MARK HIPPER's black and white drawings deal with landscapes His method of drawing involves a fragmentation, an overlay of space and the revealing of various substrata. The dislocation of pictorial space and its negation through such devices as a line down the middle of a drawing prevents easy access or reading of the drawing. On an associative plane the drawings refer to elements such as geological structures, carcasses, sexuality, scarrification, arid and uninhabitable spaces. e

LINDA HOJEM's mixed media drawings have a rich:â\200\230iconic quality. Her image-figures which at times appear to be involved in unknown rituals and attitudes, evoke the sense of something sacred - even if it is only alienation. If there has to be a 'message', the works are perhaps expressive of a common predicament of man cornered into a negative expression of natural desires, i.e. perversions.
