

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

i. This initial draft has been prepared on the basis of the written brief given to the Technical Committee on behalf of the Multi Party Forum.

(Addendum D : Proposals to the Negotiating Council on the appointment of Technical Committees, and their Terms of Reference on certain matters arising from the Consolidated Document, Planning Committee : 26 April 1993)

The Preamble indicates in general terms the ambit and purposes of the Act. and that the Independent Electoral Commission will, in terms of the present draft, assume responsibility for the conduct of democratic national elections for a new Parliament to function in terms of an Interim Constitution. As noted in the Planning Committee's Brief, where regional elections are involved. new formulations will have to be considered. Consequently these fall outside the ambit of the present draft although the South African Government's submission envisages a broader context for this legislation.

YX Section | contains the definitions of the key terms used in the Act.

Attention is drawn to Section 1.8 in which a definition of "Eligible Voters" has been included. This definition confers the right to vote upon all South African citizens of 18 years and over, including citizens of the TBVC states, and only excludes persons from the right to vote, by reason of criminality, mental disorder and other provisions of the Act or Regulations to be promulgated under the Act. As noted in footnote 2 of the draft Act. certain submissions were made to the Technical Committee to the effect that prisoners should be entitled to vote. This is a policy consideration on which the Technical Committee will require guidance from the Negotiating Council.

Section 1.17 contains a definition of "The Transitional Elections". which states that the Act applies only to the elections of a new parliament.

1 Section 2 provides, however, that the Act will remain in force until such time as it j is repealed by Parliament. Until so repealed. it will be possible for a new | Independent Electoral Commission to be reconstituted in terms of the Act. in order to perform similar functions in respect of any future election or Referendum, as the case may be.

Section 3 is intended to ensure that the Act and Regulations promulgated thereunder by the Independent Electoral Commission. in respect of the conduct and supervision of the Transitional Elections. will override any other statute or regulations which might be in conflict therewith, Theoretically, it might have been preferable to undertake an audit of every Act and regulation on the statute book. and to repeal or amend any conflicting provision specifically. However. such an audit would be time-consuming and probably impracticable given the present time constraints. Section 3

Section 9 deals with the circumstances in which a member's appointment can be terminated. This includes resignation by the member, and the withdrawal of the official nomination of any international representative. Application for the removal of a member can also be made to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court by the State President, the Transitional Executive Council, or any registered political party or one hundred eligible voters: provided that insofar as such party or voters are concerned, the Chief Justice must first give leave for such application to be brought. The Appellate Division can order the removal of a member of the Commission only in the event of serious misconduct or Incapacity bearing upon a member's fitness for office. This would include continued ill health, and a material breach of the pre-conditions and qualifications referred to in Section 7 (see paragraph 10 above), or any other substantial reason which the Court considers inconsistent with the member's continuation in office. The application must be heard by the Chief Justice and not less than six (6) other Appeal Court judges.

2. Section 10 deals with the remuneration and conditions of appointment of members of the Commission.

13. Section 11 states that the Commission may be reconstituted, if necessary, in order to undertake the same or similar functions and responsibilities in respect of future elections which may be called in terms of the Constitution. The nomination and appointment of members of a reconstituted Commission shall be effected by the State President upon the advice of Parliament, acting in terms of a resolution passed by the same majority as is necessary to amend the Constitution. If parliament is deadlocked, and unable to establish the required majority to nominate a new Commission, then the deadlock breaking mechanism is that the nomination and appointment of the reconstituted commission will be effected by the State President, on the advice of a majority decision of the full bench of the Appellate Division, comprising the Chief Justice and not less than six (6) other Appeal Court judges.

14. Sections 12-15 deal with procedure, administration, financial accountability and a Guarantee by the State for the commitments of the Commission.

Section 16 deals with the powers, duties and functions of the Commission. In particular it is envisaged that the Commission shall set up three (3) separate Directorates, viz: an Election Administration Directorate, an Election Monitoring Directorate and an Election Adjudication Directorate. The Commission shall be entitled to co-opt suitably qualified persons including nominees from accredited international organisations to assist these Directorates.

Section 16.4 provides that each Directorate shall operate independently of the others, but will be accountable and subject to the overall management and control of the Commission.

16. Section 17 sets out the responsibilities of the Election Administration Directorate, including the role of voter education, determining the eligibility and identification of voters, the enforcement of an electoral Code of Conduct, administering the obligation to disclose the receipt and source of each financial contribution to a political campaign in excess of R1.000.00: and the promulgation of regulations governing political advertising, to be determined in consultation with the Independent Media Commission. [It should be noted that the administrative details involving proof of eligibility and identification of voters has not yet been specified. and will require further consideration and technical advice. Guidance is required from the Negotiating Council whether detailed provisions are to be included in this Act or left to the Commission to determine, in view of the obvious need for substantial amendments to the existing Electoral Act. Provision is made for an electoral Code of Conduct to become Schedule A to this Act. This Code has not yet been drafted by the Committee, which has thus far received only two draft submissions from the negotiating parties in this regard.

Section 18 provides for the Election Monitoring Directorate. In particular Section 18.2 envisages that this directorate shall have investigative powers. including the right to issue and execute search warrants, and to seize items as evidence of alleged infringements of the electoral Code of Conduct.

Section 19 provides for the responsibilities of the Election Adjudication Directorate. Section 19.1 provides that this Directorate shall serve as the final arbiter of claims, issues and disputes affecting the campaign, conduct and results of the Transitional Elections. save that there is to be a final right to appeal to the Commission.

Section 20 deals with the Commission's final adjudication of the election results. It is provided that the Commission shall be required within a period of 21 days after completion of the ballot. to determine and certify the final results of the Transitional Elections. and to declare whether, and if so to what extent. such elections have been conducted in a manner which has been substantially free and fair. Section 20.2 provides that a simple majority is not sufficient to certify the result of the election, and a majority of at least eight (8) members is required. In the event that the Commission finds that the poll was partly unfree and unfair, Section 20.3 empowers it to implement such steps as it may deem appropriate in order to achieve a free and fair election result. This could enable the Commission to take limited action in a particular region, without having to hold a completely new national election. in the event that there were unacceptable conditions in a limited area of the country only.

Section 21 provides that the Commission's decisions are not subject to appeal. but may be reviewed by a Provincial Division of the Supreme Court. or with the leave of the Chief Justice by the Appellate Division.

Section 22 provides for the succession of the rights and prerogatives of the Forum firstly by the Transitional Executive Council, and ultimately by Parliament.

Section 23 empowers the Commission to delegate any of its powers, save only for its duty in respect of the final adjudication of the election results.

Sections 24-28 deal with electoral offences. and have been drafted along the lines of the existing provisions of the Electoral Act.

Section 29 prohibits the conduct of opinion polls during a period of six (6) weeks prior to the date of commencement of the Transitional Elections. (In terms of the present Electoral Act, the effective period of the prohibition is six-and-a-half weeks)

There have been submissions to the effect that this period should be shorter, say two (2) weeks. Guidance is required also in respect of this matter.

Section 30 protects the secrecy of voting from disclosure in court proceedings.
Section 31 exempts the Commission from liability for fiscal duties. taxes and fees.
Section 32 empowers the Commission to promulgate regulations. and penalties for contraventions. It also empowers the Commission to prescribe vounng forms and other necessary documents.

Section 33 provides that upon advice of the Forum, the Council or Parliament. the State President may declare this Act applicable to the holding of a Referendum. which could be conducted either nationally. or in any particular regions. and on any

"The Independent Media Commission" means the commission charged with responsibility for control of public media in terms of the ... Act.

"The Forum" means the Multi-Party Negotiating Process constituted in order to resume the constitutional negotiations commenced at CODESA.

"Parliament" means the new Parliament tO pe elected as a result of the Transitional Elecuons. tO function as the sovereign legislature in terms of an interim Constitution and to draft and enact a new Constitution for the Republic.

The ANC submussion (Section 5.2 et seq) envisages a special deeming provision in relati on to citizenship which includes birth 10 South Africa, at least one parent being South Afric an. marmnage to a South Afncan. or continuous residence io South Africa for at least five years.

The term "crimunalityâ\200\235 is used at this stage merely to highlight the need for t he Forum 10 address the principle involved. The Electoral Act (Section 4) contains an extensive debarment f rom voting of persons convicted of cnmunal offenses. % "New Definition"

1.12 "Political Office" means any appointment or position, whether involving remuneration or not. in the service of a political party or organisation within the Republic.

1.13 "Public Office" means any remunerated position in the service of the State, or of any corporate body or other institution, which is owned and/or controlled, whether directly or indirectly by the State.

1.14 "The Regulations" means the Regulations promulgated in terms of this Act.

1.15 "The Republic" means the Republic of South Africa. including the

TBVC States.â\200\231

1.16 "The TBVC States" means those areas which formerly constituted a part of the Republic and are presently governed in terms of Constitutional legislation establishing Transkei. Bophuthatswana, Venda and Ciskei respectively.

1.17 "The Transitional Elections" means the elections to be conducted for a new Parliament in terms of this Act.

1.18 "This Act" includes the Regulations prescribed thereunder.

It is suggested by the Gender Advisory Commuttee that a definition be included in all s uch
legislation defining "Persons" as meaning both men and women.

The Technical Commuttee has assumed that there will be agreement by all the TBVC States for the inclusion of their citizens for purposes of the Transitional Elections.

(Seventh Rough Draft)
[ECA 7/210593/RBR/ me

Application of this Act

The provisions of this Act shall apply initially in respect of the Transitional Elections.

but shall remain in force in respect of future elections\200\231, notwithstanding the dissolution of the originally constituted Commission, until formally repealed by Parliament.

Binding on the State

This Act and the Regulations to be promulgated thereunder shall be binding upon the State, and to the extent that its provisions may conflict with the inherent powers of the State or with the provisions of any other Statute, it shall supersede and override any such powers and provisions insofar as they may relate to the conduct and supervision of national elections. and other matters dealt with in terms of this Act.\200\231

The South African Government in its submission envisages the application of the Act. and the jurisdiction of the Commission. as applicable to a broad category of elections. including national.

regional and other elections for the appointment of any "board. body or institution of any authority.\200\235

Members of the Technical Committee have expressed concern with regard to the possibly unintended ambit of this overriding provision. However, the broad theme appears to be in accordance with the Committee's brief and the parties' individual submissions. Clearly there has not been time to undertake an adequate audit of legislation which could be affected by this provision.

The appropriate constraints on the powers of the Commission in relation to the Courts and existing laws need to be clearly defined. In the ANC submission. it is proposed that the Commission have power to promulgate regulations, repealing and amending any existing law. and power to direct government authorities. including the police and defence force "to perform and execute tasks\200\235 necessary for the implementation and conduct of the election.

The Technical Committee has expressed some concern as to whether the number of members should be defined specifically or left within a range. The Government of Bophuthatswana proposes representation of international organisations only as observers with advisory status.

The South African Government proposes that only South African citizens serve as members of the Commussion. although it does envisage accredited external observers.

The Democratic Party also suggests that international representatives should serve in a non-voting capacity.

The ANC proposes a Commussion compnsing not less than seven (7) and not more than eleven
n
(11) members who are ail to be eligible voters in the election. plus four (4) persons f rom the international community (ie a total of eleven (11) to fifteen (15) members.

The Venda Government's submussion specifies that members of the Commussion should inclu de

women and represent a balance between population groups.

The South African Government proposes a Commission of up to eleven (11) members. with no

This accords with the suggestion of the Democratic Party.

The Committee has included this provision as a suggestion. although it does not derive from its brief or from the submissions of any of the parties.

The SA Government submission implies that the Commission would be a permanent institution established not merely for purposes of the Transitional Elections. and that members of the Commission should serve for a fixed term viz five (5) years. Recognising the possible future need of the Commission, if further elections are needed before adoption of a new Constitution. the Technical Committee has formulated an alternative proposal (Section 20). which is to the effect that the Commission may be reconstituted in the event of such further elections. but it will not continue to have an established membership during any intervening period.

CHAPTER THREE RECONSTITUTION OF COMMISSION

Reconstitution of the Commission

[1.1 Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 8. the Commission may be reconstituted at any time if required, in order to undertake the same or similar functions and responsibilities in respect of future national elections. as it has undertaken in respect of the Transitional Elections. in the event that Parliament is dissolved and new elections called in terms of the Constitution.

11.2. The nomination and appointment of members to the reconstituted Commission (including if it is deemed appropriate, persons seconded by Accredited International Organisations and/or Foreign Governments) shall be effected by the State President upon the advice of Parliament, acting in terms of a Resolution passed by the same majority as may be required in order to effect an amendment to the Constitution. If such Resolution is not supported by the required majority in Parliament, the nomination and appointment of the members of the reconstituted Commission shall be effected by the State President acting on the advice of a majority decision of a full bench of the Appellate Division, comprising the Chief Justice and not less than six (6) other Appeal Court judges.

The Technical Committee's concern is that an expeditious procedure is necessary in the event that Parliament is unable to establish the required majority. Alternative possibilities might include a decision by the Chief Justice acting on his own, or a panel of judges comprising possibly the Chief Justice and the Judge President of each of the Provisional or Regional Divisions of the Supreme Court.

CHAPTER 4 PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

12. Procedural Matters

The Commission may determine its own procedures, and shall hold meetings at such intervals as circumstances may require. Meetings may be convened at the instance of the Chairperson or Vice-Chairperson, or at the instance of any two (2) other members of the Commission.

The quorum for any meeting of the Commission shall be seven (7) members, save in respect of the Commission's adjudication of the final result and acceptability of the Transitional Elections and any by-elections, in respect of which the necessary quorum shall include all members of the Commission.

Subject to the special quorum and majority requirements stipulated in respect of the Commission's adjudication of the result and acceptability of the Transitional Elections, all decisions of the Commission shall be by simple majority. In the event of an equality of votes. the Chairperson (or in his/her absence, the Vice-Chairperson, or acting Chairperson) shall have a casting vote.

Powers, duties and functions of the Commission

16.1 The Commission shall be charged with responsibility for the organisation, conduct and supervision of the Transitional Elections, and shall be vested with all such powers, discretions and authorities as may be necessary 0 enable it effectively to undertake such responsibility.

In order to carry out its various functions, the Commission shall be empowered to establish the necessary functional sub-structures and to regulate their powers, duties and responsibilities, as it may deem appropriate in order to ensure a free and fair election.

Such functional sub-structures shall include! :

16.2.1 An Election Administration Directorate. which shall have the responsibilities referred to in 17;

16.2.2 An Election Monitoring Directorate, which shall have the responsibilities referred to in 18:

An Election Adjudication Directorate. which shall have the responsibilities referred to in 19.

16.3 In establishing such functional sub-structures. the Commission shall be entitled to make provision for the co-option and assistance of legal experts and other suitably qualified persons including persons who may be nominated for this purpose by one or more of the Accredited International Organisations.

The Democratic Party proposes a further structure responsible for the issuing of voter documentation.

16.4 Each such Directorate shall operate independently of the others. but shall be accountable and subject to the overall management and control of the Commission. which notwithstanding such delegation, shall retain the power to issue final directives and to rescind or vary and amend any decision taken by such functional sub-structures.

CHAPTER FIVE THE ELECTION ADMINISTRATION

17. Responsibilities of the Election Administration Directorate

The Election Administration Directorateâ\200\231 constituted in terms of 16.2.1 shall have the following functional responsibilities. viz:-

â\201\7.1% The education of the voter public concerning democratic principles and values. and the electoral process: including free and peaceful political campaigning; the secrecy of voting and other relevant matters, utilising such means and media as it may deem appropriate. including the distribution and publication of literature. advertisements. and otherwise through radio. television and public print media.

The South African Government proposes the appointment of a Chief Electoral Officer and Secretariat. charged with the administration and conduct of the elections. Alternatively, it proposes that the Commission itself should administer these matters through a sub-Council.

3 The Democratic Party suggest that the first task of the Commission should be to draft a new Electoral Act. although it also urges that â\200\234most electoral rules should be determined in the Actâ\200\235.

A submission from the Gender Advisory Committee recommends that special attention be given to encouraging the full participation of women in the elections.
