transitional Elections, persons should be given the right to vote and that their future voting right be determined by the customary making body.

It is envisaged that the appropriate provision of the Electoral Act (Section 4(2)) be incorporated by reference as envisaged in terms of 17. ee

Application of this Act

The provisions of this Act shall apply initially in respect of the Transitional Elections.

It shall remain in force in respect of future elections, notwithstanding the dissolution of the originally constituted Commission, until formally repealed by Parliament.

Binding on the State

This Act and the Regulations to be promulgated thereunder shall be binding upon the State, and to the extent that its provisions may conflict with the inherent powers of the State or with the provisions of any other Statute, it shall supersede and override any such powers and provisions insofar as they may relate to the conduct and supervision of national elections, and other matters dealt with in terms of this Act

The South African Government in its submission envisages the application of the Act, and the jurisdiction of the Commission, as applicable to a broad category of elections, including national, regional and other elections for the appointment of any board, body or institution of any authority,

Members of the Technical Committee have expressed concern with regard to the possibly unintended ambit of this overriding provision. However, the broad theme appears to be in accordance with the Committee's brief and the parties' individual submissions. Clearly there has not been time to undertake an adequate audit of legislation which could be affected by this provision.

The appropriate constraints on the powers of the Commission in relation to the Courts and existing laws need to be clearly defined. In the ANC submission, it is proposed that the Commission have power to promulgate regulations, repealing and amending any existing law, and power to direct government authorities, including the police and defence force, to perform and execute tasks necessary for the implementation and conduct of the election.

Establishment of Commission

There is hereby established a bodyâ\200\231 to be known as "THE INDEPENDENT ELECTORAL COMMISSION", which shall be a jurisc person.

Objects of Commission

The objects of the Commission shall be to administer and conduct a free and fair democratic electoral process for the new Parliament, and to assume plenary executive powers in respect of the Transitional Elections. including responsibility for registration of voters and political parties; supervision of the electoral process: monitoring and evaluation of the process, determining the results thereof: and adjudicating issues affecting the Transitional Elections and the conduct of political parties during the course of such Elections.

In respect of all matters affecting the organisation, conduct and supervision of the Transitional Elections. all powers of the State and such other bodies as are referred to shall be deemed to have been devolved

P The PAC submission recommends that the Commission be subordinate only to the Council winch shall have power to ratify and/or amend its decisions.

â\200\231 The Technical Committee has expressed some concer as to whether the number of members should be defined specifically or left within a range. As drafted, the Starute requires that the State Presidentâ\200\231s discretion be exercised on the advice of the Forum or Council , as the case mav he. However, the appointment of additional members during the progress of the elections could give mse to contention.

The Democratic Party proposes either 3 Commussion of 26 members. compnsing: "Non-Parusa n Commussioners from civil society", one of whom shail be nomnated by each delegation participating in the Forum, or a commussion of 7-11 members selected by a neutral selec tion body.

In the SA Government submission (Section 4(1)(b)) it is suggested that the State President should make appointments â\200\230from the names submutted to the State President by the Councilâ\200\235. The Comumuttee has assumed that the State President does not have an undependent discretion to select names from a list.

No person who has held Political Office during a period of three years as a member of the Commission; and upon ceasing to be a member of the Commission for any reason, no person shall be eligible to accept appointment to Public Office for a further period of three (3) years from the date upon which such appointment shall terminate.

It shall be a fundamental precondition to the appointment and eligibility of every member of the Commission :

The Government of Bophuthatswana proposes representation of international organisations
. but only as observers with advisory status.

The South African Government proposes that only South African citizens serve as members of the Commission, although it does envisage accredited external observers.

The Democratic Party also suggests that international representatives should serve in a non-voting capacity.

The ANC proposes a Commission comprising not less than seven (7) and not more than eleven (11) members who are all to be eligible voters in the election. plus four (4) persons from the international community (i.e. a total of eleven (11) to fifteen (15) members.

The Venda Government's submission specifies that members of the Commission should include women and represent a balance between population groups.

The South African Government proposes a Commission of up to eleven (11) members, with a maximum.

This accords with the suggestion of the Democratic Party.

The Committee has included this provision as a suggestion. although it does not derive from its benefit or from the submissions of any of the parties.

Recognising the possible future need of the Commission, if further elections are needed before adoption of a new Constitution. the Technical Committee has formulated an alternative proposal (Section 20), which is to the effect that the Commission may be reconstituted in the event of such further elections, but it will not continue to have an established membership during any intervening period.

CHAPTER THREE

1. OF THE

Reconstitution of the Commission

1.1 Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 8, the Commission may be reconstituted at any time if required, in order to undertake the same or similar functions and responsibilities in respect of future national elections, as it has undertaken in respect of the Transitional Elections, in the event that Parliament is dissolved and new elections called in terms of the Constitution.

1.2 The nomination and appointment of members to the reconstituted Commission (including if it is deemed appropriate, persons seconded by Accredited International Organisations and/or Foreign Governments) shall be effected by the State President upon the advice of Parliament, acting in terms of a Resolution passed by the same Majority as may be required in order to effect an amendment to the Constitution. If such Resolution is not supported by the required majority in Parliament, the nomination and appointment of the members of the reconstituted Commission shall be effected by the State President acting on the advice of a majority decision of a full bench of the Appellate Division, comprising the Chief Justice and not less than six (6) other Appeal Court judges. *A°

The Technical Committee's concern is that an expeditious procedure is necessary in the event that Parliament is unable to establish the required majority. Alternative possibilities might include a decision by the Chief Justice acting on his own, or a panel of judges comprising possibly the Chief Justice and the Judge President of each of the Provisional or Regional Divisions of the Supreme Court.

11.3 In the event of a vacancy arising on the reconstituted Commission, the provisions of Secuon 7.4 shall mutatis mutandis apply, dut the reference to the Forum or the Council thereunder. shail be deemed to be a reference to the full bench of the Appellate Division constituted in the manner as aforesaid.

CHAPTER 4 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

12. Procedural Matters

[2.2 The quorum for any meeting of the Commission shall be seven (7) members, save in respect of the Commission's adjudication of the final result ana acceptability of the Transitional Elections and any by-elections, in respect of which the necessary quorum shall inciude all members of the Commission.

2.3 Subject to the special quorum and majority requirements stipulated in respect of the Commission's adjudication of the result and acceptability of the Transitional Elections, all decisions of the Commission shall be by simple majonty. In the event of an equality of votes, the Chairperson (or in his/her absence, the Vice-Chairperson. or acting Chairperson) shall have a casting vote.

12.4 The Commission may appoint such sub-committees, whether as standing sub-committees or otherwise, as it may consider necessary for the effective executlon of its funcuons, provided that the Commission shall retain the power tO rescind or vary and amend decisions taken by any such subcommittee.

12.5 Any such sub-committee may include persons who are not members of the Commission, but the Chairperson of any such sub-committee shall be a member of the Commission.

Commission may determine with the concurrence of the Minister of Finance.

CHAPTER FIVE DRAFT

(7, Responsibilities of the Election Administration Directorate

The Election Administration Directorate constituted in terms of 16.2.1 shall have the following functional responsibilities, viz:-

To The education of the voter public concerning democratic principles and values, and the electoral process: including free and peaceful political campaigning; the secrecy of voting and other relevant matters, utilising such means and media as it may deem appropriate. Including the distribution and publication of literature, advertisements, and otherwise through radio, television and public print media.

: The South African Government proposes the appointment of a Chief Electoral Officer and Secretariat, charged with the administration and conduct of the elections. Alternatively, it proposes that the Commission itself should administer these matters through a sub-Council.

= The Democratic Party suggest that the first task of the Commission should be to draft a new Electoral Act, although it also urges that "most electoral rules should be determined in the Act\200\231.

A submission from the Gender Advisory Committee recommends that special attention be given to encouraging the full participation of women in the elections.

Procedures for determining the eligibility and identification of for eligtibility are substantive issues which need to be specified in the legislation.

What is envisaged by this clause are merely procedural issues.

The ANC's submission contains detailed suggestions concerning the important issue of how voters may be identified. (See Paragraphs 4.4.6: 7? & {4 of their submission). If the Technical Committee is required to formulate proposals with respect to identification of voters, it will need to give that matter further consideration and if Necessary obtain expert advice.

The Democratic Party suggests that the Commission should also take a pro-active role in voter registration and the issuing of the necessary ID documentation, possible in conjunction with its own voter education programme.

The issue of criteria and procedure for registration of Political Parties is an important matter.

The ANC in its submission (clause 9) makes detailed suggestions with reference to the pre-conditions and formalities to be satisfied before registration of a Political Party may be granted,

The Technical Committee has not had a sufficient opportunity to consider in detail the prerequisites that are appropriate. The Democratic Party has suggested a requirement of deposits, which would be forfeited, together with other financial electoral assistance, by any party which received less than one percent (1%) of the national vote.

The election and appointment of returning officers. polling and counting officers and other necessary electoral personnel, who may not be persons who hold or have held any Political Office during a period of three (3) years preceding the date of their appointment.

The identification of polling stations and the determination of times"

The Technical Committee has received three suggested Codes from the SA Government. the ANC and the DP respectively, but has not yet had time to apply its mind adequately to the formulation of such Code, It does. however, support the proposition that the content of such Code and the penalties or consequences for infringements should be defined by the Statute.

An issue to be determined is whether the jurisdiction of the Commission and its Adjudication Tribunal should be limited to acts and omissions committed by Political Parties and Candidates. or whether it should also be in a position to take steps against other individuals and organisations who may have not themselves subscribed the Electoral Code of Conduct.

In the submission of the SA Government. a provision 15 proposed which would deem an offence committed by an official or representative of a Political Party to be the offence of that party unless the contrary is proved, and in appropriate circumstances the Political Party can be declared â\200\234unlawful* and precluded from participating in this and future elections for a period of up to five (5) years.

In the ANC submission, it is suggested that membership of a Political Party should also be a disqualification.

In the ANCâ\200\231s submission it is proposed that voting should take place over a period of three (5)

The Democratic Party suggests the opposite. namely, that forcing voters to vote within their area of residence could create conditions susceptible to intimidation.

Without repeating the provisions of the Electoral Act. it is assumed that the same or similar provisions shall be made applicable to this election.

In the ANCâ\200\231s submission (clause 15) it is specified that the ballot form should be single-columned and in alphabetical order.

The Democratic Party advocates an indelible mark on votersâ\200\231 hands to prevent repeated voting, and proposes various measures to be adopted at polling stations in order to prevent intimidation of voters,

Responsibilities of the Election Monitoring Directorate

The Election Monitoring Directorateâ\200\231? constituted in terms of 16.2.2 shall have the following functional responsibilitiesâ\200\235 viz:

An issue to be resolved is precisely the ambit of jurisdiction of the Election Commission with reference to other laws, and in particular (the Electoral Act. {a the ANCâ\200\231s submission (4.4.7) the Commission is to be given unqualified powers to amend by regulation any existing law which in its opinion restricts the political activity of access to voters. In the South African Government's submission (7(4)(a)) the Commission is to review existing electoral legislation and make recommendations with regard to the need for amendment.

The ANCâ\200\231s submission (4.4.9) also proposes that the Commission should have authority to give directions with reference to matters affecting the election to any government authority including the police and defence force.

The Democratic Party envisages that the Commission might utilise the services of Government Departments â\200\230on an agency basisâ\200\231. The Democratic Party also suggests that a new Electoral Act to be drafted by the Commission.

The South African Government proposes â\200\230a Monitoring Committeeâ\200\231 comprising three (3) competent and impartial persons.

In the alternative proposal of the South African Government, it is suggested that the monitoring function be transferred to the National Peace Secretariat (clause 13). Whilst advocating an independent Monitoring Body, the Democratic Party suggests that the functioning Peace Committees should also be used to â\200\230ensureâ\200\231 and â\200\231monitorâ\200\231 security.

The Election Adjudication Directorate*! constituted in terms of 16.2.3 shall have the following functional responsibilities viz:

The DP proposes that this Directorate should be chaired by Â« Judge. The SA Government suggests that it should compnse tive (5) persons who have held judicial otface or Who h ave practised law or been academic lawyers for at least ten (10) years.

To establish and determine the powers and procedures of appropriate special tribunals for the speedy investigation and adjudication of complaints concerning alleged electoral irregularities, including any refusal or attempt to impede access to venues, voters, and political meetings, corrupt practices, intimidation or other breaches of the Electoral Code of Conduct; provided that an appeal shall lie to the Commission in respect of decisions made by any such special tribunals.

CHAPTER EIGHT TION

20. Adjudication of Election Results

Upon completion of the ballot, the Commission shall be required within a period of 21 days to determine and certify the final results of the Transitional Elections, and to declare whether, and if so then to what extent, such elections have been conducted in a manner which has been substantially free and fair. In the subordination of the SA Government (clause 8) the right of the Courts to co-exist with Jurisdiction is reserved. This would appear to create the possibility of a conflict of authority.

majority of at least eight (8) members of the Commission shall have concurred in such finding.

In the event of such results, or any part thereof, being not accepted and certified as aforesaid, the Commission shall determine and cause to be implemented such steps (including the organisation, conduct and

Notwithstanding the foregoing. the Transitional Elections shall not be set with the provisions of the Act or the Electoral Code of Conduct, if it

The Committee has prepared a draft {MC Bill, which is attached. This Bill is based on the terms of reference of the Committee, the submissions received from political parties, assistance received from a number of experts and discussions of the Committee itself.

Most of the submissions received by the Committee dealt with the ITA/IBA. [notwithstanding as there were submissions which dealt with the IMC, the Committee has tried to incorporate in its recommendations as many of these submissions as possible. However, the following submissions are not reflected at present in the recommendations of the Committee:

4.1 The submission received from the Ciskei Government to the effect that the [MC should have no jurisdiction in relation to the TBVC states. Ciskei submits that the TBVC states should enjoy regional autonomy and the IMC and ITA should be regionally based. The Committee feels that this is an issue ought to be dealt with by the Technical Committees dealing with constitutional matters and the Transitional Executive Council.

ETE Bic SE ios maaan ne. idee aie ekcepiees: Btei es

The submission received from the Democratic Party to the effect that IMC members should be appointed following a process of open hearings. The Committee did not feel that this was appropriate, bearing in mind that the IMC has a transitional function. It should be established by the TEC /MPF immediately upon the commencement of the IMC Act.

The submissions received from the PAC to the effect that the Committee ought to address the question of the print media in terms of the levelling of the playing fields in the period leading up to the elections. The Committee is of the view that it would be inappropriate to try and regulate the print media in the transitional period, since this would constitute an unwarranted infringement of freedom of expression. The reason why broadcast is treated differently is that the frequency spectrum is public property and ought therefore to be regulated in the public interest. Similarly, state-financed publications, which are financed by revenue received from tax payers, should not be involved in the realm of party politics.

The Committee felt that state information services ought to be treated differently from state-financed publications. In the IMC Bill, we have dealt only with state-financed publications. The Committee understands that state information services would deal, inter alia, with statements made and press releases issued by the State President, the central government, Ministers and their ministries, state departments, and the South African Communication Service, as well as the equivalent bodies in the self-governing territories and the TBVC states. The Committee is of the view that the state information services ought to be dealt with as follows:

All such statements and press releases ought to be issued via a central point, namely the South African Communication Service;

Insofar as a political party is of the view that such a statement or press release runs counter to the promotion and creation of a climate favourable to free political parties participation and the holding of free and fair elections, this political party may refer a complaint to the IEC or the TEC to deal with.

The Committee is of the view that it is appropriate that the political parties should resolve such issues. It is not felt appropriate to have these issues adjudicated by a body such as the IMC. It may well be that the political parties will decide to introduce additional measures to address statements and press releases emanating from certain state information services.

The Committee has a similar view with regards to any written material published. Any statement made or press release issued by any political party, party representative or candidate during the transition period. In other words, insofar as a political party is of the view that such material, statement or press release runs counter to the promotion and creation of a climate favourable to free political participation and the holding of free and fair elections, this political party may refer a complaint to the IEC or TEC.

The Committee hopes to have completed an Independent Broadcasting Authority Bill (the name of this Bill is still the subject of discussion) by the end of next week i.e.

Friday 28 May 1993.
