The Chancellor

"Chancellor" is an office that goes back to antiquity: the original Chancellor or cancellarius (as the office was known) regulated access to the Roman Tribune. In medieval times, the office became associated with the heads of the writing departments of the early kings. Because so few people were literate, a chancellor was necessarily learned. This is why the heads and spokespersons of the early universities were also accorded the title. More recently, the office has become largely symbolic. The executive head of a university is its vice-chancellor.

Justice Pius Langa is the sixth Chancellor of the University of Natal. His predecessors are: The Honourable D G Shephstone (1949-1966), Dr G G Campbell (1967-1973), Dr B A Armitage (1973-1983), the Honourable R N Leon QC (1983-1992), and Archbishop D E Hurley (1993-1998).

The Mace

The Chancellor's Mace is used on ceremonial occasions presided over by the Chancellor and is regarded as the Chancellor's "staff of office". It symbolises the University's protection of its Chancellor.

The use of the mace as a symbol of authority has a long history. The head of a copper mace, which apparently dates back to the 12th Century before Christ, has been excavated at Beyce Sultan in Asia. In the early centuries, churchmen who went to war often carried a mace in preference to a sword. One side of the mace-head was beautifully decorated with the owner's emblem and on the other side was a large knob which served as a weapon, but was always round as a reminder of church law forbidding the shedding of blood. In the early centuries the mace was a symbol of the king's authority. During the power struggle between the king and the Commons in the 13th Century, the king gave the speaker the mace as a symbol of his indemnity against arrest.

The Mace was designed by Mr G H Atkins, senior lecturer in sculpture in the University's Department of Fine Arts. The Mace was made in England, it was first used at the 1970 graduation ceremonies.

The Armorial Bearings (see front cover)

The armorial bearings of the University of Natal were awarded by the College of Arms in London.

The two black wildebeest come from the arms of the Province of KwaZulu-Natal. They are shown in full course to symbolise movement and progress. The two open books represent the universal heritage of knowledge and the two centres of the University, Durban and Pietermaritzburg. The five pointed star refers to the naming of Natal by Portuguese navigators when they landed for the first time at Durban on Christmas Day in 1497. Stella Aurorae (star of the dawn) symbolises the role of the University in bringing to light new knowledge and spreading the enlightening influence of education.

Academic Dress

The wearing of gowns by judges, ministers, teachers and scholars is an ancient and significant custom. When the graduating students at universities receive their diplomas or degrees, they, too (and for some, only once in their lives) wear the caps and gowns and so participate in this long tradition. By wearing the ancient regalia, they join hands with students past and students present.

In modern academic ceremonies the standard cap and gown are almost universally worn. Of all the components of the costume, the hood conveys the greatest amount of information: it makes clear the level of the degree, the faculty in which it was given, and the institution which awarded it.

Convocation

After being capped by the Chancellor, each graduate moves across the stage and hands the hood to the President of Convocation (or representative). The President places the hood upon the graduate's shoulders. At the end of the ceremony, after the Chancellor's procession has left the stage, the President leads a procession of the new graduates out of the hall, row by row, to symbolise their acceptance into, and future membership of, the Convocation of the University of Natal, the statutory body through which graduates have the opportunity to play a continuing role in the affairs of the University.

NURSE'S PLEDGE

I PLEDGE MYSELF to the service of the community in which I find myself, using all my skills and knowledge.

I WILL REACH OUT to those who need health care, treating them as equal partners in the endeavours for health and well-being.

I WILL NOT ALLOW race, religion, ethnicity, social status, political allegiance or any other factor to come between me and those who need me, or to influence the high standard of care I give to all.

I WILL TAKE responsibility for my own practice, updating my knowledge and skill regularly and appropriately, evaluating my own work systematically and making appropriate adjustments.

I WILL NOT ALLOW my commitment to comprehensive health care to be compromised by service boundaries, lack of resources or any other limiting factor.

I GIVE THIS PLEDGE freely and upon my honor.

A video recording of the entire ceremony is available from the University's Audio-Visual Centre, Level 5, Denis Shepstone Building, telephone 260-2637.

The University has appointed Gordon Harris Studios to photograph each graduand/diplomate as they are being capped. The photographers will be available for 3 hours before and again after the ceremony for the ordering and taking of photographs. The photographs will be posted directly to the graduands/diplomates within 30 working days.

Note: All enquiries regarding photographs should be directed to Gordon Harris Studios, 1337 Church Street, Hatfield 0083 or telephone (012) 430-3725.

CONFERMENT OF THE DEGREE
DOCTOR OF LITERATURE
honoris causa UPON
MARIE PHILIP

When David Philip Publishers was established in 1971 with the objective of publishing "books that matter", South Africa was deep in the darkness of the apartheid years. Because books which attempted to tell the truth and express a vision which ran counter to the State's determination to camouflage what was happening were often censored or banned, it took great courage for a publisher to try to make oppositional books available.

The starting capital that David and Marie Philip used was his pension after 17 years with Oxford University Press. Living constantly on an overdraft, they managed from the first to bring out remarkable and daring books in the fields of history, politics and literature. Their second book was Student Perspectives on South Africa. It had just been reprinted when two contributors, Steve Biko and Barney Pityana, were banned and could not legally be quoted, let alone published. Thus began for DPP an intermittent conflict with the security police which lasted until 1989.

The partnership of Marie and David Philip has been such an equal one that the University of Natal has taken the unusual step of awarding an honorary degree to both of them - not just to them as a team, but to each of them individually. David Philip received the degree at a ceremony in Pietermaritzburg three weeks ago; tonight the University is conferring an honorary degree on Marie Philip.

When Marie Philip completed her Arts degree in 1950 she took a Christmas job as a bookshop assistant to David Philip. Then she worked as an editor for Longmans Green in Cape Town. Thereafter, she worked as freelance editor for OUP London, and later for OUP Cape Town. At DPP, Women writers and poets became Marie's special concern and she has worked closely with Sindiwe Magona and numerous others.

Marie Philip also took on strategic planning and financial management. Because DPP was one of the few oppositional publishers that did not receive financial support from overseas funders, the viable costing of their books was vital for survival. Marie Philip concentrated on international joint publishing ventures which could extend their own print runs and give the firm access to titles they wished to import.

DPP's distinguished authors have won numerous prizes, both national and international, and David and Marie Philip too have won awards. These include the English Academy Award and the Molteno Medal given by the Cape Tercentenary Foundation "for lifetime services to literature".

Marie and David Philip are now semi-retired but remain on the Board of DPP. Recently Marie Philip gave a training course in Cape Town on copyright and selling rights, and her immediate plans are to "get up-to-date on electronic rights."

The contribution made by David and Marie Philip to the intellectual and spiritual life of this country, and to the eventual triumph of light, has been immense. Tonight one side of a great partnership is being recognised in the conferment of the degree of Doctor of Literature, honoris causa, on Marie Philip.

A Brief History of the University of Natal

Natal University College - The forerunner of the University of Natal - opened its doors in Pietermaritzburg in 1910 with eight professors and 57 students, eight of whom were women. Lectures in Classics, English and Philosophy, Law, Modern Languages, Botany and Geology, Chemistry and Physics, Mathematics and Zoology were spread over various venues, including Maritzburg College, the Natal Museum building and at the City Hall.

It was not until August 1912 that Old Main Building - built on 40 acres of land donated by the Pietermaritzburg Corporation - was opened by the then Minister of Education, F.S. Malan and the core of the present-day Pietermaritzburg campus was established. The following year, Natal University College (NUC) ceased to be a state institution, becoming instead a state-aided body.

In 1923, NUC extended its tuition to Durban with university level courses in Commerce and Engineering at the Technical College, but it was not until 1928 that Durban agreed that NUC take over full responsibility for university classes in Durban, thereby establishing the characteristic dual nature of the University of Natal. A generous donation by T B Davis, whose son, Howard Davis had been killed during the battle of the Somme in World War I, facilitated the building of Howard College on the Berea which formed the core of a separate campus in Durban. Howard College was formally opened in 1931.

Largely through the efforts of Fabian Socialist Dr Mabel Palmer, separate classes for 19 "Non-European" teaching students at NUC were introduced in Durban in 1936. This number, reflecting an obvious need for training of this nature, grew to nearly 900 by 1960. However, like the University's Medical School, founded in 1951 for black students, classes still reflected the segregated nature of South Africa under apartheid. The government's Extension of University Act of 1959 limited new enrolments, other than those at Medical School, to whites and thwarted the University's aspirations to serve the educational needs of broader society. This act also restricted the autonomy achieved when NUC was granted full university status in 1949. It was not until 1983 when the University circumvented the government's racial admission "quotas" by an appeal to the High Court, that the University could fully resume its role of serving the educational needs of the broader community. Today, about 20 000 students, representing all sectors of South African society, are enrolled at the University of Natal.

In 1953, the administrative control for the University was shifted from Pietermaritzburg to Durban. In response to mounting travelling costs, the two centres were academically separated in 1973, with each centre having parallel faculties of Law, Humanities, Commerce, Science, and Social Science. Recent restructuring has meant the merging of some faculties across both campuses, with Faculties of Education, Engineering, and Law being shared by both campuses. Unique to Durban are the Faculties of Community and Development Disciplines, Management Studies, Science and Medicine. Unique to Pietermaritzburg is the Science and Agriculture Faculty. There are separate Faculties of Human Sciences on each campus.

The University of Natal is fortunate to boast among its past vice-chancellors and principals some exceptional leaders. Its first principal, John Bews (1930-38), was a world-renowned botanist while Dr E G Malherbe (1945-65) was known internationally as an educationalist. In 1993, the University of Natal was the first South African University to appoint a woman as its principal. Brenda Gourley is the present incumbent. Chancellors have also been distinguished figures, not least the present Chancellor, Judge Pius Langa, and the recently retired Archbishop Denis Hurley OMI. Students include Alan Paton, Steve Biko, Alec Erwin and J M Coetzee. From the Medical School, come illustrious alumni such as Dr Ben Ngubane, Dr Mamphela Ramphele, Dr Zweli Mkhize and Professor Ronnie Green-Thompson. Honorary graduates include Nelson Mandela, Roy Campbell, Abdullah Ebrahim, Fatima Meer and Selby Baqwa.

The University of Natal is committed to service through excellence in teaching and research and is opposed to discrimination on the grounds of race, colour, nationality, religion or gender. It is known as a centre for excellence in Africa, is one of South Africa's top research institutions, and has links with almost 260 international institutions. Alive to the demands of a rapidly changing global environment, the University has embarked on a thorough reform of curricula and university structures and is currently a leader in multi-disciplinary studies and is engaged in significant HIV/Aids research. In recognition of its role in society, the University of Natal is also committed to greater emphasis on community-based education and service learning.

National Anthem

Nkosi sikelel' iAfrika
Maluphakanyisw' uphondo lwayo
Yizwa imithandazo yethu
Nkosi sikelela
Thina lusapholwayo.

Morena boloka
Setjhaba saheso
Ofedise dintwa lematshwenyeho.

O se boloke, O se boloke
Setjhaba saheso
Setjhaba sa, South Afrika,
South Afrika.

Uit die blou van onse hemel
Uit die diepte van ons see
Oor ons ewige gebergtes
Waar die kranse antwoord gee
Sounds the call to come together
And united we shall stand
Let us live and strive for freedom
In South Africa our land.

Gaudeamus Igitur

Gaudeamus igitur, juvenes dum sumus;
Gaudeamus igitur, juvenes dum sumus;
Post jucundam juventutem,
post molestam senectutem,
Nos habebit humus, nos habebit humus.

Ubi sunt qui ante nos in mundo fuere?
Ubi sunt qui ante nos in mundo fuere?
Vadite ad superos, transite ad inferos,
Ubi jam fuere, ubi jam fuere.

Vita nostra brevis est, brevi finietur;
Vita nostra brevis est, brevi finietur;
Venit mors velociter, rapit nos atrociter,
Nemini parcetur, nemini parcetur.

Vivat Academia, vivant Professores,
Vivat Academia, vivant Professores,
Vivat membrum quodlibet,
vivant membra quaelibet,
Semper sint in flore, semper sint in flore.
