The Chancellor

The Chancellor is an office that goes back to antiquity: the original Chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known) regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of the writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded the title. More recently, the office has become largely symbolic. The executive head of a university is its vice-chancellor.

Justice Pius Langa is the sixth Chancellor of the University of Natal. His predecessors are : The Honourable D G Shepstone (1949-1966), Dr G G Campbell (1967-1973), Dr B A Armitage (1973-1983), the Honourable R N Leon QC (1983-1992), and Archbishop D E Hurley (1993-1998).

The Mace

The Chancellor's Mace is used on ceremonial occasions presided over by the Chancellor and is regarded as the Chancellor's staff of office. It symbolises the University's protection of its Chancellor.

The use of the mace as a symbol of authority has a long history. The head of a copper mace, which apparently dates back to the 12th Century before Christ, has been excavated at Beyce Sultan in Asia. In the early centuries, churchmen who went to war often carried a mace in preference to a sword. On one side of the mace-head was beautifully decorated with the owner's emblem and on the other side was as a large knob which served as a weapon, but was always round as a reminder of church law forbidding the shedding of blood. In the early centuries the mace was a symbol of the king's authority. During the power struggle between the king and the Commons in the 13th Century, the king gave the speaker the mace as a symbol of his indemnity against arrest.

The Mace was designed by Mr G H Atkins, senior lecturer in sculpture in the University's Department of Fine Arts. The Mace was made in England, it was first used at the 1970 graduation ceremonies.

The Armorial Bearings (see front cover)

The armorial bearings of the University of Natal were awarded by the College of Arms in London.

The two black wildebeest come from the arms of the Province of KwaZulu-Natal. They are shown in full course to symbolise movement and progress. The two open books represent the universal heritage of knowledge and the two centres of the University, Durban and Pietermaritzburg. The five pointed star refers to the naming of Natal by Portuguese navigators when they landed for the first time at Durban on Christmas Day in 1497. Stella Aurorae (star of the dawn) symbolises the role of the University in bringing to light new knowledge and spreading the enlightening influence of education.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant ant custom.

When the graduating students at universities receive their diplomas or-degrees, they, too (and for some, only once in their lives) wear the caps and gowns and so participate in this long tradition. By wearing the ancient regalia, they join hands with students past and students present.

In modern academic ceremonies the standard cap and gown are almost universally worn. Of all the components of the costume, the hood conveys the greatest amount of information: it makes clear the level of the degree, the faculty in which it was given, and the institution which awarded it.

Convocation

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood to the President of Convocation (or representative). The President places the hood upon the graduate's shoulders.

At the end of the ceremony, after the Chancellor's procession has left the stage, the President leads a procession of the new graduates out of the hall, row by row, to symbolise their acceptance into, and future membership of, the Convocation of the University of Natal, the statutory body through which graduates have the opportunity to play a continuing role in the affairs of the University.

CONFERMENT OF THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF LITERATURE

honoris causa UPON

MICHAEL NUTTALL

Michael Nuttall was born in Durban in 1934. He went to school at Maritzburg College and then took a BA degree on this campus, gaining distinctions in his major subjects. After that he went to Rhodes University, Grahamstown, where he attained a first-class Honours degree in History. Awarded an Elsie Ballot Scholarship, he took an MA at Cambridge University in England, and then went on to Oxford to do a teaching diploma.

He returned to South Africa in 1958. After a brief period of schoolteaching, he became a lecturer in History at Rhodes University. Four years later he decided to become a candidate for ordination, and studied at St Paul's Theological College, Grahamstown, and, as an external student, at London University, obtaining a BD Honours degree. In 1965 he was ordained as a priest, and served in the Grahamstown area. From 1969 to 1974 he returned to Rhodes University, this time as Lecturer in Ecclesiastical History.

In 1975 he was appointed as Dean of Grahamstown Cathedral and Archdeacon of Grahamstown. In the following year he became Bishop of Pretoria. From 1982 until the end of last year, he was Bishop of Natal, and for eight years he was also Dean of the Province in the Church of the Province of Southern Africa.

As Bishop and as Dean of the Province, Michael Nuttall had many responsibilities and performed many functions. One of the most important of these was chairing the Liturgical Committee which compiled An Anglican Prayer Book 1989 in English, which has now been authorized and translated into eight of South Africa's official languages. He also chaired or presided over numerous synods, elective assemblies, commissions and committees, and was a member of various councils and visitor to various communities.

He has been distinguished in the ecumenical movement, in such bodies as the Diakonia Council of Churches and the KwaZulu-Natal Christian Council. Even more striking, perhaps, has been his work as a negotiator, peacemaker and facilitator in this often troubled province. He has played a prominent role in the KwaZulu-Natal Church Leaders' Group, and has participated in many meetings and consultations aimed at producing peace among politicians. Among these have been the Ecumenical Peacemakers Programme and Project Ukuthula. In 1999 he was the Chairperson of ECCO, the Electoral Code of Conduct Observer Commission for the elections in this province.

He has received a number of awards, among them the rarely given Silver Cross of St Augustine, presented to him at the Lambeth Conference in 1998, and an honorary doctorate from the University of the Western Cape.

The University of Natal honours Bishop Michael Nuttall for the courageous and caring way in which he has contributed to the creation of a humane society in South Africa.

A Brief History of the University of Natal

Natal University College - The forerunner of the University of Natal - opened its doors in Pietermaritzburg in 1910 with eight professors and 57 students, eight of whom were women. Lectures in Classics, English and Philosophy, Law, Modern Languages, Botany and Geology, Chemistry and Physics, Mathematics and Zoology were spread over various venues, including Maritzburg College, the Natal Museum building and at the City Hall.

It was not until August 1912 that Old Main Building - built on 40 acres of land donated by the Pietermaritzburg Corporation - was opened by the then Minister of Education, F.S. Malan and the core of the present-day Pietermaritzburg campus was established. The following year, Natal University College (NUC) ceased to be a state institution, becoming instead a state-aided body.

In 1923, NUC extended its tuition to Durban with university level courses in Commerce and Engineering at the Technical College, but it was not until 1928 that Durban agreed that NUC take over full responsibility for university classes in Durban, thereby establishing the characteristic dual nature of the University of Natal. A generous donation by T B Davis, whose son, Howard Davis had been killed during the battle of the Somme in World War 1, facilitated the building of Howard College on the Berea which formed the core of a separate campus in Durban. Howard College was formally opened in 1931.

Largely through the efforts of Fabian Socialist Dr Mabel Palmer, separate classes for 19 "Non-European" teaching students at NUC were introduced in Durban in 1936. This number, reflecting an obvious need for training of this nature, grew to nearly 900 by 1960. However, like the University's Medical School, founded in 1951 for black students, classes still reflected the segregated nature of South Africa under apartheid. The government's Extension of University Act of 1959 limited new enrolments, other than those at Medical School, to whites and thwarted the University's aspirations to serve the educational needs of broader society. This act also restricted the autonomy achieved when NUC was granted full university status in 1949. It was not until 1983 when the University circumvented the government's racial admission "quotas" by an appeal to the High Court, that the University could fully resume its role of serving the educational needs of the broader community. Today, about 20 000 students, representing all sectors of South African society, are enrolled at the University of Natal.

In 1953, the administrative control for the University was shifted from Pietermaritzburg to Durban. In response to mounting travelling costs, the two centres were academically separated in 1973, with each centre having parallel faculties of Law, Humanities, Commerce, Science, and Social Science. Recent restructuring has meant the merging of some faculties across both campuses, with Faculties of Engineering, and Law being shared by both campuses. Unique to Durban are the Faculties of Community and Development Disciplines, Management Studies, Science and Medicine. Unique to Pietermaritzburg is the Science and Agriculture Faculty. There are separate Faculties of Human Sciences on each campus.

The University of Natal is fortunate to boast among its past vice-chancellors and principals some exceptional leaders. Its first principal, John Bews (1930-38), was a world-renowned botanist while Dr E G Malherbe (1945-65) was known internationally as an educationalist. In 1993, the University of Natal was the first South African University to appoint a woman as its principal. Brenda Gourley is the present incumbent. Chancellors have also been distinguished figures, not least the present Chancellor, Judge Pius Langa, and the recently retired Archbishop Denis Hurley. Students include Alan Paton, Steve Biko and Alec Erwin, Honorary graduates include Nelson Mandela, Roy Campbell and Abdullah Ebrahim.

The University of Natal is committed to service through excellence in teaching and research and is opposed to discrimination on the grounds of race, colour, nationality, religion or gender. It is known as a centre for excellence in Africa, is one of South Africa's top research institutions, and has links with almost 260 international institutions. Aligned to the demands of a rapidly changing global environment, the University has embarked on a thorough reform of curricula and university structures and is currently a leader in multi-disciplinary studies and is engaged in significant HIV/AIDS research. In recognition of its role in society, the University of Natal is also committed to greater emphasis on community-based education and service learning.

O se boloke, O se boloke
Setjhaba saheso

Setjhaba sa, South Afrika,
South Afrika.

Uit die blou van onse hemel

~ Uit die diepte van ons see

Oor ons ewige gebergtes

Waar die kranse antwoord gee
Sounds the call to come together
And united we shall stand

Let us live and strive for freedom
In South Africa our land.

Gaudeamus Igitur

Gaudeamus igitur, juvenes dum sumus;
Gaudeamus igitur, juvenes dum sumus;
Post jucundam juventutem,

post molestam senectutem,
Nos habebit humus, nos habebit humus.

Ubi sunt qui ante nos in mundo fuere?
Ubi sunt qui ante nos in mundo fuere?
Vadite ad superos, transite ad inferos,
Ubi jam fuere, ubi jam fuere.

Vita nostra brevis est, brevi finietur;
Vita nostra brevis est, brevi finietur;
Venit mors velociter, rapit nos atrociter,
Nemini parcetur, nemini parcetur.

Vivat Academia, vivant Professores,
Vivat Academia, vivant Professores,
Vivat membrum quodlibet,

vivant membra quaelibet,
Semper sint in flore, semper sint in flore.
