South African Airways (SAA) offers five weekly flights from the United States to South Africa with four weekly flights (three non-stop and one direct) from New York's J.F.K. International Airport to Johannesburg and one weekly flight from Miami to Cape Town with continuing service to Johannesburg. On Apr. 5 SAA will begin operating an additional flight from Miami. SAA also has an extensive domestic network throughout South Africa and Southern Africa.

SAA offers companion fares for those passengers traveling together in First or Business Class. Passengers traveling at full-fare may bring a companion for half-fare when traveling on the same flights.

SAA has recently launched an unprecedented vacation and safari program called "Costcutters" which offers seven different programs to South Africa and Botswana. A ten-day vacation including round-trip airfare as well as hotel accommodations begins at $2,600.

Or travelers can opt for a grand 19-day tour throughout all of South Africa for $5,580. Mindful of the need for conservation, in 1990 SAA established the African Wildlife Heritage Trust which donates an annual contribution to the African Nature Foundation and the International Wilderness Leadership Foundation. A portion of each international ticket is earmarked for the Trust.

SAA was recently voted "Best Airline to Africa" out of more than 70 airlines which serve Africa and 40 airlines which serve South Africa by the readers of Business Traveler International.
