SCHOOL NOTES

The Hall is now progressing rapidly, more rapidly, Mr. Carr, the builder, tells us, than he had hoped, and he assures us that we shall be able to use it at the beginning of next term. The roof (of shingles) is completed. So is the plastering inside. The floor is under construction, and should be finished well before this magazine is published. The kitchen, light, airy, and beautifully tiled, makes Miss Quin purr like a contented kitten. She is going to take charge there as Housekeeper.

Work is going ahead on the Library too. It is to be faced with new brick to match the Hall. The Head Master's house is full of books which have been presented and are ready to be moved in, and a large number is on order from England. Our best thanks to the donors. The Library will be able to accommodate a very large number, and any further gifts will be most gratefully received.

Mr. Poole has been released for active service from the end of this year. Taking cover behind the editorial plural may "we" wish our Editor all good fortune, an adventurous, varied and enjoyable experience in the army, and a safe return? Wood House, the classrooms, the fields, the Cadets, the plays, the magazine will miss his many-sided activity, and we shall miss Mrs. Poole's cheery presence and the queer noises that issue from Gray too. May their absence be brief.

Mr. Poole's place will be taken by Mr. W. McCagie from Middelburg, Transvaal, who will bring Mrs. McCagie to Mr. Tarr's house, 8 Burton Street, while Mr. and Mrs. Tarr will take over Wood House. We are glad to welcome them all.

Congratulations to the Headmaster and Mrs. Redfern on the birth of twin daughters.

Also to Mr. T. van der Spuy on his engagement to Miss E. Cronje. The marriage will take place during the summer holidays.

Mrs. Fish carries with her our best wishes as she leaves after many years' service.

Wood House will say good-bye to Miss Paterson, linen-matron, with great regret and good wishes for the future.

The new scoring board on Vlei, a permanent brick building with tiled roof, made possible by the generosity of Mr. Neville Turner, has received much well-merited admiration. The old fixture has been shifted to Middle, near the Tuck Shop.

Sight screens, the gift of Mr. J. Roderick, have also appeared on the cricket field. The bobbing of native heads along the road will no longer perplex the batsman facing the Jagger end.

EDITORIAL NOTE

The Editor would like to thank all those people who, by their co-operation in many ways, or by the appreciation of the magazine they have expressed from time to time during the past seven years, have rendered his task less difficult and unenviable.

Apart from Staff, boys and friends, he wishes to express his gratitude to Publishers, Photographers and Advertisers, whose courteous and unfailing assistance has been of the utmost value to him at all times.

Capt. C. O. Rich, in whose capable hands the magazine has been before, has consented to take it over again.

CRICKET

The performances of the 1st XI have been most fluctuating this year, and thus disappointing. The side had it in them to be really outstanding, but it was not till the end of the year that they showed anything approaching true form. The largest factor in their early reverses was that the team was most unstable, and many members failed to maintain their concentration upon the game with the result that critical catches were missed and the pendulum swung against us. Had every member schooled himself not to give away to inclinations to doze in the field or to take a wild hit at the inopportune moment when batting, then the story of matches lost would not have been quite such a sad one. It was only at the end of the season that such weaknesses were overcome, and our reward was three convincing wins over Graeme, St. Aidan's, and St. Andrew's.

Individually, every member of the side had cricket in him, but too often, throwing discretion to the winds, various individuals displayed a tendency to swipe blindly and hope for the best. Such thoughtless action only resulted in batting collapses in which the batsmen got themselves out through rank careless play. In the field many were the times when through momentary inattentiveness a vital catch was missed or a chance for a possible run out not taken, and thus far larger totals were amassed against us than should have been the case. Then on other occasions a well nigh impossible catch would be taken or many brilliant saves would be made, thus illustrating that if always on one's toes and keen and alert these things can be done.

This temperamental tendency of the team was most disconcerting, for they had it in them to perform really outstandingly, but just that lack of sticking power ruined such performances. Under the circumstances Bradfield, as captain, had a difficult task so that his handling of the situation was the more meritorious, though he still has to learn to spot sooner weaknesses in the opposing batsman's defences and to set his field and handle his attack accordingly. When inspired his captaincy has been outstandingly good for he possesses the attributes for the making of a good skipper. Our record of seven victories, six defeats and three drawn games is by no means brilliant, but it certainly could have been much better if only the side had done themselves true justice according to their capabilities.

1ST XI CRITIQUE.

- D. BRADFIELD (Capt.—Colours 1941-42; E.P. Nuffield 1941): A sound and reliable captain, whose enthusiasm when aroused can work wonders on the team. His batting at the beginning of the year was disappointing in that he never did himself justice, for time and again when apparently well set, he would endeavour to pull off his wickets and so repeatedly went for small scores. His consistency in reaching double figures has been of great service to the side, and in the latter half of the season his batting has been outstandingly good. With three successive scores of forty and over he has been a tower of strength and has set a fine example to the rest of the side. His bowling would have been far more effective had he kept a length, and although he has taken the greatest number of wickets his leg breaks have been expensive. An outstandingly brilliant field being quick, alert and active.
- F. C. BAYLY (Vice-Capt.—Colours 1941-42): A good all-rounder when on form, for his quick scoring and attractive batting backed up by some spells of dangerous fast bowling have made him a real key man of the side. When less temperamental he should go far, as he has the makings of a stylish bat, good opening bowler and can be brilliant in the field.
- D. E. PEARSON (Colours 1941-42): In the first half of the season he was unable to produce any form with the bat at all. This factor was not so surprising as he had to bear the brunt of the bowling, a task which he most successfully fulfilled. This half, relieved of this responsibility he has been a most successful opening bat, and has played many a fine and stylish innings. His driving through the covers has been a joy to watch, but many an innings has been terminated through faulty footwork in his back play. A fine field in any position, possessing an accurate and powerful throw in.

- J. S. VAN NIEKERK (Colours 1941-42): A keen and determined cricketer who has saved the side from ignominy when it has been in a tight corner on at least two occasions. His 66 against Queens quite upset their attack, for he employed aggressive tactics and hit the bowlers off their lengths. Possessing a good eye, a powerful lofted drive, and the will to tackle a tight situation, his play, though not correct technically, has been of the utmost value. A keen field who at times shows flashes of brilliance.
- C. B. TROW (Colours 1942): An unorthodox bat, who possesses a good eye and a particularly powerful drive off the back foot through the covers. In spite of his weakness in playing fast bowling, he has played many an invaluable innings low down where he has meted out severe punishment to loose bowling. In the field he has been a safe catcher, though his ground work is far from polished.
- N. KEEVY (Colours 1942): Playing in the team at the beginning of the year he met with immediate success as a slow bowler, then just as suddenly he faded out of the picture and had to be dropped. Then this term, owing to one of the members of the side getting ill, he filled the vacant place, and was such an outstanding player that he kept his place and won his colours. When he has better control of his length and pitches up the ball slightly more, then he will be even more effective. A good and safe field, but far too impetuous as a bat to enable him to make the scores of which he is capable.
- T. MORGAN (Colours 1942): A medium fast bowler, who when he bowls a length can be most effective. His figures would have been far more impressive but for the fact that many a catch was missed off him. In spite of these mistakes made at his expense he has been more determined than ever and shown no signs of giving in. As a bat, has good possibilities of developing, and is a most reliable and keen fielder.
- L. A. TURNER: An opening bat whose solid methods and slow scoring have been of unlimited value in the laying of the foundation for a presentable total. Here is an excellent example of figures belying their true worth, for he figures poorly in the averages, though his innings have on many occasions not ended till the total has been in the fifties or sixties, and his share has been but a dozen or so runs. But this solidarity has proved invaluable, and when he learns to play forward, use his feet and time the ball, then his future success should be assured. A keen and safe field, being the most reliable catcher in the team.

- K. KARG: A batsman of great possibilities, who invariably gets out when apparently well set. A fine stroke player against fast bowling, and the manner in which he has overcome his weakness in coping with slow spin attack deserves the greatest praise. He possesses a wide range of strokes, vastly improved footwork, and although alert in the field is not altogether reliable.
- W. LYON: A most disappointing player who had it in his to be the star performer of the team. A really fine aggressive bat when in form, possessing perfectly timed and stylish shots all round the wicket, but would not make sufficient effort to pull himself together and play himself in before attacking the bowling. Two of his innings were as fine and classically executed as anyone could wish to witness, but others were atrocious in that he took a wild hit and threw his wicket away. As a keeper his performances have been erratic and temperamental like his batting—a great pity for he could be really outstandingly good.
- C. H. WOCKE: A self-made and intensely enthusiastic cricketer who has persevered and made himself into the useful player that he is. A stiff and unnatural bat who has shown sticking powers, which has been of great value to the side in many a tight corner. In slips he has brought off several fine catches, but has missed some easy ones that have proved costly, but always he is fully awake and his backing up in the field is an object lesson to those who are weak in this respect.
- N. S. JAMES: A left arm bowler with possibilities of developing into a real asset to the attack. When he learns to control his length and direction and bowl a little faster he should be a really dangerous bowler, who should get a crop of wickets. A bat who lacks experience, but is a fair field.

v. St. Andrew's on 7th and 14th October. Away.

In this match we were severely handicapped in that we had to play with only one afternoon's practice behind us. Athletics ended on the Saturday previous, it rained on the Monday and on the Wednesday St. Andrew's, who won the toss, piled up over two hundred. The same old complaint of "had we held our catches," was once again to the fore, and under the circumstances the side did well to dismiss their opponents for the score they did. James bowled well to capture five for thirty-nine, and by the close of play we had lost six of our best wickets for only fifty odd runs. On the following Wednesday van Niekerk batted forcibly for his forty-five and helped to take the score to past the century mark. St. Andrew's in their second knock battled hard for close on two hours to notch eighty-two for the loss of six wickets.

Keevy bowling a fine length kept their batsmen pinned down, while Bradfield captained the side in an outstanding fashion. In just under the hour left us we compiled over sixty runs for the loss of one wicket. Karg and Pearson batted well and were right on top of the attack when stumps were drawn.

St. Andrew's, 1st innings, 204 (Hobson 50; James N. 5 for 39).

Kingswood, 1st innings, 127 (van Niekerk 45).

St. Andrew's 2nd innings, 82 for six, dec. (Keevy 2 for 17).

Kingswood, 2nd innings, 65 for one (Pearson 32 not out! Karg 31 not out).

Result.—Lost by 77 on first innings.

v. St. Aidan's on 10th and 17th October. Away.

In this match we were seriously handicapped in that Bradfield our captain, the mainstay of the batting and one of our most successful bowlers, was on the sick list. His loss was keenly felt in all departments, for, though Bayly as captain did well under the circumstances, the experience of the former was sadly missed. St. Aidan's won the toss, for Bayly as captain did well under the circumstances, but the experience of the former was sadly missed. St. Aidan's won the toss and batted, and aided by a few dropped catches piled up a formidable total of over 250. James with five for sixty-three was our most successful bowler, though Morgan, who bowled far better, had hard luck in that most of the catches were missed off his bowling. Pearson and Turner opened confidently to take the score past fifty, but after this, apart from Wocke, the rest of the side lost their wickets through real rank careless play. Davies, a leg break bowler, captured six wickets, but Bayly, Karg and van Niekerk, through impetuosity, made easy his task of bringing about their dismissals. Pearsons' innings was most polished while Wocke defended stubbornly.

St. Aidan's, 1st innings, 267 (Harrison 65, Connellan 57, Simon 50, Guise-Brown 38; James N. 5 for 63, Bayly 3 for 50).

Kingswood, 1st innings, 131 (Pearson 37, Wocke 27; Davies 6 for 44).

Result.—Lost by 136 runs on first innings.

v. Graeme College on 24th October. Home.

With Bradfield back in the side we put up a good all round display, and the side gave a glimpse of their true form. Graeme won the toss and sent us in to bat, a policy that proved most unsuccessful. Pearson made a chancy 42, and although not at home to the attack, his innings was invaluable, while Bayly made a most attractive 24 and was right on top of the attack, when he was unfortunately run out. Bradfield and van Niekerk batted determinedly to put on 50 runs, and the former played a real captain's innings for his 45. When Lyon came in we were to witness some truly grand batting, for with glorious shots all round the wicket, he completely demoralised the attack and passed the 60 without giving a chance. We declared with seven wickets down for just over 240. Graeme, apart from Robey, made little showing against our attack, and Bradfield and Keevy captured most of the wickets. Bradfield had a good match in that he captained the team in a first class manner, besides making runs and capturing most of the wickets, and made us forcibly realise how great had been his loss to us in the previous match.

Kingswood, 1st innings, 243 for seven, dec. (Lyon 63 not out, Bradfield 45, van Niekerk 28, Bayly 24).

Graeme, 1st innings, 95 (Robey 51; Bradfield 4 for 28, Keevy 3 for 16).

Result.—Won by 148 runs on first innings.

v. No. 44 Air School on 28th October. Home.

We won the toss and batted and soon were scoring freely, for Pearson and Bradfield both scored with forceful shots all round the wicket. Pearson's driving through the covers was delightful to watch, while Bradfield was terrifically powerful on the leg side and batted confidently for his half-century. The Air School had, after our declaration, to score quickly in order to get the runs. Tulley, a Transvaal provincial cricketer, scored with great abandon to notch a quick half-century, while Arnold was undefeated at the end. Morgan was by far our most dangerous bowler and had bad luck in that he beat the bat and wickets on several occasions. The fielding of the side was of a keen and high standard with Bradfield, Morgan and Turner outstanding.

Kingswood, 1st innings, 168 for 7, dec. (Bradfield 59, Pearson 39).

Air School, 1st innings, 128 for 5 (Tulley 50; Bradfield 2 for 43).

Result.—Draw.

v. Rhodes on 31st October. Home.

Our showing, after the apparent improvement in form shown in the two previous games, was most disappointing, and the team by no means did justice to its cricketing ability. We won the toss and batted and soon through careless batting had been dismissed for a paltry ninety odd runs. Bayly played most restrainedly for his 35 and was the only member who curbed his inclination for hitting. The Rhodes attack is far from dangerous, but at the same time one cannot take unnecessary liberties with it, and this is where our batsmen tripped up. A mania for trying to pull off the middle wicket proved disastrous and resulted in the players being caught out or being leg before. Rhodes began in confident fashion and soon had 60 on the board for the loss of only one wicket. Then Morgan snapped up two quick wickets and put them on the defensive, but Bradfield made a fatal error in that he brought on an erratic spin attack and Rhodes piled up 20 quick runs. This put them on top and then Keevy came on to bowl unchanged for the rest of the innings, and thoroughly deserved his five wickets. Had a couple of catches been taken then Rhodes would have been out for just over the century mark. As it was they just failed to reach the double century, and under the circumstances our side did well to dismiss a university side so comparatively cheaply. In our second venture we fared little better. Only Turner, with a most determined and stout knock, Bradfield with a breezy twenty odd and Wocke saved us from being routed.

Kingswood, 1st innings, 92 (Bayly 35, Bradfield 16).

Rhodes, 1st innings, 194 (Le May 47; Keevy 5 for 53, Morgan 2 for 34).

Kingswood, 2nd innings, 134 (Turner 25, Bradfield 23, Wocke 22 not out).

Result.—Lost by 102 runs on first innings.

v. St. Aidan's on 7th and 14th November. Home.

In this match our batting reached heights seldom attained by any Kingswood side in the last few years. Our batsmen had a real day out and ruthlessly pounded the attack to all parts of the field, so that in a shade over three hours they piled up the huge total of 326 for nine wickets declared. Two weeks previously we had been put out for 131 by the same side, but this time we had Bradfield who compiled a faultless 86 while the rest of the team gave him valuable support. We batted first, and Turner and Pearson in half an hour put on fifty as a result of safe but confident batting. But both went within an over of one another and when we had lost four wickets for 90 the position was far from safe, especially as Davies had taken three quick wickets. Then Bradfield began his long innings and supported by van Niekerk, who was distinctly fortunate not to edge Davies into the slips, took the score to past the 150 mark. Just when the latter appeared to be on top of the attack, having hit three successive boundaries, he was caught. After that Bradfield, who had played himself in, started to force the pace and scored forcefully with perfectly timed cuts and leg shots. He gained invaluable support from Trow, Lyon, Keevy and Morgan, all of whom passed the 20 mark. Bradfield, when in sight of a richly deserved century, was caught in the slip when he played forward to a good length ball. His innings cannot be rated too highly for he never gave a chance and never took unnecessary risks. At long last the side had shown what they have had it in them to do, when the members chose to play a steady game before trying to force the pace.

St. Aidan's bated on the second afternoon for our innings was declared closed, and it was not long before they had lost their first five wickets for under 40 runs, as a result of some steady bowling by Pearson and Keevy. Then Madden and Koch put on 52 runs and both batted well, especially the former who was very safe indeed. The last two wickets fell with no addition to the score and they were all out for a few runs over the century. The fielding of the side was keen and some good catches were taken, especially a brilliant dive catch by Turner. St. Aidan's followed on and had lost four wickets for 61 when stumps were drawn. Bradfield's captaincy was most sound, the fielding good, while Karg's catch near the end was really brilliant. This is our first victory over St. Aidan's for close on five years, and the team is to be congratulated on a fine all round performance.

Kingswood, 1st innings, 326 for nine wickets, dec. (Bradfield 86, van Niekerk 32, Pearson 27, Lyon 27, Trow 27, Morgan 25 not out. Keevy 23 not out).

St. Aidan's, 1st innings, 113 (Madden 33 not out; Keevy 4 for 21, Pearson 3 for 18, Bayly 2 for 13).

St. Aidan's, 2nd innings, 61 for four wickets (Pearson 2 for 14).
Result.—Won by 210 on the first innings.

v. St. Andrew's on 21st November. Home.

In this match, as a result of our victory, we had the satisfaction of having defeated the three colleges of the town in our last three matches of the season, thus atoning for the defeats that we suffered at their hands earlier in the season.

St. Andrew's won the toss and batted, and at the end of half an hour had lost no wicket for 25 runs. Bayly was then brought on and at once captured a valuable wicket in that he clean bowled Halse. He quickly snapped up another when Pearson in the slips held a high fast travelling ball, while Pearson further distinguished himself by bowling

Hobson, so that St. Andrew's were 43 for three. After this Pearson had matters in hand and proceeded to take five wickets, while Bradfield claimed three wickets for nine runs, with the result that our opponents were out before lunch for eighty odd. The fielding of the team was outstandingly good, and at long last they showed something of their true form.

Our innings began sensationally in that Turner was out second ball, Karg in the next over, and Pearson and Wocke followed a few minutes later so that four wickets were down for 20. Bradfield saved the situation by playing an innings that must rank as one of his best for the school, and although he made only 25 he stayed at the crease till he was sixth out at 60. Van Niekerk and Trow, midst a tense and nerve-wracking atmosphere, took the score step by step up to that of St. Andrew's total, and then proceeded to play fine cricket to send the century on to the board. Lyon played a useful innings and kept Morgan company while the latter treated us to a display of really first class batting. Morgan scored with powerful drives through the covers and the six that he hit off Stephen sailed right out of the ground. Having gained a lead of 84 runs we sent St. Andrew's in to bat a second time, but after the strain of the batting and keyed up tension while fielding in the morning our attack lacked sting. Morgan was unable to bowl, Bayly was erratic and our other bowlers did not seem to worry Hobson and Halse who made over 100 runs between them. When van Niekerk was brought on he bowled Halse with a fine ball and went on to claim five wickets for only 15 runs. St. Andrew's were all out for 175, but there was no time left to enable us to gain a two innings decision. The side played really well and Bradfield, Pearson and van Niekerk were outstandingly good in all departments, while the others all pulled their full weight.

St. Andrew's, 1st innings, 83 (Hobson 29; Pearson 5 for 28, Bradfield 3 for 9, Bayly 2 for 12).

Kingswood, 1st innings, 167 (van Niekerk 36, Morgan 32 not out, Trow 26, Bradfield 25; Ford 4 for 34).

St. Andrew's, 2nd innings, 175 (Halse 69, Hobson 38; van Niekerk 5 for 15, James 2 for 38).

Result.—Won on the first innings by 84 runs.

2ND XI.

De Villiers having deserted us in favour of Matric., we were compelled to cast about for another captain who would maintain the high standard set. We chose Keevy, because, as we told him, we wanted someone who, while knowing what he was doing on the field, was not among those in the running for the 1st XI.

Two weeks after this choice, Comrade Keevy was elevated to the Firsts, and a few weeks after that received his colours as a bowler! The more that sort of things happens, of course, the better we like it; for, though it interferes with our own continuity, it lets us know that we are discharging our main duty, which is to feed and keep the Firsts up to standard.

As wicket-keeper in de Villiers' place, Pepper arrived from the Thirds, and though unspectacular, he has given nothing away behind the wicket, and is always liable to make runs when they are most needed. Towards the end, Kingwill was tried in last place, and, if he can maintain his keenness, and is willing to put in some hard work, he will stay until translated to higher spheres.

Fielding, we are glad to report, is keen as mustard, and the team feels the disgrace of poor fielding more than that of losing a match. The result has been, of course, that as fielding has improved losses have been reduced. We can take pride and pleasure in our performances this term, especially since some of our victories have been against stern odds. The 'double' over Mental Hospital might serve as an example.

Space does not permit individual comment; so, with thanks to scorer, umpire and players, we ring the curtain down on a most successful season.

COLTS' DIVISION.

Centuries, hat tricks, broken records, two matches lost out of nineteen played—thus runs the story of 1942. This term has been almost as successful as the first term in spite of the weakening of our attack caused by the absence of I. Jolly. Also unable to play was J. Langley whose bowling might have helped to fill the gap left by Jolly. The team has been captained throughout the year by W. G. Newman whose coolness in difficult situations and smartness in the field has set a very commendable example worthy of a much older cricketer. Nearly all existing records have been surpassed by far. To mention but two, Watson has more than doubled the previous highest total of runs for the year, and Newman has taken more than one hundred wickets.

Highlights of the season were three centuries by Watson, and one by Gilchrist, two hat tricks by Fisher, three wickets in an over by Newman on twelve occasions, and some brilliant catches by Newman and Fisher which could hardly have been equalled. More commonplace but none the less valuable has been the batting of Gardner, Malan, Newman and Keast, the bowling of Malan and Gardner, and the fine fielding of Malan, Gardner and Newman. A special word of praise is due to those who filled the last three or four places on the team. Seldom called upon to bat, rarely, if ever, to bowl, their activities were limited to the field alone. Nevertheless no small share of the credit is due to their patient co-operation.

We wound up the season with an all day match against St. Andrew's, which we lost on the first innings by the narrow margin of nine runs. A feature of the match was a chanceless 35 not out by B. B. Gardner made under the most difficult circumstances.

The "under fourteen" members of the division have played various matches with indifferent success. The standard of the younger cricketers is low in all branches of the game, owing largely to lack of patient effort. Repeated and persistent practice will be necessary if they are to keep up the reputation of the division.

Colts' Caps. Further awards for 1942: J. Malan, C. Keast.

ATHLETICS

In spite of the annual "Triangular" meeting with Grey College and St. Andrew's College, and the E.P. and Border Inter-High Schools' Championships having been cancelled owing to the war, nevertheless during the athletic month four major meetings have been staged. These were an "Under 16 and Under 14 meeting" with St. Aidan's College; a meeting with Graeme College; A Triangular meeting with St. Andrew's College and Rhodes University College; and the School sports. War-time economy forbids individual comment, but let it be said that the general standard throughout has been high. That sixteen athletes have done under standard "time" speaks for itself. The standards are as follows:

100 yards, 10.7 secs.	Long Jump, 19ft. 6ins.
220 yards, 24 secs.	High Jump, 5ft. 3ins.
440 yards, 55 secs.	Pole Vault 9ft. 6ins.
880 yards, 2 mins. 10 secs.	Shot Putt (14lb.), 36ft.
1 Mile, 5 minutes.	Hurdles, 16 secs.
2 Miles, 11 minutes.

KINGSWOOD COLLEGE ANNUAL ATHLETIC SPORTS

The athletic season concluded on Saturday with the holding of the annual school sports on the Vlei field when five new records were made. The conditions were excellent in spite of several preceding days of inclement weather. The outstanding performance was that by F. Bayly who, without opposition, covered the Quarter Mile in 52.1 seconds. Special mention must also be made of the numerous middle distance duels between H. Moss and K. Karg. D. Austen, who the previous week had jumped 19ft. 9½ins., was unfortunate in having three successive 'no-jumps.' Full colours were awarded to F. Bayly, H. Moss, and K. Karg. Among the Juniors L. Turner showed his usual versatility in field events; in the Quarter Mile both W. Vorster and T. Morgan were well under standard time (55 seconds); while G. Stegman ran a well judged race to set up new figures for the 1 Mile. At the conclusion of the meeting the certificates and floating trophies were presented by Miss Ivy Webster.

UNDER 14 CROSS-COUNTRY RACE

25TH SEPTEMBER, 1942

Lack of rain during most of the winter months provided a course suitable for fast times, while the 'daylight saving' provided more than the usual amount of sunshine during the running of the Under 14 Cross-country. Many of the 'Under tens' were disappointed at not being allowed to run, but they will yet live to run another day.

H. Newton established an early lead and made his own pace throughout. He improved on his last year's record time by 52.3 secs. G. Haynes, running his first cross-country, did well to finish second.

The following were the first ten home: 1, H. Newton; 2, G. Haynes; 3, M. Schulpfort; 4, P. Robinson; 5, I. Reid; 6, S. Swinford; 7, R. Shaw; 8, G. Park; 9, J. Stirk; 10, L. Vosloo.

Time 12 mins. 21.3 secs.

THOUGHTS ON THE IMPLICATIONS OF MATRICULARITY

"No man, or woman, can hope to attain any reasonable standard of living or any real measure of success among fellowmen, unless he or she has received at least the bare minimum of elementary educational requirements as represented in this country by the Matriculation standard."—Daily Paper.

Come, wingèd words, pterodactylic verse,
 Come to my aid in accents bold and terse.
 Come in iambs, for how dull I am at a
 Job that means writing dactylic tetrameter!
 My mind's oppressed with various loads and many;
 The price of twenty figs at 3 a 1d.;
 My longitude when it is half past two;
 And how the farmers live in the Karoo.
 I've rendered my calligraphy much neater,
 I know what's π when r is $\text{co-tan } \theta$,
 How much the Mazawattee people lost on
 The party, when they spilt the tea at Boston.
Dies, though masculine, I've learnt of late,
 Is feminine the day you make a date!
 And I can tell, subject to rules of scansion,
 The linear coefficient of expansion.
 I know Napoleon knew, right from the start,
 His Elba might become his boney-part.
 I've learnt, through stresses laid upon the base,
 The diff. twixt acids and a salt to trace,
 And also have acquired, when light is bent,
 A method to find out which way it went.
 I balance books, know how returns to fake,
 En hoe om hulpwerkwoorde te gebruik.

So, when I read the names of famous men,
 Plato and Charlemagne, and Sun Yat Sen,
 Nelson and Keats and Simon van der Stel,
 And others who have gained success as well,
 I am content. I'll be successful too,
 For I know lots of things they never knew.

JACQUES JUNIOR HOUSE AND PREPARATORY NOTES

Last term was by no means spent when our notes had to go to the press, so we had better take up our tale from the beginning of August.

* * * *

It was about then that the bakery that purveys our standard loaf, was destroyed by fire in spite of the valiant efforts of at least half the brigade. Even this catastrophe could not break the routine of many years, however, as our bread continued to arrive at the appointed hour though somewhat smoky in flavour for a day or two.

* * * *

It was about this time, too, that a queer species of 'flu' made its appearance swiftly filling two wards at the Sanatorium. It must have been something pretty fierce because it laid out both matrons and the housemaster as well before it was done.

* * * *

To add to the excitement George Cook, O.K., like young Lochinvar, dashed in from the south-west and carried off one of our staff, in the person of Miss Pat Newton, daughter of Herbert Newton, O.K., Middelburg, C.P. Pat, up to then, had been quite happy to fill Miss Webster's place whilst she was away on leave. You can't beat Kingswood training for dash and enterprise, can you! Our good wishes went with them.

* * * *

Parents and friends and all those who participated, greatly enjoyed the Junior Play evening. Miss Madge Foster, in charge of the Speech Training classes, had been busy and two playlets, a mime and a scene from King John, all particularly well done, were the result. Coffee was served in the Jacques Library afterwards. Those taking part were:—

Std. III. "The Weather Clerk." D. Gilbert (Timothy Carey); D. Shaw (Mother Carey); J. Thomas (The Magician); K. Brown (Reginald), and D. Malan (North Wind).

Std. IV. "The Sausage." Q. Robinson (Woodcutter); L. du Toit (his Wife), and D. Gray (Old Man).

Form 3B. Mime "Get Up and Bar the Door." P. Riley (Old Woman)! M. Langley (her Husband), and S. Swinford and D. Davies (two Gentlemen).

Form 3A. Scene from "King John". P. Walsh (Hubert); G. Reed (Prince Arthur); P. Robinson and A. J. Jeffrey (two Executioners).

The Under 14 Rugby Team ended the season with a striking record. Of the eleven matches played, nine had been won and two lost—the first two as usual. Once two satisfactory locks had been found the side never looked back. The low and determined tackling that was such a big factor towards the end was a big improvement on the ‘neck wringing’ that was such a blemish in the earlier games. The Under 12’s lost their first game to Primary School (3-0) but reversed this later and also beat the St. Andrew’s Prep. side by the same narrow margin.

* * * *

A large flock of Sable Hornbills with red beaks appeared suddenly in the trees in the garden. They were clumsy in their movements and certainly no songsters! Their unpopularity increased when it was observed that they were devouring all the chameleons they could find.

* * * *

The end of term class orders showed the following in the lead:—

Form 3A: B. H. Zipp; V. F. Weinstein; J. A. Derry.

„ 3B: J. R. K. Ingle; M. Bradfield; W. Brown.

Std. IV: P. Wilson; D. Gray; J. S. Hobson.

„ III: K. Brown; E. Turner; O. van Zyl.

„ II: M. Sole; D. Zipp; N. Moss.

„ I: R. Baines; G. Pike; J. van Rensburg.

* * * *

This term opened with Mr. R. Q. Tarr in charge for three weeks during the absence of Mr. Slater. We are very grateful to Mr. Tarr for his willing and efficient help and also to Messrs. Kritzinger and Knox of R.U.C. who ‘stood in’ for Junior Latin and Mathematics.

* * * *

The drought had not yet broken and fields and gardens were drably bare. In the town almost every illness that had ever been listed on a ‘health certificate’ had made an appearance. Though we have been more fortunate than most, we did not escape measles and practically everyone in the House who had not been ‘measly’ before—as well as several who claimed records in the number of times they had—has spent the prescribed period in the Sanatorium. There Sister Nixon, Mrs. Tibbs and others, to all of whom we owe much thanks, nursed them back to a normal hue and to-day midway through November we are out of quarantine for the first time. Some have gone to the cinema to see “Charlie’s Aunt” and the rest are having their first swim in the College bath.

Well, we were off to a rosy start and prospects became rosier as term advanced. There have been no outside cricket matches possible but a most successful sports meeting, a cross-country and adequate rains have quite changed the complexion. Moreover parents and others have had an opportunity of realising the great importance of co-operation in these matters, of which the printed health certificate is only a mere symbol.

* * * *

Being largely confined to barracks and with playthings growing scarcer, there has come a revival of the games of quite long ago. During any 'break' the smaller fry may be seen hopping and popping through the various patterns of a curious hop-scotch whilst 'Fly' and 'Kennekie' are the most popular with the more lusty. Stamp collecting, too, has received fresh impetus and much 'swopping' has been done.

* * * *

* * * *

There was an excellent response to the suggestion that boys should bring back unwanted but readable books for the library. Several shelves-full are already available and most of the books are in demand. More books have been read during the last three weeks than the rest of the year. A big consignment from W. McSporran O.K.'s dad and another from Denis Butler were much appreciated.

* * * *

The prefects under the leadership of N. Keivy have done a very fine job of work with the result that throughout a trying period the standard of morale in the House has never dropped. The monitors are now taking duties to give the prefects as much time as they require for revision.

* * * *

P. Robinson deservedly wins the 'Jack Ellis Memorial Cup' for good comradeship. The voting was close for the first five showing that not a few of the fellows have been pulling more than their weight.

* * * *

We were very happy to welcome Mrs. Henry Wood and her missionary daughter, Mary Wood, who is on leave from the Randa Station, Nigeria. They both matriculated from these buildings in W.H.S. days. Maj. N. Manley, S.A.M.C., spent part of a day with us and Able Seaman Lindsay Dollery popped in to cheer us up.

We were proud to entertain Lt.-Col. 'Bert' Rademan, D.F.C., a veteran of Egypt at 26! Not an O.K., but nevertheless O.K.!

Considering that no outside fixtures were possible the enthusiasm for cricket has been quite exceptional and Mr. Linnell reports that excellent practice has been afforded by a series of 'pick-up' matches that have been keenly contested and that the standard of junior cricket is showing noticeable improvement. P. Robinson, B. Dustan, R. Poulton, T. Thorne, J. Derry and N. Gilbert are all showing good promise. Mr. v.d. Merwe and Mr. v.d. Spuy are also helping with the Juniors and 'Pikkies'. (News has just come in that the Under 14 have managed to pull off their first match against St. Aidan's College!)

The V. Box for War Funds at present contains £4 2s. 3d., the largest amount so far. It has been decided to donate another £2 to the Merchant Navy Fund and the balance to the Prisoners of War Fund.

It seems rather early, but here's wishing you all a happy Christmas and a safe return for 1943.

SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY

The Senior Sixth Forms were fortunate this term in being able to embark on a tour of the local gas-works. Under the able and amusing chaperonage, so kindly bestowed on us by Mr. Haley, we learnt a great deal about the smells and secrets of the "genie of light."

The route down to the gas-works was quickly recognised by the College film fans and it was with a rather wistful look on their faces that they entered the gas-works, instead of proceeding along the usual nefarious lanes. Their wistful looks were soon dispelled by turned-up noses when they entered the "sweet-smelling" furnace room. We were fortunate in witnessing the fuelling of a set of retorts by the experts who sent shovel after shovel flying deep into the small opening of the retort, without losing a piece of coal in the process. Some of our more energetic members tried their hands at fuelling but found out that "practice makes perfect" is only too true.

We now followed the gas through its various stages from where it is produced in the retorts; through scrubbers where the coal tar and ammonia gas are removed; to the purifiers containing the imposing chemical, hydrated ferric oxide, but looking like garden soil; and finally we reached the engine room. Here the gas is measured and pumped into the gas-holders and is also pumped from the holders to town. We were shown a very delicate instrument which regulates (so we were told, but I wonder?) the pressure of the gas passing out. One intellectual, delighted with a new toy, started pumping it up and down. Our sage chaperon very seriously informed us that somewhere in town someone was saying, "I have gas. I have no gas. I have plenty of gas. I have no gas," and so on.

Next came an expedition to the gas-holders which are, we were told, not gasometers as commonly thought. "Bushbaby" lived up to his name by performing acrobatic feats on the railings on top of the holders and indicating that he was in his element.

We presumed that our visit was over, but the best was still to come, for Mr. Haley had provided an excellent spread of cakes and cool drinks. We soon convinced him that, even though we may not know much about gas, we do know what food is for. We would like to thank Mr. Haley for a very pleasant and instructive afternoon.

TENNIS NOTES

NOVEMBER, 1942

Tennis has continued this term in spite of the acute shortage of tennis balls. Matches were arranged for the 1st team and for the Under 14, 15, 16 and 17 teams with St. Andrew's; two matches were arranged with Graeme, and the seniors had the privilege of social tennis with Training College, D.S.G., and V.G.H.S. These mixed matches proved very popular, and although the standard of play dropped astoundingly, a good time was had by all.

We were unfortunate in losing the valuable assistance of Mr. Melville Dold, who was unable to coach this term, and of Mr. Norman Midgley, who left in August on Service. Their absence was keenly felt and was reflected in the less careful play and the disregard of footwork of the team players. We hope that Mr. Dold will be able to spare us some of his valuable time in the coming year.

On the play of the year Colours were awarded to J. van Niekerk and D. Pearson, and Team Blazers to J. Buxmann, H. de Villiers, N. James and T. James.

Of the matches against St. Andrew's, the 1st Team lost one (one to be played), the Under 17's lost one and won one, the Under 16's won both, the Under 15's lost both, and the Under 14's lost one (one to be played). Against Graeme, the 1st Team won comfortably, and the Under 16's have still to play.

SEEKERS' CLUB ACTIVITIES

The activities of the Club were resumed during the second term of the year. This year's programme included talks by Professors White and Shuttleworth of Rhodes, two R.A.F. flight-lieutenants, Advocate Sampson and Mr. A. Paton, who runs the Diepkloof Reformatory near Johannesburg. There is also a proposed visit to the recently-opened Leather Research Institute at Rhodes.

The Head Master presided at most of the meetings, while Mr. J. Linnell deputised for him during his absence. J. M. Weinstein was appointed club secretary.

The first meeting was addressed by an R.A.F. doctor, Flt/Lt. Suckling, on the 31st May. He has been in this country for only about a year and was thus able to give us some very interesting pictures of life in London and the British Isles during both the September and May blitzes of 1940 and 1941. Advocate Sampson made some very interesting and unusual suggestions in his talk on "Post-War Reconstruction," particularly his idea of "mediate representation," whereby the electors would send members not to parliament, but to an area executive committee, which, in turn, would elect members of parliament. The purpose was to reduce mob appeal to the prejudices of a not very well informed electorate, and so preserve a valuable democratic principle while removing some of its dangers. We were fortunate that Mr. A. Paton could address our third meeting on the 5th July. He related the history and work of his institution which has saved innumerable natives from possible underworld careers. The fourth meeting of the society was held on the 12th July and the speaker was Flt/Lt. Winsei, one of the last officers to leave Singapore after its fall. He is an experienced air-gunner and gave us some thrilling first-hand accounts of life in the air. He also described the Empire Air Training Scheme and how its functions. Professor K. D. White was the speaker at the fifth meeting. His subject was "Some Thoughts on the Post-War World" in which he explained some of the major faults committed after the last war. Professor Shuttleworth was the last speaker and he addressed the club on the work of the Leather Research Institute in Grahamstown. He also described the process of tanning and the manufacture of footwear. This meeting ended a very successful series of talks.

The club's thanks are due to all the above speakers and to Mrs. Redfern who arranged teas for us after every meeting.

DEBATING SOCIETY NOTES

Debates have as usual been fewer in the last term but attendance and interest have been well sustained, and more Juniors have taken part in discussions.

On October 17th the subject for debate was that "The Junior Certificate examination could with advantage be abolished." D. Susman stressed the need of higher qualifications than the J.C. and stated that after the war increased competition for jobs would mean that youths without Matric. would stand little chance. J. Weinstein, opposing, considered that the J.C. was valuable training for later study; it accustomed the young to intensive effort and gave experience and confidence. M. Wilson mentioned the case of St. Andrew's giving up the J.C., and added that study for J.C. absorbs much energy which might be better employed in preparation for Matric. Tebbutt considered that J.C., like all public exams., was a test of character, and that the J.C. syllabus was actually the basis of the Matric. syllabus. Kirkwood stated that the danger with J.C. lay in the fact that boys were tempted to leave school after passing it. Snyman on the contrary held that the J.C. was useful as something for the moderate pupil to aim at, and for those who could not afford the extra two years at school. After many other expressions of opinion, the motion was carried 20 to 15.

On November 7th three subjects were discussed in an impromptu debate. Davies in proposing "that an allied invasion of W. Europe is not essential to win the war," put forward the view that if the allies were strongly reinforced in Russia and N. Africa, attacks on the Axis powers could be made from the east and south. Houzet considered that actual invasion from the west was essential. A blockade, even if complete, would not ensure victory, and bombing raids have not proved effective in crushing determined resistance. Gilchrist thought that an allied invasion would be the signal for concerted action by all occupied countries, and might even provoke internal trouble in the Axis powers. Wilson thought that incessant bombing on an increased scale might well end the war by ruining the morale and industries of the enemy, and bring about a collapse by paralysing all services. Ortlepp questioned whether we could afford the heavy loss of life which an invasion in the west would entail, if the Dieppe raid was a safe indication. After other speeches on similar lines the motion was lost by a large majority. The next subject, "that Latin should be dropped as a school subject," also was passed by 17-10. Ortlepp held that Latin was used less and less in the learned professions, and that prolonged study of Latin seemed to him dull and purposeless. Geography as an alternative was a live subject. Wilson thought that a classical education was good cultural training, for which Bookkeeping was a poor equivalent, and maintained that Latin was by no means dull. Samuels pointed out that Latin was the foundation of most European languages, and its value was at once apparent if one went overseas.

The last subject, "that daylight saving should be continued in peace-time," failed to arouse very much interest, for many of the speakers did not appear to understand what was meant. Tebbutt mentioned the advantages of the system—the saving of fuel and lighting, the extra opportunities for recreation, the healthy effects of early rising, but later speakers added little relevant to the motion, which was passed 18-9.

SWIMMING NOTES

After the successes gained at the Inter-Schools and Colleges Gala, we sent a team down to the first Inter-High School Gala at Port Elizabeth, arranged by the Eastern Province Amateur Swimming Association on the evening of Saturday the 28th March. Our team, consisting of J. Tyson (captain), P. J. Clarke, D. Susman, L. Rattray, L. Brown, J. Langley and W. Champion, did well to come a good third, the points being: St. Andrew's 20, Grey 17, Kingswood 15. Our boys looked very smart and kept warm between races in track-suits, and it is hoped to make this a regular award to swimming teams later, when happier times justify the expenditure.

In the Senior events Clarke won the 50 yards breaststroke in 35.6 secs., Tyson came second in the 50 yards crawl, third in the 50 yards backstroke and fourth in the 100 yards crawl, while we also gained third place in the Medley Team Race. In the Under 16 events Clarke won the 50 yards crawl in 27.9 secs., .6 secs. faster than the open time, and the 100 yards crawl in 63.6 secs., .4 secs. behind the open time; Langley came third in the Diving, and we came third in the Team Race. Langley also won an Under 14 50 yards handicap. Clarke has been awarded his Full Colours for his outstanding performance.

There were also a good number of entries for Life Saving awards. Tyson and P. Leigh gained their Second Class Instructor's Certificates, the former's team being especially smart and efficient. Susman still has part of the test for a First Class Instructor's Certificate to complete, which we hope will be done this term. The following gained their Bronze Medallions: Lautre, Gilchrist, M. Wilson, L. Brown and Jones. Intermediate Certificates were gained by J. Langley, Weddell, Watson, Newman, Pepper, Judge, Sandys and Braun. There was only one failure, Piper being unable to manage the water work.

This term the weather has been kinder than usual, in spite of frequent rains, so that the bath has been open since early in October. There is to be an informal Gala before the end of term, which will consist mainly of relay races, so as to give as many boys as possible an opportunity for competitive swimming.

H.G.M.

RUGBY AWARDS

The Headmaster has approved the following awards recommended by the Committee:—

Team Blazers: D. E. Pearson, G. B. Trow, F. C. Bayly, D. Bradfield, D. H. Stegmann, D. P. Gardner, K. Tebbutt, J. S. van Niekerk (vice-capt.), N. S. James, W. M. Lyon, W. S. Berrington, H. C. Moss (captain), W. T. Webber, R. K. Baker, W. H. Piper, J. H. S. Booty, N. Keevy.

Colours: D. Pearson, F. C. Bayly, J. S. van Niekerk, N. S. James, W. M. Lyon, W. S. Berrington, H. C. Moss, W. T. Webber, R. K. Baker, W. H. Piper, J. H. S. Booty (2nd time).

OBITUARY NOTICES

The O.K. Club Executive Committee wish to extend sincere sympathy to the relatives of the following Old Boys:

DENNIS VERNON DOLD LACEY. 1933-37.

Dennis Lacey will be best remembered by O.K.s for his prowess on the Rugby and Cricket fields. He was a regular member of the 1st XV and of the 1st XI for 1936 and 1937, in both of which seasons we had very strong teams. He was also a member of the Athletic team and was a keen boxer and swimmer. He was a Cadet Officer in the Corps, and after leaving school no one was surprised when he took up soldiering as a career, and became a Cadet in the Union Forces. After distinguishing himself in the lengthy peace-time training, he was posted to the S.A.A.F. as a Pilot-Officer. During the war he was a member of the first group of pilots to be chosen to fly on the Mediterranean front, and he visited Kingswood on his embarkation leave. After much fighting experience he was awarded the D.F.C. and was promoted to the rank of Major. No details have been received of his death, but he was reported killed in action in August, 1942.

EDWARD DELSON.

Teddy Delson will not be so well remembered because he left Kingswood Preparatory in 1931 to complete his school education at Mill Hill School, England. After three successful years there he took a five years' course at the Architectural College, London, where he qualified as an A.R.I.B.A. in July, 1939, at the early age of 22. He was a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, and became a successful journalist as a hobby. He had a charming personality and a real genius for living. At the outbreak of war he joined the Royal Tank Corps, and became a Lieutenant in the 6th Battalion. He ended a career of brilliant promise by being killed in action in the bitter fighting in Libya, November, 1941.

O.K. NOTES

BIRTHS

To Corpl. and Mrs. George Trollip, of Grahamstown, a son, on 26th July, 1942.

To Capt. and Mrs. M. J. Ansley, of Grahamstown, a son, on 30th July, 1942.

To Mr. and Mrs. Rex Floweday, of Dannhauser, Natal, a daughter, in April, 1942.

ENGAGEMENTS

Denis Butler, of Grahamstown, to Miss Dorothea Ferguson Davie, of Fort Hare, in November, 1942.

MARRIAGES

Major Philip Graham Gane, son of the Hon. Justice and Mrs. P. C. Gane, of Grahamstown, to Miss Jean Creagh Scully, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Scully, of Umbogintwini, Natal, on August 15th, 1942.

GENERAL

Jack Croft, who has been hiding his light beneath a bushel for many years, writes: "This afternoon on going into one of the offices here I came across an old Kingswood College magazine (December, 1941). Looking through it I was struck by the number of Old Kingswoodians on active service. On several occasions I have come across O.K.s in the army—have met them at strange times and in strange places. I am looking forward to reading the magazine in my tent to-night. It will bring back very real memories of the old school we loved so much."

Bertram Gush, after several unsuccessful attempts at joining up, has returned to teaching and is now doing his military whack as O.C. of his cadets in Cape Town.

D. Schoeman has transferred to the Artillery and is with an Ack-Ack battery in Cape Town. He writes: "I am very glad to hear about the old school's rugger successes, and hope (very much so) that she does as well in everything else. I was pleased to hear that Harry Moss captained our side."

Raymond Hill, a budding Engineer, writes: "I was on a draft to go to Durban some time back but nine of us were brought back again into the 18th Field. There are several fellows here on draft for North, among them Rex Butler. I've met several O.K.s up here. John Sugden arrived about two weeks ago, and 'Hammy' Butler has just come back from North."

Hugh Stocks, looking through some old papers of his, discovered a valuable manuscript of considerable historical importance, no less than the original of a parody on Omar Khayyám's "Rubáiyát" written at K.C. in 1934 at the instigation of one "Happy" Sharpe. The MS. cannot, unfortunately, be published as space does not permit of the inclusion of so magnum an opus. Information from a reliable source reveals that several contributors were responsible for the compilation of this literary gem.

L. Worthington seems to be enjoying army life at the moment. He has been transferred to 68 Air School at Roberts Heights and has there been able to contact numerous Old Kingswoodians. "Last month," he writes, "I met in Jo'burg Guy Fuller and Royce Fuller. Royce is in the Tank Corps. I met Eric Lacey too: he is in the Navy. In Pretoria I saw Tom Beckett, looking as big as ever. While I was in Kimberley a short while ago I saw Messrs. Knight, Pescod and Blacklaws and was able to give them a list of O.K.s in the Air Force up there."

Cyril Smith is back in the Union after a long spell up North. His knee has been troubling him again, so he will probably not return to the desert. After a short vacation, spent at Cape Town with his wife's people, he was posted to Premier Mine. Of his brothers, Clarence and Aubrey are still up North; Barry is in the Air Force and is stationed at Cape Town; and Groem has returned to Grahamstown for the duration in order to help his parents to carry on their business.

Darrell Dugmore writes: "At last I've managed to get myself to write to the good old school: I haven't forgotten the happy days I spent there. . . . I joined the Signals in October with Arthur Robertson. We are quite getting into it now and will soon be old soldiers. It is definitely a good life and we are both very happy. I bumped into 'Camel' Hughes the other day: he is in the Artillery here (Potchefstroom)."

James Stephenson has at last persuaded the Bank to release him and he is now in camp at Zwartkops near Pretoria. "I have met lots of old acquaintances," he writes, "and a number of friends. Winston King is writing out some work three feet from me now. He is a corporal and has been on the permanent staff of this office for nearly two years now. Vincent Welch from Mossel Bay is in the next tent. Other O.K.s include Dobinson (a S.A.A.F. pilot), Read of Cape Town (a 2nd Lieut. in the Engineers), Athol Reed (an A/M in this camp) and others whose names escape me at the moment."

Ken Putterill has at last been able to persuade the military authorities that he is fit enough for service, and has joined the Special Signals Corps.

Garnet Griffiths was home for a well-earned rest a few weeks ago. After two years up North, not all picnic, he has been sent down to the Union to take a Cadet Course, and is now at Roberts Heights—learning desert tactics!

M. Parry successfully negotiated his Cadet Course, and now sports not only a pip but a moustache. Since his passing out parade he has been sent to Oribi and Congella, and when I last saw him he was back at the Heights, after a spot of leave, doing a Ground Navigation course. Subsequent news of him is that he is now at Premier Mine, from where he hopes to be sent up North.

During August two members of the College Staff managed to get to Roberts Heights via the N.R.V.—Lex Poole who tackled, and passed, the Skippers' course, and R. Q. Tarr who, much to his own and everybody else's surprise, qualified as a Vickers Instructor. Numerous O.K.s were up there at the time whom these two were pleased to contact. On the Captains' course with Poole was George Beaton, a stout supporter of the N.R.V.; Stanley Osler was there slogging away at a Staff Duties course; Ralph Wellington limping about with a crooked knee; Parry, already mentioned, doing Ground Navigation; R. Joiner, down from the North, doing a Gas course; Johnny Walker from Kafferskraal WAAF-ling about the Y.M.C.A.; Maurice Ansley as cheery as ever, and last, but not least, Basil Wallace from Collingham, Grahamstown.

McSporran, from Port Elizabeth, has joined the R.N.V.R. and is now at Saldhana Bay helping to guard our coastline. Another P.E. recruit is Keith Jardine, whom the Bank has released for service.

Ian Stephen, of Port Alfred, is to be congratulated on passing his final examination in electrical engineering and on obtaining the certificate qualifying him to membership of the Institute of Certified Electrical Engineers.

H. T. Crouch is still at Young's Field, Wynberg, doing splendid work as Information Officer. Thornton Crouch has passed his Matric. and is now doing his 1st year Medical at U.C.T.

Denis Butler has just completed a Cadet Course at Potchefstroom and passed well in what is notorious as a difficult course. He paid a visit to the College a short while ago, complete with one pip and a hirsute upper lip. On the same Cadet Course was Derrick Collett, recently the Information Officer attached for a while to the First City.

Milner Brown has at last been able to get a transfer to the Grahamstown aerodrome, much to the joy of his family, resident here.

A. A. Pienaar of Colesberg does duty in the local "Home Guard."

Tommy Goldberg is working in Kingwilliamstown.

A. M. Lewis, at present working on Aero Engines at Roberts Heights, expects to be sent North early next year.

H. R. Trollip, in the M.T. Personnel Dept., has just been promoted to Captain.

Ken Douglas has been down from the North on leave. Both he and his brother Malcolm have been wounded.

Geoff. Young is working at the Premier Iron and Steel Foundry, and in his spare time does N.V.B. duty.

Rex Floweday writes: "Whilst in Vryheid I met Cadle, one of the local lawyers. He joined up as a Military Policeman, and afterwards was appointed Assistant Custodian of Enemy Property. I think he went to Beira, but am not sure."

Information, please! The published list of Tobruk prisoners included a J. A. Cadle. Our Cadle was James Arnott, 1916-1917. Was this he?

Darlow Graham Botha, writing from U.C.T., says: "While in camp at Spitzkop in June I met 'Camel' Hughes. We were both equally surprised at meeting in such an unlikely place! Louis Murray, Eddie Green and Louis Burmeister are also here at Varsity trying to imbibe a little knowledge. Colin has been transferred to the announcing staff of the S.A.B.C.—and in my opinion is far and away the best announcer on the staff there." Agreed.

Stoen Thwaites was discharged from the Coast Defence Corps a few months ago on medical grounds, but has since joined the Civilian Guard of the East London C.P.S. and does sundry night street patrols in the role of Special Constable.

Norman Manley, in the Medical Corps and now a Major, is stationed at Port Elizabeth and has to keep under his eagle eye the Air Schools of the Eastern area.

Graham Locke is back in khaki harness once more and is at present doing a course at the A.A. Depot at Ottery near Wynberg.

Several O.K.s from Grahamstown have been back on leave. Brian Cotton, looking lean but fit, a lieutenant in the Air Force, stationed at Wynberg; Pat Murray, in the Hygiene section attached to a Survey Corps, sporting in true military fashion the adorned upper lip; George Brigg, grateful for a rest from his dental labours, and Denis Butler, fresh from a successful course, newly engaged, and very pleased with life.

E. R. Winwood surprised us all by a visit to the old haunts after four silent years. He had come from East Africa where he had been with the Rhodesian Armoured Cars, and has to return shortly to Gwelo. He mentioned several O.K.s whom he had met from time to time—Skillicorn, "Hammy" Butler, Ronnie Stephen, N. McLennan. The last mentioned is with a Cape Town battery.

Leighton Hulett is another O.K. who is stationed at the Grahamstown Air School.

Doug. Baxter, after 14 months up North, has been down for a spot of leave.

Ralph Burmeister has been able to supply some very useful information and news. "I met Denis Beckett down here recently," he wrote, "looking very fit and well. He has been stationed near Cape Town for several months. My brother Louis has joined up on full time service in an Ack-Ack regiment. His sergeant is Lionel Goldman. Roy Lilienfeld has been at Eerste River for the past month and consequently I've seen a great deal of him. I was pleased to meet George Gie at a 21st celebration last month. The army certainly agrees with him if weight is any criterion! I also bumped into Major Bill Roderick and his wife. Tertius Oosthuizen and Jannie Beyers I meet nearly every week at Newlands. Dickie Evans is down at Wynberg now and is the star turn of the local Air Force Station's cricket team. Llewellyn Garrett has been stationed at the dock in an Ack-Ack unit since July."

A. R. Williams, our Pretoria secretary, writes: "My brother, G. P. Williams, is busy doing his 'Trial Survey'. He tells me that H. Douglas is missing up North. K. Douglas was wounded and is now in a job at Roberts Heights; M. Douglas is up North. H. Brink will soon complete his course as a pupil pilot." Williams adds that he is kept exceedingly busy and feels quite out of touch with the Old Boys, especially the recent brethren, and he wants to know whether someone else will take over the duties of secretary. "If someone would take over the secretaryship, I would give him such help as I could," he writes. Any offers?

Errol Clark, doing a course in Instrument Repairs, writes: "Worthington is in the same camp as I am and stays in a bungalow about 50 yards away from me. He and I have been to many bios in the old Garrison Theatre. He has shaved off his moustache and looks much younger. Jolly is at Milner Park where he will take his next course. He is still in the best of health. He is training to become a Machine Turner. At the Soldiers' Club in Jo'burg I saw Des. Moore who is in the Artillery at Piet Retief. While I was having a grill at the Soldiers' Club, who should walk in but Plattie Ferns who left K.C. in 1939. He is a metal-rigger in the Air Force, stationed at Zwartkops. He has practically completed his course."

In an earlier letter Clark deplored the fact that he was putting on weight. "I have put on 10lbs. since I joined up. That is pretty marvellous when you see the grub we get!"

Hart Bennett (Doppie I), since coming back from the North, has been at Sonderwater, Spitzkop, and Roberts Heights, and is now back at Sonderwater. He recently received his commission and is now Adjutant to the Camp Commandant.

NEWS FROM THE NORTH

Delville Knight has met numerous O.K.s in the battle area. "I have met Geoff. Stirk, George Reed, Edgar Knight, Nick Goosen and of course a crowd of other Grahamstown lads. It was grand seeing them all and they were able to give me heaps of news. I struck Bill Roderick at Division: he is now a major in Q. Cos. Geach is somewhere in our area but I've not been able to contact him. We have two Old Kingswoodians in our regiment—Adcock from P.E. and Currin from Uitenhage—both before my time."

In a letter written some months ago, Colin Bell says: "I have seen all I want to see of the so-called thrills of war in Kenya, Italian Somaliland, Abyssinia and Egypt, not to mention a brief stay in Asmara in Eritrea. The desert is the most uninteresting of the lot, and I often sigh for the peaceful days in K.C. classrooms. Pleasant pictures come to mind—a hot summer's afternoon in VIA, being lulled into a peaceful doze by Milton's poems recited by Sharkey's musical voice, or Archimedes' principle as expounded by Dr. Galloway. . . . Our more immediate interests lie in combining architecture and mining to provide the maximum comfort and the maximum protection from the unwelcome attentions of the Luft-waffe and the Regia Aeronautica."

Bob Klette (K.C. Staff), writing from the desert, says: "I have seen better country than this in my time, but in parts it is fairly interesting. Up here I have flown the famous 'blasted Blenheim' and other more modern and truly marvellous aircraft. At the moment I am in our local hospital or sick-bay with 'Gypso tummy,' quite common up here. The 'Butch' has just poured two large spoons of liquid paraffin down my throat. Optimism, I call it!"

Dick Best was wounded at Tobruk, and captured, and is now a prisoner of war in Italy. A message received through the Red Cross was that he was progressing favourably. Good news, indeed, for which we are thankful.

John Wells, of East London, has the distinction of being the first S.A. Air Force pilot to take over a squadron of R.A.F. fighters. He was commissioned as an officer in the S.A.A.F. early in 1940 and saw service in Abyssinia and Egypt. Last year he was brought back to the Union as Instructor, but before long he was back in the fighting line. He bears the rank of Major.

Donald Dold, in the Heavy Artillery, was captured at Sidi Barrani, but escaped. He has not had leave for over two years, but is expecting a rest in the near future.

Major C. E. Riley has been stationed at a base camp as his Brigade was dispersed at Tobruk. News of him is that he is fit and well.

Rev. Duxbury, who lives in the memories of so many O.K.s who had the privilege of his friendship, is now Senior Chaplain of the Free Churches, and is attached to the 5th S.A. General Hospital.

Louis Biccard has been having a tough time of it in the desert. He has been wounded several times, his A.F.V. has twice received a direct hit by a shell; he has been taken prisoner and recaptured. Can you beat the following for restrained description? "Got mixed up with the Jerries and came off second best—a direct hit, and put out of action; four days without food and water; walked many miles and got through the enemy lines to Tobruk and taken by Hospital ship to Alexandria." This reminds me of the letters of Stacy Aumonier's "Great Unimpressable." A fine story.

David Young recently spent his 21st birthday up North and he says he has not been so homesick since his first day at Kingswood in 1933! He is a wireless operator on the ground staff of 24 Squadron, and has done some dispatch riding. One day while he was on leave in Cairo, relaxing in the Club, he heard someone call from behind him, and turned round to find Parvie Miles, a fighter pilot in the Air Force. "Spare" Brown, junior, is in the same squadron as Young and the two often meet.

With the Middle East Forces now is Dr. Norman Plummer of Harley Street fame. In the early stages of the war he joined the War Emergency Service, and was transferred to the Royal Army Medical Corps at Aldershot. Early this year he was attached to the M.E.F. as a Major and has recently been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.

OVERSEAS

Derrick Delson is a lieutenant in the Royal Army Service Corps. He was in France at the age of 19, and was one of the fortunate Dunkirk survivors. Before the war he was studying surveying, and had just succeeded in getting his Intermediate when war broke out.

The following extract hails from Madagascar and has been taken from one of the letters written by Charles Dacam, recently on the College Staff. "News of the Union is scarce. We live in the field and postal arrangements are completely upset. Madagascar is an extraordinary country and well worth studying. It is the home of animal types extinct everywhere else in the world. It is completely lacking in the usual African types; the birds are chiefly oriental; it has over 20,000 different species of insects, and is littered with non-poisonous snakes. I've seen very few European inhabitants, and those far from friendly. The natives are filthy. Two days before we left Barberton our new Padre turned up—one Jack Cook, who was Charles Stephenson's predecessor at K.C.

He is still with us. Quite near our present bivouac area there is a Catholic Church which is used by all denominations for services. Last Sunday Jack was due to take a service in the church at 8.30 a.m. I arrived late—as usual—only to find about a hundred soldiers milling around outside, and one very bewildered Padre peeping in at the door. Jack beckoned me over to look in, and there I saw two very smartly dressed native girls devout in their prayers. Jack shoved me in to investigate, so I nudged one on the elbow to bring her thoughts to things more earthly, and in my best French ‘Good-day, Madam. Perhaps you are waiting for something?’ Back came the answer pat. ‘Yes, La Messe, and can monsieur tell me why the Priest is late?’

“Investigations soon showed that Mass had been said in the Church at 7.30 a.m. Unfortunately we have changed our watches recently—the locals, apparently, have not. The wretched women did not want to believe me; they had never heard of such a thing as altering God’s time, etc., so I produced Jack Cook, told them he was a Protestant priest, and that he would pray with them. That made them run! Then we were regaled with the spectacle of a Methodist minister kneeling in front of a heavily adorned Catholic altar. Indeed war is a great leveller.

“I have an O.K. as orderly, one E. H. Drennan who was at K.C. in 1898. He put boot-polish on his hair when being medically examined!”

From Wiggett, who joined the Navy early this year, we have the following: “After spending a month training at Cape Town, I was sent off to Simonstown where I had a week at camp. Then I was drafted to the ship on which I am now serving. I was extremely lucky finding a ship so soon because previous classes have been known to wait anything up to three months. Everything happened so rapidly that it took me some time to realise that I was really on my way to the war instead of catching the train to Grahamstown.”

Gar Nash, we are very pleased to hear, has been awarded the D.F.C. and has been promoted to Squadron Leader. Early in November he had eleven days’ well-earned leave and we heard his cheery voice over the air calling up his folk at Hamburg, with messages for James, who is with a battery up North, and for Henry who is turning into a cricketer of merit. An extract from the London Gazette of 26th July, 1942, casts some light on his activities:

“Flight Lieut. E. S. S. Nash, No. 612 Squadron: This officer displayed great skill and devotion to duty in the performance of his operational tasks. In April, 1942, in bad weather, he was flying on convoy escort duty. His task was almost completed when he received a signal that one of the ships had lost contact with the convoy. He immediately undertook to search for the ship, knowing quite well that the additional flying would prove a drain on his petrol resources and jeopardise his prospects of flying the aircraft safely to base. Despite this, he carried out his purpose, located the vessel, and passed to its commander information as to the bearing and position of the convoy. The weather had deteriorated considerably, but Flt. Lt. Nash flew on towards land and eventually landed safely at a straiqe airfield. Throughout he displayed great determination. On another occasion, during an anti-submarine sweep, he was wounded in the hand and leg by enemy fire. His second pilot flew the aircraft back to base where, on arrival, Flt. Lt. Nash, although suffering severe pain, took over the controls and made a safe landing in darkness."

Subsequent information reveals that the second pilot had not done any night landing for six months, and then only during his training. The weather was calm and there was no wind to pull up the aircraft down the runway—and the brakes had been shot away!

Clem Solomon, after a spell at the Naval Academy in Portsmouth, was commissioned and is now a Sub. Lieutenant. Congratulations, Clem. Referring to his short holiday in June, he writes: "On Tuesday morning my fortnight's leave began, and I caught the 'Torbay Express' for London. Two hours after arriving at the Metropolis, I was occupying a seat in the London Palladium. Three-and-a-half years ago Derrick Collett and Charles Stephenson had seats on either side of me in the self-same theatre! Next morning I tramped all over London, shopping and getting heaps of views of the bombed areas. It was all intensely interesting but also sad. Eventually I reached South Africa House where I met Donald Sole. He is doing splendid work and is, at the age of 25, South Africa's political secretary. In the last two years he has had only two weeks' leave. Kingswood can be very proud of this brilliant young man, and I was very pleased to get the chance for a long chat. We lunched together, and we shall meet again. Don occupies a huge office and wears a black diplomatic hat, style à la Anthony Eden. He will some day travel very far in the Service. I got the biggest thrill on Tuesday en route for London when I suddenly saw a running track, completely marked out for a meeting, close to the metals. Next day I popped in to take a peep at a London slum school. A female teacher approached me and declared that her brother works in P.E. and that his two sons go to St. Andrew's. What a coincidence!"

A. D. Divine, who is Naval Correspondent for the Allied Newspapers, has been broadcasting about the small but indomitable Dutch navy, a navy which consists of stout little fishing boats manned by implacable fishermen. "I have just come back," he said,

COLTS XI.

STANDING: K. BRAUN, (SCORER), N. MOSS, C. KEAST, J. MALAN, J. FISHER, B. B. GARDNER, R. JOOSTE, P. SMITH (UMPIRE).

"from those little ships. They sail now not in the formless irregularity of the fishing fleets, but as minesweepers. They do not shoot trawls overside, but sweeps of one complexity and another. They catch not halibut and cod, but mines—magnetic mines, acoustic mines, moored mines."

A more recent letter from Clem Solomon contains news that cannot be omitted. "What do you think of my having a personal interview with Vivien Leigh? We were entirely alone in her dressing-room at the theatre and she was too utterly charming for words to describe! . . . A few days ago I suddenly met Brian Moxham. He is also in the Navy and has been over here for several months. Seems to like it, too. . . . I spoke to Palmer (O.K.) who had just arrived for a special course. He is a Major in the S.A.A.F. and had won his D.F.C."

At long last news of Claude Plummer has come to light. He is still in the East, now with a leading London firm of Consulting Electrical Engineers at present advising on an electrical power scheme for Bengal, India.

The following extracts cannot fail to be of interest to all who read them. They are from a letter from C. N. Osborne:—

We are now on our way back, heading South, and the weather is brighter and warmer. As I look through the windows, I see the wonder spectacle of the sea—a large convoy, all large boats, ploughing through the sea. And what a sea! It's as calm as a mill pond. This is the first convoy trip we have done. We do not feel so lonely on convoy: we have something to look at now. Solo travel which we had before is very dull. One gets bored with just water all around, and more water day after day. This is a fairly fast convoy, with destroyers around. They are fine little fellows, camouflaged to lessen their size. We have a smallish boat but it is said to be the fastest in the convoy.

We formed part of the escort party which took a large number of Jerry prisoners from the Union to New York. The first part of the work was very hard. Some of the fellows had to stick duty for 16 to 18 hours out of the 24. The boys were weary, dog tired, but they carried on.

We have had unbelievably marvellous experiences. We went to Rio de Janeiro in Brazil, South America. Rio can't be described—it must be seen, the beauty place of the world. I must go back there some day. Man and Nature have combined to make Rio the beautiful spot it is. We passed the pleasure resort into the bay and anchored there with Rio all around us, built to a great extent on islands, each of which is a picture. The main portion of the town nestles at the foot of a mountain which is much higher than Table Mountain. One high peak is approached by two aerial cableways, one of which passes over a bay. On another peak is a wonderful statue of Christ. It is lighted up at night, one of the most inspiring sights I have ever seen. At times at night the clouds float over the mountain peaks and the Christ then seems to be looking down on the world from the heavens above. The Pope unveiled this statue from the Vatican City per beam, by pressing a button, and then addressed the world over the air.

It is further from Rio to New York than from South Africa to Rio. We got through the danger zone near Trinidad without any trouble. We thought we were going to Halifax, but there before us was New York. We anchored in the mouth of the Hudson and it took the best part of two days to off-load our Jerries.

In New York I had the best ten days I have had for many years, and in most respects the best of my life. I have come away with nothing but revised ideas and happy recollections of America. The Yank is a good mixer and unbelievably hospitable. Everywhere folk stopped us. They wanted to know who these strangely dressed troops were. Their rolled-up-sleeve uniform appealed to their inquisitive nature. When we said we were South Africans, they were all over us and we were entertained in the most extravagant way.

One night I went with a party of about sixty to Mrs. Clark's home. Clark is a millionaire—the Singer-Sewing-Machine man. We sat down to dinner, and there was plenty of room—sailors, R.A.F., Yanks, Springboks. A marvellous show. And what a home! Six storeys high. Clark is a collector of paintings and he has a houseful of the best. Most of the best paintings are floodlit by little beams of light, cleverly hidden, which come from the ceiling.

I went with a friend to the Niagara Falls per American Airlines, about an 800-mile return trip. We had lunch 8,000 feet up in the clouds, and I thoroughly enjoyed it. The Falls are, of course, magnificent, with beautiful parks above them. A lift takes one to the foot of the Falls. Near the edge is a raft. This once broke away from its moorings with one man on it, and by a miracle was caught on the rapids. The man was rescued, but was grey-haired thereafter.

One day I spent on Coney Island. What a mixture of people at this township of endless amusement! This was a Sunday, but the shows were on—and even from these poorer people (there don't seem to be any really poor people in these parts) we received the same hospitality. On Coney Island they seem to do everything in a big way: if you're to get a thrill, it must be a good one. Everywhere we were spoilt. You cannot believe how these Yanks entertained us.

South Africa House entertained us well. I had quite a long talk with Mrs. Waterson, the High Commissioner's wife.

England, poor old England—badly hammered about; huge buildings flattened out; most of the big businesses closed. How can they ever recover? It was pathetic to see women porters pushing heavy loads—yet joking with their fellow-workers. Everything depressed me, but I saw what I could.

The trip home in a convoy was very tedious. We stopped at Freetown where it was very hot. After Freetown there were some subs after us. We got one, late one evening.

I got up at five one happy morn to see the lights of Cape Town. Home at last. No more black-outs, plenty of water and fresh air at night, fruit, food, and away from the routine of army life. It's fine being a civilian again!

NOTICE OF MOTION

At the Annual General Meeting of the Old Kingswoodian Club to be held on March 14th, 1943, Mr. Frank Mears of Peddie will move:

"That the O.K. Nominees to the Kingswood College Council retire every three years instead of every year."

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Under the heading "Pages from the Past," Grocotts published recently an extract from "Grocott's Penny Mail" dated November 11th, 1892, which will be of interest to Old Kingswoodians and to present students.

"Town Council: Proposed Wesleyan High School for Boys.—An application from the Rev. Theo. Chubb, Messrs. Josiah Slater and Lorimer B. Dold as representing a committee interested in the establishment in Grahamstown of a Wesleyan High Schol for Boys for a piece of ground lying between the cricket ground and Burton Street (a continuation of African Street) about 2½ morgen in extent, was referred to the Board of Works for report."

ADDITIONS TO THE LIST OF O.K.S ON ACTIVE SERVICE

PUBLISHED IN DECEMBER, 1941

(These lists are by no means accurate, for information is hard to come by. If you have any news of O.K.s on service, please send it to Capt. C. O. Rich or to R. Q. Tarr. Every little helps.)
