Report of the Chair of the Trust

The Chair of the Trust is pleased to present his report on the 2020 School year. The Trustees met four times during the year and considered the reports presented by the Chair of the Board of Directors, the Executive Head, the Chair of the Finance Committee and the Business Manager of the School. The sound governance structures and internal controls which continue to be in place at the School ensure the financial stability and sustainability of the School during this difficult COVID-19 year.

For the first time, our second term meeting was held on an online platform and our third term meeting was held on a combined on-site and online platform.

The Trust supported the anti-racism initiatives put in place by the Board of Directors during 2020; the Trust also supported the Transformation and Diversity initiatives put in place by the Board of Directors, which will be a journey of at least 18 months while trying to keep all of our stakeholders involved.

The Trust continues to invest in the diversity of South Africa through education by supporting students with limited financial means to attend St Andrew's School for Girls. During 2020, we sponsored seven students with tuition and boarding fees to attend St Andrew's. The Trust would like to continue to focus on financially sponsoring girls to attend St Andrew's, thereby giving them the opportunity of benefitting from a sound educational base.

The STEAM Centre was completed in the second term – on time and on budget. All the laboratories are in full use with social distancing in place.

The Trustees of the Trust during the year were:

Chair of the Trust – Allister Rogan

Vice Chair – Mike Faure

Senior School parent representative – Deshnee Naidoo (resigned November 2020)

Old Girls' Association representative - Giulia Cantarin

Educational representative – Alistair Dry

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the Board of Directors, Combined Management, staff, parents and the students for their ongoing commitment and support of St Andrew's School for Girls.

Special mention must be made of the teachers who were heroes, moving onto the Microsoft Teams platform to continue teaching our students – not only their academic subjects but also engaging with them in chapels, assemblies and extra-curricular programmes. Our psychologists also played a huge role in providing support and guidance to the students, parents and staff through the anxieties of the pandemic.

Chair of the Board Address

With all the challenges and difficulties which have arisen during 2020, the St Andrew's team has joined hands and pulled together, and we have responded to these circumstances in a way which I believe will take us to a new and better place and one where the school is stronger and more resilient.

Two years ago, we produced a 6-point strategy for the school which envisioned how St Andrew's would look and feel in the future. Together they have informed an integrated and interdependent set of principles to guide our thinking. One of the pillars, and one which the Board and leadership team particularly focus on, is that of sustainability. "What is it we need to do to ensure St Andrew's thrives into the future, and we do so in a manner which is appropriate for all our stakeholders?" It is a topic of some complexity and one which requires action on many fronts. Fortunately, we come off a good base, so our actions can be well thought out and considered in order that we are set up well for the future. Some events of 2020 have triggered our thinking, particularly around what our school of the future will feel like and how the school fulfils its purpose of providing a top-quality start in life for girls, preparing them to be "Skilled for Life". Life in the future is not going to be the same as it was, nor is, now, so we have to adapt. Our sustainability strategy is at the heart of this.

The effects of the corona virus and the Covid-19 pandemic have been felt around the globe. Our response in South Africa has been one which has helped us manage the disease aspects more effectively than many better resourced countries. However, the socio-economic impact for us has been severe and people from all walks of life have been subjected to a set of specific circumstances few, if any, of us could possibly have planned for. The response of St Andrew's to these new set of conditions has been, in the first instance, to do our very best for the learners of our school, initially by the adoption of a comprehensive set of disease containment protocols which have successfully prevented us from becoming a hot-spot of transmission; and secondly by an enormous effort, innovative thinking and sheer hard work by the staff to provide quality teaching and learning through distance education. What makes this so remarkable is that it was all achieved in an incredibly short space of time, a matter of weeks. The feedback from our community has been full of acknowledgement and appreciation for this outstanding outcome. On behalf of the Board I would like to formally thank every member of staff for their commitment, dedication and support for St Andrew's in responding to Covid-19. We truly appreciate everything you have done for us. I would also like to recognise the support our learners have received from their families, helping them adapt to the new regime, and providing various extra facilities like devices, and data, but more importantly encouragement and inspiration.

On the bright side, what has been achieved has opened up our thinking to new possibilities for the future and how we might adapt the learning methods and curriculum towards something suitable for the "twenty-twenties" – for the next ten years.

I fear the economic consequences will be with us for some years to come and the school team is committed to keeping our costs down without compromising quality, yet keeping the school financially viable going forward. To this end, our term 2 rebate and tight budget for 2021 reflects our determination to keep fees as low as possible, for as long as possible.

The sustainability of the school hinges on maintaining levels of enrolment, and inherent in this is the importance of having a school which is inviting and welcoming for all. The second major disrupter in 2020 has been the Black Lives Matter movement around the world which has caused us to take a much needed close and more urgent look at ourselves, and through a different set of lenses than we might have before.

Back in June, mobilised by the Black Lives Matter movement, a group of recent Old Girls presented us with a large set of testimonies, and stories of the lived experiences of some of our learners, mostly past, but some present. These reflections on their time at St Andrew's and their experiences of prejudice and racism were a wake-up call, and that we are failing in our purpose to make every girls' schooling here an enjoyable journey where they feel included, no matter what their background or the community they come from, and specifically in an atmosphere which is free from racial prejudice and bias.

Our interaction with this group of Old Girls has been engaging, frank, respectful, acknowledging inappropriate past practices and experiences, and one where the conversation has a common theme of a commitment to St Andrew's and of a common wish to make our school one where our values, behaviours and characteristics allow everyone to be themselves and feel included. These young ladies, and the broader community they connected with, have given the school a gift of great store, but the true value of their gift will only be realised if we do something with it. To this end, we have embarked on a journey where we move forward together to ensure St Andrew's of the future is fully conscious of possible racial bias, and one where racism of any form is not acceptable, and is not of our way of being. The process of getting there requires input, participation and buy-in from all of us so that the detail of this co-created future is one which we can all identify with, and we shape it into a St Andrew's specific culture and ethos which will make us the school of choice for all. Personally, I am looking forward to this work which might not be easy, but I truly hope we can enter into it with a mindset of curiosity, enthusiasm and enjoyment and where we are completely free of fear and reticence. It is, after all, what our daughters deserve.

It is my wish that in the future, some Old Girls ten years hence will be able to provide testimony and stories which reflect their school years as being inclusive, full of enjoyment and fulfilment and without lived experience of racism of any sort.

Once again to all the staff, in all the roles they have, for their work in this extraordinary year, I would like to give thanks. The willing and open way in which new challenges and changes are being embraced is an example to all of us of what good can be harvested in difficult circumstances. I have had the pleasure of working with a Board comprising people who freely give of their time and who are totally committed to our school. Thank you for your contribution.

Girls, you can be very proud of what you have accomplished in this difficult year and your adaptability to the new way of schooling has been commendable. Equally so, your parents for the support and encouragement they have given you through the year.

To our Matrics, remember that a person is not defined by an exam result. There is something more important than exam marks, it is deeper and more profound and it makes us who we are. Matrics, I trust you will find yourself and you will create your own space and future whatever it may be, and whenever it may happen, in these uncertain but exciting times. I wish you the best.

Dave Morris (Chair of the Board)

Executive Head Address

COVID-19 made the world stop and listen – the whole world!

We were on our spinning treadmills of busyness but when things were silent, we were forced to listen with more than our two ears. Do you recall listening to nature when the traffic noises came to an abrupt halt and our roads were empty in lockdown level 5? Nature had been calling us, but we couldn't hear how we were destroying our own planet.

To you, our young people:

You are encountering the world in ways radically different from many of us at your age.

Antonio Spadaro writes that we are in a time of "anthropological change in which all people are interpreting themselves differently from how they did in the past."

What are you listening to? Who are you listening to?

The movie, 'The Social Dilemma' on Netflix is a must-see if you haven't seen it. This docu-drama suggests that because of algorithms and the way that our social media habits are mirrored in the pop-up adverts and suggestions, who you listen to creates your reality.

This has had a powerful and positive impact for global and personal transformation through, for example, the Black Lives Matter Movement.

The movie warns however that there is another side.

We must always be aware of when our lives and choices are being curated for good and when we are being played by algorithms.

At a time when one of our values of TRUST is at an all-time low within our School community, our country and the world, we need to listen well. As Rev Thabethe wisely says, we need to be filters, not sponges and we need to discern.

To our parents and staff:

Our young people have been calling out to us for a while. Through the global anti-racism drive, their voices have been amplified through social media platforms, and at St Andrew's we began to hear the hurt created by our own institutional racism.

We have had to learn to listen deeply without defensiveness, without denial, without diminishing – listening with three ears: the two ears we have and the 'third ear' which listens for the deeper layers of meaning in order to glean what has not been said with words but through tone, body language and emotions – listening to the heart, not just the head – listening not so much to our intention but the impact it has on others. This kind of listening is deep democracy.

This concept of 3-ear listening was introduced by the psychoanalyst, Theodor Reik. It is a powerful tool for all of us to practice, especially those of us in leadership roles.

St Andrew's, with the support of our Chair of the Board, Dave Morris, has entered the 3-ear listening approach with our young alumae.

The collection of testimonies by our students are indeed gifts to our school. They are gifts because they help us to listen and understand the lived experiences of our students. Once you hear, you can't unhear. Once you see, you can't unsee. Once you know, you can't unknow.

Parents, please listen to the invitation to be part of the journey and the community conversations.

Together, help us listen to the stories of others with empathy. Yes, it is necessary to look at what is bad, to bring it to the light and then to consciously look for the healing opportunities! Let's look for hope!

'Hope is learned', says Brene Brown. Hope is not an emotion. It is a way of thinking – a cognitive process. When we train ourselves to look out for hope, we build pathways in our brains which fundamentally change our outlook. We can help our children learn hope.

To our leaders, myself included. What am I listening to? Am I choosing to listen to HOPE, befriending hope? At the moment I am listening to Jerusalem – you all know the song and dance!

I quote from the Daily Maverick where Prof le Cordeur from the University of Stellenbosch has done some research.

COVID has propelled me forward to look towards a more hopeful future, a better world, a better South Africa and a better St Andrew's with the help of our community moving forward together. We cannot do it without you all. We have so much to learn from one another.

Our vision is to establish a school of hope and dignity where everyone, no matter what their role, is treated with respect – a school guided by love, not fear – a school of belonging, inclusion and thriving for everyone – a school where we listen well.

The journey and the way we walk together is as important as the destination.

In the words of South African poet, Gcina Mhlophe, "Hope will always be my walking stick."

Our motto, Per Angusta ad Augusta – from tribulation to triumph is a statement of hope, still relevant for 2020.

There is much work to be done by all of us.

Don't lose hope.

EXECUTIVE HEAD

ST ANDREW'S DURING COVID-19 | 2020

On 11 March 2020, the World Health Organization [WHO] declared the rapidly-spreading coronavirus outbreak a pandemic; and on 23 March 2020, President Cyril Ramaphosa announced the 21-day lockdown in South Africa from 26 March – 16 April 2020. This included the closure of all schools across the country.

PROTOCOLS

Chris Boshoff, the school's Functions' Manager, was appointed as the Compliance Officer. He compiled a COVID-19 Standard Procedure Plan, in accordance with regulations and protocols provided by the Departments of Health, Basic Education and Labour, as well as the National Institute for Communicable Diseases. This plan included the deep cleaning of the entire school; procuring personal protective equipment for staff; and setting up screening stations for monitoring the temperatures, symptoms, mask-wearing, and hand sanitizing of all people entering the campus. These steps attributed to a very low infection risk on campus; and by the end of 2020, we were able to trace an incredibly low 0.6% infection rate of students and staff.

ONLINE

St Andrew's coped well with the transition from on-site learning to online virtual classes. School resumed with virtual lessons, staff meetings, assemblies and Chapel services – which proved successful, largely due to the investment in technology, and the training of the staff. The Senior School Council continued their leadership roles online, and converted many events, discussions, interviews, exercise routines, and sporting challenges to be virtual experiences. When regulations permitted the return of students on-site, it was done in a phased approach – with the Grade 7s and Grade 12s being the first back on campus. It was a particularly difficult year for the Grade 12's, as many of their last events and 'rites-of-passage' experiences were postponed or cancelled.

CO-CURRICULUM

Our girls adapted smoothly to the new regulations – screened daily, wore masks, social distanced, and avoided hugging.

Once all students had returned to the campus for on-site learning, co-curriculum activities for drama, music and sports were not permitted for quite some time. Our girls missed the interaction with their peers and teammates; they craved the exercise and physical activity; and they longed to be able to compete in their different arenas again.

Staff and coaches, therefore, moved their co-curricular activities to online platforms to keep the girls engaged, active and fit.

SPANISH FLU AT ST ANDREW'S | 1918 - 1919

Towards the end of September 1918, a second wave of the worldwide Spanish Influenza pandemic of 1918-1919 struck South Africa. Within a fortnight the country was overwhelmed by the worst natural disaster in its history. By the time that it abated in November, probably more than a quarter of a million South Africans had died. In 1918, St Andrew's School was located at Girton Road, Parktown. Although a sanatorium (medical centre) had been built at the school, the school secretary refers to the school being closed for six weeks 'on doctor's orders' in place of any effective public health order. St Andrew's girls, some of whom would have been day girls, no doubt stayed at home, perhaps with books and work given to them by the teachers. Nearly one hundred years later, St Andrew's is tackling the current COVID-19 pandemic, and doing everything within our power to continue providing quality education.

THANK YOU

Our school is incredibly gifted by dedicated, hardworking staff, who went to great lengths to provide quality education, coaching and counselling during the most difficult of times. We are also grateful to our parents who were fundamental in assisting their children transition to online schooling, and supporting them to develop healthy attitudes towards the necessary changes.

As the pandemic continues, St Andrew's School prays for support and comfort for our community who are faced with bereavement, anxiety, stress, and issues related to loss of household income.

STEAM CENTRE

The new STEAM Centre gives girls a platform to develop STEAM (science, technology, engineering, art and mathematics) skills and learn about the array of relevant study pathways available to them; thereby uplifting women, and creating gender equality, in the STEAM fields. STEAM education is crucial to educate and prepare the next generation of girls for the local and global workforce; and to allow them to create jobs and grow the economy.

STEAM CENTRE FEATURES

Project Size:	1520 sqm
Completion Year:	2020
Construction Cost:	R 28 725 000
Architect:	Mark Schaerer of SRS Architects
Construction:	LV Projects cc
Layout:	7 laboratories, 2 workrooms, rooftop garden

The STEAM Centre expands and improves the campus at St Andrew's School for Girls; providing an educational facility that uses effective methods to teach science, technology, engineering, art and mathematics. This building is home to state-of-the-art science labs along with multi-use classrooms. The classrooms were designed to make use of natural daylight to provide a creative and fun space in which girls can learn.

Each science lab is equipped with modern equipment and apparatus for practical experimentation. To further efforts to stay green, this project utilizes solar panels which generate solar power; and a rooftop garden which harvests vegetables.

The building aims to stimulate curiosity, develop inquiring minds and expose our girls to new technologies; offering an environment which showcases research and is a dynamic place for experience sharing.

REMEMBRANCE SERVICE

The Heritage Foundation hosted the school's annual Remembrance Service on 07 November. Thank you to our school Chaplain, Rev Alison Thabethe, for an uplifting and hopeful service; and thank you to our guests who joined us and enjoyed the quiet reflection time in the 'Jenny's Peace' Heritage Rose Garden, the Chapel, and in the Ruth Kellie Memorial Garden.

OLD GIRLS' REUNION IN CAPE TOWN

The Heritage Foundation was kindly invited by the Old Girls' Association to attend their Cape Town reunion in March. It was a great opportunity for the Foundation Manager, Caterina Cannone, to reconnect with past students and collect their joyous stories of their experiences at the School during their time here.

The Hockey Astro's new signage, kindly sponsored by Super Group Dealerships, was completed; and the RMB National Rowing Squad's billboard, which subsidizes our school's rowing, and our nominated development team, was installed. The Heritage Foundation is sincerely grateful for the partnership with Super Group Dealerships and RMB, and for the generous funding which has been received as a result.

MYSCHOOL CARD

Donating to charity with every swipe

Just before our Grade 12s commenced their Final examinations, the Old Girls' Association and Heritage Foundation met with them to wish them all the best, and to gift them with goodies and their own MySchool cards. The MySchool programme affords consumers the opportunity of giving back to their chosen charities, without it costing them a cent! The funds raised through the Grade 12s once they leave school, will benefit the Old Girls' Association and Heritage Foundation. Both organizations serve to keep our alumnae connected to the School and each other; and both are registered Public Benefit Organisations (PBOs) who raise funds for various needs for the School, including the funding of bursaries and internships.

Sharing our School's rich history and heritage

HERITAGE TOURS

Desere Peters (Rosenberg, 1965) and Amanda Craig (1965) joined Foundation Manager, Caterina Cannone, and School Archivist, Alison Orpen, for tea and a nostalgic tour around the school on 21 February; and marveled at the developments since they, themselves, were boarders at St Andrew's. We welcome any Old Girls to contact the Foundation at heritage@standrews.co.za to arrange a tour of their 'old stomping grounds'.

On 5 March, the Foundation Manager, Caterina Cannone, and her predecessor, Bev Smith, gave the Grade 4 girls a lesson on the history of our school, and took them on a tour around our historical campus.

The Heritage Foundation liaised with the Johannesburg Heritage Foundation, and a Heritage tourism expert, Tshepo Marumo, in the quest to take the school's heritage tours forward with sensitivity to inclusion and transformation.

MAINTENANCE AT BEDFORD COURT

Preserving our heritage building for future generations to enjoy

Our Estate Manager, Warren Manson, and his team have been assisting the Heritage Foundation in the maintenance and restoration of the heritage-acclaimed building on our campus, Bedford Court. Any structure older than 60 years is listed on the National Heritage Listing; and is protected by the National Heritage Resources Act. Under this Act, it is the responsibility of the School to preserve and maintain the building, which is now 118 years old. Repairs to the severe water damage in the building commenced this year; the Heritage bathroom has been restored; and the corridor's wooden paneling has been completed.

Matric Teas

The year started off well with a tea hosted at Cheetham House for the newly appointed Matric Council members. The committee introduced themselves and the Association to the girls, and we had a chance to engage with them one-on-one. The aim was to open a channel of communication for the girls and to encourage them to think of ways in which we could help each other during the year. A few weeks later we met the Matric group as a whole to sign them up to the Association over tea and cupcakes.

Online Quiz Night

Mid-lockdown, we decided to host an online quiz night. The intention was to trial it as a possible fundraiser. We had a few technical difficulties, but we managed to finish all the questions. Catherine Warrender was the overall winner and received a bottle of wine in celebration.

Rose Garden Mural in recognition of Honorary Old Girls

In addition to alumnae, we recognise the contributions of past staff members with 10 or more years' service to the school. At the end of 2019, we commissioned a special copper mural designed by Old Girl, Sarah Cronin. This mural is mounted on the stone wall just below our beautiful Jacarandas. Going forward, each departing Honorary Old Girl will receive a rose with their name embossed on a leaf which will be attached to the body of the artwork. We will also be adding names retrospectively.

CAPE TOWN REUNION

Our one and only event for the year, prior to lockdown, was our reunion hosted at SMAK deli in Cape Town (owned by Old Girl, Katia Scherf). Sipiwe Vilakazi (Head of uBambiswano) and Caterina Cannone (Head of Heritage Foundation) joined us from the school – the intention for this was to introduce them and create the opportunity for Old Girls to engage and ask questions about both entities. We had a very tasty champagne breakfast and each guest received a reusable veggie bag made by Khulani Creatives (an Old Girl-founded charity supporting women).

Raffle Fundraiser

We have so many talented and generous alumnae! During August and September, we hosted an online raffle fundraiser. We approached our Old Girls requesting them to donate prizes, and the response was overwhelming – with over 70 prizes valued at R80,000. We managed to raise a total of just over R57,500. From this, we split donations between 3 entities: R15,000 was donated to uBambiswano – the school's outreach programme; R10,000 to 18twenty8.org, a non-profit run by women, empowering women through education; and the remaining funds went into the Old Girls' Bursary Fund and will be used to support girls at the school who are in financial need. Thank you to the entire community for your support – from Old Girls and other alumnae, teachers and other staff members, scholars, parents, family and friends – you all helped us to make a difference in the lives of others.

Parents' Association

COVID-19 had a negative impact on the planned operations of the Parents' Association for 2020.

At our first meeting of the year, the Executive Committee agreed and allocated budget for the following identified projects: STEAM Centre roof-top garden, Preschool Library, and tuckshop decorations. Unfortunately, none of these projects were delivered due to the challenges that were faced as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Despite the impact of COVID-19, the PA managed to fulfill the following annual commitments: awarding five high school bursaries to each top academic achiever in grades 8 to 10; contributions to uBambiswano; conducted Club 100 draws; bought teachers and campus staff gifts on World Teachers' Day; and sponsored the New Parents' Cocktail Evening.

Unfortunately, COVID-19 had a negative impact on the PA financials, that came with the reversal of Parents' Association contributions for Term 2, and the tuckshop being closed for most of the year. The reduction in income forced the Parents' Association to reconsider its allocation of funds to projects, and as a result, the donation committed towards the STEAM Centre roof-top garden had to be reversed, and the Preschool library and the tuck-shop decoration were rolled over to next year.

Suspending the planned projects this year was to allow the Parents' Association to accumulate funds that would enable it to deliver on its standard committed funding (bursaries and uBambiswano) in Term 1 of 2021, and the 100 Club pay out.

A meeting following the AGM saw the election of the following office bearers: Corene Breedts-Rammula – Chairlady; Ray Deftereos – Deputy Chair; Russ Stroud – Treasurer; and Amelia Mtshali – Secretary.

The PA would like to take this opportunity to thank all those parents who have assisted the PA with contributions, the 100 Club members, and those parents volunteering their time in making sure that the PA continues to contribute meaningfully to the development of the school.

Transformation and Diversity

Transformation and diversity are no longer optional in South Africa

Not only are they legal requirements to which organisations and institutions are required to comply, it is our moral obligation as human beings to ensure that every person, regardless of skin colour or background, has an equitable chance at success. The word 'equity' is important here because the issue is so much deeper than equality.

As a sweeping first step, the Board took the initiative to start the journey of transformation and diversity for the School by having engagements on matters of inclusivity in 2017. The Transformation and Diversity Committee was formed, with a composite of several Board members, Heads of School, teachers (which included representatives from the Preschool, Junior, Senior School and uBambiswano), representatives from the boarding house and parents. More recently, the Committee welcomed representatives from the Old Girls and the Grade 12 student group. A Transformation and Diversity Policy has been drafted in line with the ISASA guidelines, and there has even been an opportunity to benchmark with other schools who are embarking on similar journeys of change.

The Transformation and Diversity Committee members have been committed to sustaining the existence of the Committee since 2017, through meaningful conversations from different schools of thought. The St Andrew's School community, including the girls and their parents, are now fully aware of the role of the Transformation and Diversity Committee. Different task teams from the schools have been formed in order to drive the transformation agenda.

The Executive Head, the Heads of School and the teachers have shown so much passion and commitment in driving the transformation and diversity journey through different interventions, including attending workshops to learn more about meaningful transformation and diversity. This commitment to learning and growing has meant that the task teams' formation has shown good progress in the past two years.

We acknowledge our joint responsibility, in partnership with parents, guardians, caregivers and families, to provide a range of opportunities for our students to be educated about racism, prejudice and discrimination. It is our mission to have intentional dialogues with one another in safe, bold and respectful spaces, in order to truly listen, grow in awareness and better understand the lived experiences of others and the destructive impact of discriminatory attitudes and practices. Significant dialogue has occurred over the last year, and we want to continue to foster a safe environment that enables us all to grow by being challenged to reflect on our own awareness, attitudes and behaviours.

As part of the transformation and diversity mandate, the School has just nominated and elected Employment Equity Committee Members in line with the Employment Equity Act and the Skills Development Act. The Employment Equity Act protects the employer and the employee from a legislative point of view in matters of discrimination. All the Committee members represent their respective areas of work and have been taken through their roles and responsibilities. The School is expected to engage on the Employment Equity Plan (numerical targets and barriers) during their meetings, and to be able to submit their plans and report every year according to the requirements. I am pleased that the School is heading in the right direction when it comes to matters of employment and equity.

We are committed to ensuring that all those who choose to attend and work at St Andrew's feel welcomed, appreciated and valued for who they are, and that the School acts intentionally and deliberately to redress discriminatory practices, strengthen diversity and build an inclusive culture at all levels.

As the Chair of the Transformation and Diversity Committee, I would like to thank all the committee members for their commitment to this important conversation, being committed to enacting real change, and helping to make the start of our journey a great success.

Head's Reflection

However perplexing and disconcerting this year has been, it has completely changed how I understand the word 'community'. When staying home and keeping 1.5 metres apart became the right thing to do, invisible threads of kindness, hope and togetherness between people and communities began to form and strengthen.

Mr Siphwe Vilakazi
(Head of uBambiswano)

There are so many examples of this in our school community alone: teachers juggling their responsibilities at home and a full Zoom schedule; a community feeding scheme where vulnerable families were provided with grocery vouchers; words of encouragement on newly formed WhatsApp groups... even the simple act of wearing a face mask when you leave the house is a show of your compassion and care for your fellow human beings.

It is common for grown-ups to say, 'the kids will be fine because they are adaptable'. But, still, we should not underestimate the toll that this adaptability can take on our young people. They have shown remarkable strength and grit in a year where their entire lives were upended. It is true that children learn from their teachers, their textbooks and their parents. But, arguably, the most important education comes from socialising with their peers and learning to navigate the world and the personalities around them. I think that is what we have all missed the most – face-to-face interactions, the buzz of a busy school corridor, and a warm embrace or handshake.

Aside from our collective grief at missing out on socialising with one another, this year has brought with it a wide variety of sources of stress and strain. Unfortunately, South Africa's lockdown resulted in staggeringly depressing numbers – estimates show that almost half the nation went hungry during the lockdown. Not to mention the countless jobs lost and hearts broken due to the loss of loved ones. It is easy to feel righteous anger when confronted with news reels of crowded taxi ranks and taxis, but the reality is that many people have no other choice but to risk their lives to get to work so that they can survive. For some of us, it is easy to forget that, for many children, the closure of schools meant that their only solid meal for the day was no longer available. Many of us also need to remind ourselves that 'social distancing' is a privilege in many corners of our cities, where families are forced to live in extremely confined and unhygienic circumstances.

But, in typical South African fashion, in those statistics are also glimmers of hope. Our own uBambiswano community is a prime example of this. In the most challenging of circumstances, our team pulled together a distance learning programme to be proud of. It was innovative, meaningful and completely tailored to our students. And it was also a resounding success! Our students managed to finish the academic year with excellent results and, most importantly, a sense of pride and accomplishment.

There is no doubt that 2020 was one of the most difficult years for many people. It is disingenuous to assume that we have all learned something or come out stronger. For many of us, getting through 2020 was a matter of survival. Whether your challenge was financial, emotional or mental, I wish you strength.

Personally, I have come to greatly admire many different people from many walks of life. The teachers of the uBambiswano Saturday School programme, the volunteers and other staff, my family and friends, my colleagues. But, mostly, I have such admiration for the children of this country, in whom I see all of my dreams for the future. I hope that, one day, they will look back on 2020 and draw encouragement from it – that no matter what challenge faces them, they think, 'I can do this because I have faced much harder things.'

Siphwe Vilakazi Induction Service

On 18 January 2020, the communities of St Andrew's and uBambiswano came together to attend a service officiated by Reverend Alison Thabethe. The service was beautiful and lively, including a rousing rendition of "We have a dream", which was so relevant to the occasion. This lovely morning service was rounded off by the induction of the new Head of School, Mr Siphwe Vilakazi. The Executive Head of St Andrew's School for Girls, Mrs Ivanka Acquisto, introduced Mr Vilakazi to the congregation, after which he delivered a response. Mr Vilakazi mentioned his plans for uBambiswano's students and staff and also paid tribute to the strides that uBambiswano has made in the past, committing himself to continuing this good work. The service was attended by staff and students of uBambiswano, as well as the heads of the St Andrew's Preschool, Junior School and Senior School. This show of support displayed the close ties between the four schools. Mr Vilakazi also expressed his gratitude to his family and friends, many of whom were in attendance.

Chapel Services

The uBambiswano students started the new term with a new experience: a chapel service. This service was the first of 6 chapel services that the students would attend in 2020, as part of our strategy to further integrate uBambiswano into the St Andrew's community. We planned for students to attend two services per term: one at the beginning of the term and a closing service at the end of each term.

The students' feedback about the service was overwhelmingly positive.

Founders' Day

A special joint celebration was held on 22 January 2020 when St Andrew's celebrated its 118th birthday and uBambiswano celebrated its 30th birthday. The day was enjoyed by all who attended, including uBambiswano students and members of the uBambiswano committee. We were also blessed to be joined by previous Deputy Head and Acting Head of School, Ms Sandi McCallum, who gave a fascinating and inspiring talk about the history and context of uBambiswano. Mr Vilakazi, was inducted at the service; and he delivered a speech in which he paid tribute to the leaps and bounds made since uBambiswano's inception in 1990. He spoke of uBambiswano's continued commitment to the beneficiaries of this important community initiative, and about the six core principles that will drive uBambiswano into the future: balance, integrity, grace, community, accountability and trust. He reiterated uBambiswano's mission to empower and educate young people to become happy, healthy, confident and influential members of society.

The day was punctuated by many special moments. The uBambiswano students spent the day on campus where they joined the St Andrew's girls for their lessons. This integration between the St Andrew's students and the uBambiswano students showcased the mutual respect and generosity of spirit between the students at both schools. Perhaps one of the most special moments of the day was the cutting of the 30th birthday cake by our oldest alumnus and our youngest current uBambiswano student, showcasing both how far the school has come and the impact it will have in the future.

St Andrew's School for Girls' Open Day

St Andrew's held their Open Day on 8 February 2020, and it was wonderful for uBambiswano to be part of it. We set up an information desk, at which we were represented by our Grade 9 students who worked in shifts throughout the day. They did a superb job in talking to prospective parents and students who enquired about uBambiswano, our relationship with St Andrew's and our work in the communities of Daveyton and Etwatwa. Mr Vilakazi, delivered a presentation to parents and students about uBambiswano, and the school's role in improving the lives of young people.

Distance Learning Programme and Communication

uBambiswano welcomed 2020 with excitement. We had many 30th birthday celebrations planned and couldn't wait to share stories with our beneficiaries and sponsors alike of our past and present successes, and imaginings for our future. Unfortunately, the government announced the closure of schools on 18 March, followed by an unprecedented nationwide lockdown a week later.

The reopening of schools was a complicated task. In order to support our students while this work was going on in the background, we launched a distance learning programme that we are incredibly proud of. Our teachers have worked hard on a method of teaching and learning that leaves no child behind – we introduced a physical delivery model where the students' caregivers collected packs from designated sites every couple of weeks, and dropped off any work that needed to be marked. These packs ensured that the students were on top of their schoolwork. We stayed in touch with the students via WhatsApp support groups, which we used to monitor their academic progress, as well as their emotional and mental well-being. Their overall well-being is incredibly important to us, as an unhappy and unwell child cannot learn effectively. WhatsApp was a lifeline of communication for us and our families – we used it for our Support Groups, to send regular updates, as well as weekly online chapel services. Nelson Mandela once said,

"It seems impossible until it is done", and this is certainly true of those few months. Our initial reactions of fear, panic and anxiety have made way for determination, concern and protectiveness. St Andrew's School for Girls and uBambiswano are committed to the communities that we serve. Part of our commitment is to work hard to find new ways to connect, to teach and to learn. We are proud of everyone involved in this endeavour – not least our students, who were adaptable and inspiring in their ability to cope with uncertainty.

Food relief vouchers for uBambiswano Community

It had been widely reported that many students lost their only nutritional meal of the day with the closing of schools. Unfortunately, this was certainly the case for many children in Daveyton and Etwatwa. In light of this, uBambiswano worked very closely with the Ward 32 Covid-19 Food Drive Team led by Bongani Nkomo and Kimbal Mare and a company called RL360. The aim of this collaboration was to provide food parcels to our uBambiswano families during this time when children did not have access to the National School Nutrition Programme. As part of the support effort, each family received a Pick 'n Pay food voucher between the amount of R300 to R1 250, depending on the size of the family. This voucher was delivered directly to the elected family member's cell phone. This collaboration brought much-needed relief to our community.

Akani Metmar Methodist School

St Andrew's and uBambiswano donated Grade 6 and 7 English textbooks to Akani Metmar Methodist School in Diepsloot. We also donated Grade 0 to 7 learning materials to the school.

Grade 6 2021 Intake Entrance Assessments

St Andrew's School for Girls hosted the Grade 5 uBambiswano Entrance Assessments on 24 October. The prospective students came from primary schools in Daveyton and Etwatwa. The entrance assessments are usually conducted at a school in Daveyton, but this year, we wanted to give our prospective students and parents a chance to experience the beautiful campus of St Andrew's.

The President's Award and the Grade 9 Ezemvelo Hike

This Award programme seeks to provide a balanced, non-competitive framework for self-development. The programme has shown itself to increase self-esteem and to increase young peoples' capacity to achieve in whatever context they may find themselves. These qualities enable them to become responsible, active citizens within their communities. The students continued with the programme during lockdown, as some of the activities could be done at home and online. Our Grade 9 students participated on a President's Award Bronze Level Hike at the Ezemvelo Nature Reserve in Bronkhorstspuit on 10 October. They thoroughly enjoyed their day out in nature.

Grade 9 Prize Giving Ceremony

uBambiswano hosted the annual end-of-year prize giving for the Grade 9 students on 21 November. It was a day of celebration and reflection, as we honoured the achievements of our Grade 9s and showed our gratitude to the people involved with the Saturday School programme. The day began with a lovely chapel service, led by Rev Alison Thabethe, after which we proceeded to the Allister Rogan Auditorium for the prize-giving ceremony and speeches. A special thanks to our guest of honour, Mr Bradley Nqumba, who is a former uBambiswano student and now a parent at St Andrew's, for his inspiring message.

Mavis Ndlovu

Mavis Ndlovu has been a faithful staff member in the Junior School for the last 20 years. She has worked diligently in Grade 0 as a Teacher's Assistant. When the Senior School girls heard that Mrs Ndlovu was retiring, they were shocked and in utter disbelief! They just cannot believe that her time here has come to an end, and they know that Grade 0 will just not be the same without her! Their sentiments are displayed throughout the Foundation Phase and a huge void will be left in both Grade 0 and the Aftercare. We wish her well for her retirement and thank her for the immense contribution she has made in the life of so many girls here at St Andrew's over the years.

Stephanie Pienaar

Stephanie Pienaar joined the Preschool in 2004. She was instrumental in the planning and construction of the main Preschool section as well as the day-to-day running of the school.

Stephanie's loyal, determined and nurturing nature has touched the lives of all the children whether in the classroom or on the playground, while her passion for cooking left many of our children's tummies content and satisfied. Her love for music and dancing is evident as the ABBA music still echoes down the corridors and you can see her dancing away with her class to 'Mamma Mia'. She is the first to arrive in the morning and often the last to leave at the end of the day or after an event. Her friendly personality and willingness to help others provides comfort and confidence for parents, teachers, assistants and children to express their needs and therefore often the go-to person. She is a fiercely compassionate and a dedicated colleague and friend, and her presence will be sorely missed. We wish her all the best in her new and exciting journey ahead.

Frances Thomas

Frances has been a part of the St Andrew's family since 2007, starting off in the IT Department and moving into Grade 0 in 2008. This is where she remained for the next 12 years and what an incredible journey it has been. Frances invested so much time and energy into these young girls, and made their time in Grade 0 truly memorable. Frances also taught Grade 3 for two terms. She is a dedicated teacher, and each child whom she has taught throughout the years has been lucky to have their confidence built up under her care. She has touched their lives in such a positive way and these girls will always remember her.

Frances goes above and beyond in the classroom and she treats her girls with respect and care. Frances is a loyal and dedicated teacher, friend, wife and mother. Frances and her husband, Colin, started an exciting new chapter when they welcomed their precious son, Matthew, into the world. We would like to wish Frances an exciting future and she should know that St Andrew's is richer having had a teacher like her in our midst.

Deidre Lewis

Deidre Lewis joined St Andrew's in 2007. She began her career here as a Grade Three class teacher. Her organizational skills and leadership qualities saw her leading the grade as Grade Head for seven years. Deidre's desire for growth led her to teaching in Grade One for two years and then advancing to Grade Two as Grade Head where she remained for five years. Mrs Lewis' passion for teaching and her ability to try new methods will be missed, and the girls that passed through her doors have been blessed to have had a teacher of her calibre. Over the years at St Andrew's, Deidre's responsibilities varied from netball coaching, Junior Eco Club, Computer Club, Chess, Art Club, prep sessions, galas, cross country, tennis, diving competitions, athletics and lost property. Deidre was part of the curriculum development and timetable team and mentoring the new teachers. She managed all these responsibilities with grace and dedication.

Deidre's commitment and loyalty towards our school and Milner House over the years have been greatly appreciated. Her ability to take the initiative and solve problems is what made her a respectable role model. Deidre is generous, thoughtful and compassionate; and the girls, staff and parents benefited from her special traits. We wish Deidre and her family well on their new journey in America.

Ntombi Phidelia Tau

Ntombi Phidelia Tau started working at St Andrew's Preschool in 2008 and retired in April 2020. In her 14 years as an assistant teacher at the Preschool, she proved to be a hardworking individual who willingly supported her class teacher. She cared deeply for the children in her care and they admired her. Ntombi gave the little children such loveable nicknames that will surely not be forgotten. The wisdom that she shared with her fellow colleagues ensured peace and understanding amongst the Preschool community. She willingly helped those in need, whether it was plastering a scratch or being someone to talk to. She would stop everything just to lend a helping hand. Ntombi is a woman who was not afraid of change but instead always saw it as an opportunity to grow.

Congratulations, Ntombi, on your retirement. It has been a joy working with you. You will be missed by all of us, but you deserve some time to yourself after all the years of hard work. We wish you all the best for the future, enjoy spending time at home with your family.

Citation for the Rotary Service Award

The Rotary Service Award is given to a staff member who has given service to the St Andrew's Community; it is, in essence, about service above self.

Rosemary Maritz was employed at St Andrew's as a full-time music teacher in January 1996. During her time with us, which spans 25 years, she has taught in the Foundation Phase and the Senior School. She taught subject music and piano in her first year and part of her role was to move the department away from the strictly classical music. In the space of a day, Rosey could have taught a grade 0 class and then moved effortlessly into a grade 12 subject music lesson.

Her involvement in the music department has gone well beyond the confines of a classroom and into time spent outside of school hours with the Senior School Orchestra, Intersen Choir, and the Senior School Choir. There were times where she conducted the Senior School Choir and played the music at the same time. This is by no means an easy task.

Rosey was appointed as Head of Music in 1997 and she has established a music department of excellence. Girls who have come through her guidance and mentorship have gone on to succeed in various fields of music, many remaining in touch with her. St Andrew's now has a host of ensembles of which to be proud, including, but not limited to, 4 Marimba bands in the Junior School and 6 in the Senior School.

Rosey is well known for her passion for music, for St Andrew's and for Athlone house. It is this passion and her vision that saw the start of the Viebz Music competition which started in 2010. This competition has gone on to enjoy 11 successful years at St Andrew's. Passion, loyalty and selfless service to St Andrew's, is how Rosey will be remembered; and it is with great pleasure that we award the Rotary Service Award for service to the St Andrew's community to Mrs Rosey Maritz.

"Every time a bell rings, an angel gets her wings".

This is a quote from the 1946 movie, It's a Wonderful Life.

The ringing of bells is often used to symbolize peace and freedom. In many religions, the peal of a bell is said to be the voice of angels or the sound of revelations. Bells have been a powerful public and private symbol throughout recorded history. As Wendell Westcott writes in his book, Bells and Their Music, "The ringing voices of bells have comforted man in time of despair, warned them of impending danger, and accompanied them in battle, in festivities, and in worship." We struggle to capture the mystery of a bell's illusive sound as they hold a certain fascination, and the sound evokes a response of awe in the listener.

The ringing of the beautiful bell gifted to the Preschool by our PR5 class of 2020 will also communicate messages to remind us of:

Community – as the children will gather in their classes

Freedom – as they run outside looking for the next adventure

Kindness – as the PR5 class of 2020 honoured the life of our own little angel who left us too soon, MacKenzie Sloan Struwig; by engraving her name on the inside of the bell.

2020 means something different to each of us.

2020 vision means that you can see with clarity and sharpness.

2020 has been a year that not only sharpened our vision, but all five of our senses:

- The sense of sight, as we searched for a smile in each other's eyes when all our faces have been half-covered by a mask.
- The sense of smell, which we appreciated so much more after learning that one symptom of COVID-19 is the loss of olfactory functions; and we soaked in the aroma of the Spring rains and flowers, bringing renewed hope of new beginnings.
- The sense of hearing, as we heard the school come alive once more after lockdown, with joyful sounds of children's laughter.
- The sense of taste, when the school could once again serve snacks and lunch to hungry little tummies.
- The sense of touch, when we adapted our embraces from hugs and high-fives to elbow-pumps and foot-taps.

Our wish for the PR5 children graduating from our Preschool this year is to take the word BELL:

B be Brave

E be Exceptional

L be Luminous and shine

L be Limitless in spreading kindness.

I close with the nineteenth-century French Poem, Ring out the old, Ring in the New:

*"Ring out the Old,
Ring in the New,
With heaps of luck
And joy for you
May all the months
Roll swiftly by
And bring success
Whatever you try"*

Let us ring out 2020 and ring in 2021, with heaps of luck and joy – mixed with success in whatever we try.

MacKenzie Struwig

04/01/2017 – 23/09/2020

We remember our sweet Preschool student, MacKenzie, who sadly left us too soon.

MacKenzie was testament to the world that incredible faith and beauty comes from love which has no boundaries. In celebration of her life, the PR5s of 2020 have engraved MacKenzie's name inside the bell which they have donated to the school.

*MacKenzie Struwig,
Rest in Peace baby girl.
May God wrap your family in your eternal memories and may the best of your life be the forefront of our thoughts always.
As we ring the St Andrew's
Preschool Bell in honour of you,
our little Kenzie,
may we be reminded
how you touched the world
for all eternity.
For those of us left behind,
your legacy will help us to remember your bravery,
your smile, your courage,
your laughter and how
you exuded infinite love.
Fly baby girl! Fly!*

Graduation

2020 was set to be the year of vision

When one speaks of 20/20 vision, you assume that this means perfect or extraordinary vision, but in fact 20/20 vision actually refers to normal sight.

20/20 vision is referred to as a standard, or how the average person sees. This means that when you stand twenty feet away from an eye chart, you see what most people are expected to see.

We may have entered 2020 expecting it to be a year of standard or average prospect, where the regular rules applied and where we would see what most people expected to see. However, what we soon came to realize, is that sight does not define vision.

Vision is defined as the art of seeing what is invisible to others. A vision is not just a picture of what could be, it is an appeal to our better selves, a call to be something more, a need or a desire to step up in the face of adversity and to redefine our path.

As challenging as 2020 has been, it has proved to be the perfect opportunity for each one of us to set aside our normal sight, and to answer the call of true and perfect vision.

Helen Keller was born on the 27th of June in the year 1880, in Alabama. She was an American author, political activist, lecturer and the first deaf and blind person to earn a Bachelor of Arts degree. She once said, 'The only thing worse than being blind is having sight, but no vision.' Keller was born a healthy child, but at the age of nineteen months, she became deaf and blind. As she progressed through childhood, Helen and her friend, Martha Washington, invented a limited sign language in order to communicate with each other. You see, the vision to connect far outweighed the loss of sight.

Helen's life changed when Anne Sullivan agreed to be her teacher. Against bitter odds, these two women had a vision. The vision did not include normal sight. It extended far beyond that and it spoke to the sentiments of the great educationalist, Aristotle, who said, 'It is during our darkest moments that we must focus to see the light.'

Helen Keller provided inspiration by being a powerful example of how determination and hard work can allow anyone to overcome life's most challenging obstacles, and how vision is stronger than sight. At every opportunity, she highlighted the importance of relationships and would often tell her students that walking with a friend in the dark is better than walking alone in the light. She would regularly remind her students that character cannot be developed in ease and quiet. Only through experiences of trial and tribulation, can the soul be strengthened, ambition inspired, and success achieved.

The story of Helen Keller is an apt reminder of the road we have walked this year. While there have been many moments of trials, tribulations and darkness, there have also been incredible opportunities of light and vision. As a community, we have embraced new learning, redirected our thoughts, reached out to each other in moments of need, and created new prospects by applying renewed vision.

We can take further lessons from another extraordinary woman in history, Marie Curie, the polish-born French scientist, famous for her work on radiation, the first woman to win a Nobel Prize, and the only woman to win this award in two different fields. When asked why she was not afraid to do the work she was doing, she replied, 'Nothing in life is to be feared, it is only to be understood. Now is the time to understand more, so that we may fear less.'

In taking time to understand this year, we have had to remove our rose-tinted glasses and come to realize some very simple truths.

The world we live in is interconnected, we are not alone, and our actions have the power to offset a number of unexpected reactions.

Our strategic school vision, of embracing local and global communities, has proved to be both relevant and necessary in a time of global crisis. We have had to look beyond the walls of St Andrew's to see how we could assist others in their time of turmoil, and our girls did so in a variety of ways that left us both inspired and incredibly proud.

Humans are social creatures, and we need social interaction and human contact.

The Covid-19 pandemic has highlighted the importance of social interaction and human contact within almost every aspect of our lives, including education, employment, entertainment and recreation.

2020 has provided us with an opportunity to remove our sunglasses and to see a different perspective. We have realised that we cannot live in a world without human connection. While a Zoom meeting, or an online class, may suffice under necessary circumstances, they will never replace the gift of human touch and face-to-face social interaction.

When darkness sets in, do not be afraid to light your inner candle or reset your vision.

2020 has altered the course of our life journey, it has offered new insight and allowed us to reconnect with the things that really matter in life. By seeking to understand more, we have become less fearful of what lies ahead. It is easy to become fearful when we use sight, but when we apply vision, we become brave.

Ayn Rand, reminds us, 'Throughout the centuries there have been men and women, who took first steps down new roads armed with nothing but their own vision. Their goals differed, but they all had this in common: the step was first, the road new, the vision unborrowed.'

2020 created the opportunity for new vision, for a road untravelled and for us to be brave enough to take the first step into a year we did not plan for, but embraced nonetheless.

As we battled through the initial passage of darkness, we soon realised that in order to create light, we had to let go of the perception of 20/20 sight and embrace a stronger and more resilient vision, because our normal sight, or outlook on life, would have rendered us helpless in a year unparalleled to any other.

Operating by sight can cause you to see the problems and challenges around you, instead of finding the solutions that exist within you. While sight may give direction, vision creates hope.

As we leave this year behind and prepare for 2021, may we carry these five truths about sight versus vision forward with us.

- Sight is a function of the eyes, while vision is a function of the heart and faith.
- Sight is the ability to see things as they are, while vision is the ability to see things as they could, or should, be.
- Sight is confined to your current environment, while vision sees beyond your 'now' to your future possibilities.
- Sight is based upon what your eyes determine to be true, while vision challenges perceived truth and focuses on purpose and possibility.
- Sight is fuelled by an idea that will bring temporary satisfaction, while vision is fuelled by an idea that is so powerful, it can be life-altering and long-lasting.

2020 was set to be a year of vision and indeed it has been. We have questioned all that we deemed normal. We have realised that 20/20 sight does not equate to 20/20 vision.

My prayer for our community, as we close the chapter on a year that has been unique in its teaching, yet life-altering in its significance, is that we reconsider the difference between vision and sight, and that we acknowledge that just because we are seeing something, does not mean that we truly understand or appreciate it.

There have been many lessons on offer in 2020. May we have the grace to learn from them, and take them into whatever lies beyond this year, so that we can be bold enough to turn our sight into vision, and our vision into reality. I give thanks for the lessons of 2020, the year of plenty!

COVID-19

A positive thing that has happened during the Covid 19 pandemic is I learnt more about my family and was able to spend time with them. I even got to learn more of my home language. I even got a new phone during lockdown! But what I am happiest about is not having to write exams.

The negative things that affected me during COVID-19 was not being able to see my friends or some of my other family members. Online school was stressful too, but it was okay in the end. The worst part about the corona virus is that after mid-term, in term two, one of my close relatives got the virus.

The very fascinating thing that I encountered in my quarantine was finding out about cooking. I have learnt how to fry eggs and to fry bacon. I even found out that the corona virus can be passed on just by breathing next to each other.

Kamogelo Ramushu

There aren't as many deaths in South Africa as there are in other countries in the world. Usually only people over 50 years old die from the corona virus. When we were on level 5 we weren't allowed to leave our houses unless we were going grocery shopping or if we were essential workers. When we got to level 3 we were allowed to leave our houses to go for walks and get exercise. So, after a very long time of being on level 5 everyone now exercises way more than they usually do.

There have been a lot of deaths around the globe and there are still lots of deaths every day. We cannot visit our families and friends and we can't go on holiday. We also can't go too close to anyone and we have to wear a mask all the time when we are in public.

I found out that when I have a lot of free time I can read really quickly, and online schooling is way more fun and less stressful.

Amy Cupido

The good thing about COVID-19 is that my dad stayed home, and I got to spend more time with him. I'm glad we got to stay home with our families.

The things that I disliked about COVID-19 was that we were stuck inside, and we could not visit family or friends. Also, my parents caught the virus and I went to my aunt's house which wasn't bad. Many people around us are suffering which made me feel sad because I was fine and safe, and others were not.

COVID-19 has been interesting in many ways like how this has brought us together, even though we can't be together. The whole world is dealing with this which means we have to stand together. I think the world is doing well dealing with this even though lots of people have the virus.

Boikgantsho Mpe

Grade 5

For me there are two positive sides to COVID-19. The one is the new way of schooling. I hate the social distancing but still find the new way less stressful. The second one is spending more time with my family.

I have three minuses. The first of course is social distancing. The second is wearing a mask all the time and the third is not being allowed on the playground.

What I find interesting is that during COVID-19 school has been so much more fun!

Cody Crick

The positive thing about COVID-19 is that everyone has learnt to be grateful for what we have and who we have. Also, it was in winter so in summer we can have fun with our friends.

The bad thing about the virus is that we missed the hockey and netball season. We could not visit anyone. We could not go anywhere, and we were trapped inside our houses for two months.

The interesting thing about COVID-19 is that we saw the world change immediately from a terrible to a little bit better place. Now we are on level two, so let's hope the virus stops soon.

Cristina de Castro

The corona virus plague has put a damper on 2020. But as much as there were terrible things there were also positive things. These were spending more time with your family and having a peaceful relaxing break.

There were also a lot of negative things about COVID-19. There were lots of people who lost loved ones, we had to stop going to school and we couldn't go overseas for our holiday. We also did not see our friends for a long time.

We learned that you should not take things for granted because one day someone's there and the next day they are not. We also learned that COVID-19 does not have wings like other plagues and diseases, so it is spread by coughing and sneezing.

Kanzi Dadoo

A positive thing about COVID-19 is that I could spend more time with my family, and we could bond more. Another positive thing about COVID-19 is that on Friday nights we could sit on the couch and watch a movie instead of going out.

A negative thing about COVID-19 is that we could not go and meet our friends and socialize with other people. Another negative thing is that many businesses are going down, and many people are starting to have problems paying for taxes and other things like food.

An interesting fact about COVID-19 is that it is very hard to make an antivirus for it, which means that it is very hard to make an injection for it.

Lockdown

Lockdown is like putting your whole life on hold.
Waiting and waiting day after day,
But still it seems the same record will play.
It can make you feel angry or uncomfortable,
Like piles of homework not getting done.
Nothing you do seems to make it more fun.
Lounging around is extremely painful,
It's not good Especially
For the brain.
No exercise, no friends nearby,
Instead we communicate only by phones.
Surely this can only make a tiny dent,
When really our whole world has been bent.

By Abigail Lindley

Poetry

Oh, Majestic Oak Tree

A mighty wind blew
Turning Morribrook Avenue
Into a blanket of leaves and acorns
Tree fragments, orange and brittle
Acorny balls, dangerous yet little
Rolling and slippery under my shoes
During a stroll to prevent Covid blues
Oh, majestic oak tree, guardian of the driveway
King of the trees
Observer of nature

By Alessia Erasmus

Lockdown!

Schoolwork, schoolwork, schoolwork
When is it going to end?
Movies are fun
And fun in the sun.
Baking, making, creating,
No drama, no friends
Oh no!
I miss 'em all
Happy times, hugs, laughs, and lots of facetime
Love you school
Love you friends
Lots of fun, fun, fun.

By Ashleigh Harris

Lockdown Curse

Looking out the window
Everything looks the same
But everything has changed
House bound
Stranded
Alone
An only, lonely child
Cut off from my friends
Mere voices on the other side of the line
A text message
A smiley face
Does not replace their faces
Watching my agile cat
Easily climb the wall and he's gone
How lucky he is to escape
No rules
No boundary
No limits
Pure freedom
How I wish I was a cat

By Hannah Whyte

They call it novel; I say it sucks!

One day it was only news.
Now it has taken over.

The whole world is drowning with no cure,
but still some recover and get better.
This means there is hope for the world.

It screams so loudly, but no one can hear it.
Hospitals bursting, but some still do not fear it.
Children kept home as if there is nothing left.
Our doors are shut.

LOCKDOWN!

Shopping malls frantic, frustrated and frenzied,
with petition, panic and pandemonium.

COVID-19 grows. The numbers increase.
As if a pandemic with no cure could get better quickly?

Still we try to survive this wave of darkness,
this boulder in the road...blocking the only way out.

We will not fear it.
We have faith. We have hope. We have each other.
We WILL move this boulder.
The road will open again.
Our doors will open again.

By Caitlyn Muller

Lockdown

I am a prisoner in jail
21 days is my sentence
Can't go out and nowhere to go
Streets are as silent as the night
This is my life
For now
All caused by the virus
COVID-19
Was born in the East
Now spread all over
Like millions of seeds blowing in the wind
This crept on us very suddenly
And is contagious and deadly
No one can see it
But ones who get it
Can feel it
It is like the flu
But much more deadly
Missing school like never before
So, sitting inside all cooped up
So much can be done
Yet still so many people don't have much fun

Protea President

Written for Cyril Ramaphosa

You have stood up to lead without delay
Facing tough decisions that had to be made
Helping us to stay steadfast and strong
With your leadership to guide us along
Some important choices made our lives conform
But we will keep afloat and survive the covid-19 storm

We need to preponderate,
Work as a team, cooperate
You, our leader, has planted the seeds of hope
And as a nation we will help them grow.
All though many will stay discontent
At least we are led by a Protea President.

Early in 2016, various conferences we attended spoke to the Fees Must Fall movement. The acronym VUCA was used; universities spoke to us on how they had managed the protest action on their campuses and how some had simply closed, ensured the safety of their students and migrated seemingly effortlessly to online learning.

1 January 2016 also welcomed the class of 2020 in the senior school. In their speeches at their delayed matric dance, the head girl and her deputies spoke of how they were the first group to have iPads at St Andrew's and to begin the 5-year vision of having every student in the senior school work on iPads to facilitate learning. Reflecting now, I see a close correlation between our vision and those talks in 2016.

Technology has changed the world we live in at a lightning pace. The consequences too, are far reaching – how we communicate, create and gather knowledge; how we listen to music and shop; and even how we start, build or terminate relationships.

VUCA is an acronym based on the leadership theories of Warren Bennis and Burt Nanus. It stands for Volatility, Uncertainty, Complexity and Ambiguity.

Volatility means that things change continuously. We know this; however, it is the speed at which it is changing that is new to us.

Uncertainty – more than ever, we live with a lack of predictability and a prospect for surprise, and globalisation means that a relatively small cause can have huge worldwide consequences.

Complexity refers to the simple cause-and-effect chains that have been replaced by complex interconnected forces and events. In the past the advertiser bought advertising space in printed media, on radio or tv and reached the targeted audience. Today's advertising is a labyrinth of complex bidding systems to get the right advertisement on the right screen of the right person. The algorithms used by smart phones search and save data that personalises the advertising on your social media sites.

Ambiguity – You can easily find convincing but totally contradictory information for any statement made. Many leaders avoid taking positions and it is becoming increasingly difficult to find the clarity needed.

Move from 2016 to the year 2019, where the grade 12s chanted for 2020.

For education and schools, 2020 began with the tragic drowning of 13-year-old Enock Pianzi whilst on a school camp, prompting a strong call for all schools to examine their policies, procedures and practices. The importance and acknowledgement of the existence of each member was highlighted.

Less than 5 weeks after this event, came murmurings of a potential pandemic. Two weeks before the class of 2020 could enjoy their fairy-tale matric dance, schools went into lockdown. Suddenly we faced exactly the same prospects, under different conditions, as the universities in 2015 and 2016.

St Andrew's managed to turn a physical onsite school into an online school within two days. The five years of prework around the iPads and Microsoft Teams had made this possible. My sincere thanks go to Mrs Larangeira, Mrs Murray and the entire staff for a shift that most certainly challenged every fibre of their being.

Home and the workspace suddenly became one. Whilst the upper half of teachers was professionally clothed, the bottom half included tracksuit pants, slippers, the pet cat, or a teacher's child wanting breakfast.

For the girls, there was the introduction of a warm bed as the classroom desk. Upfront it is important to state that we had never been trained for anything like this. We made mistakes, but as a community we got a lot right and we are here, seven months later, in more-or-less one piece, a little frayed around the edges but here – more equipped, more knowledgeable, and with a tired but can-do attitude.

During these months of Covid, the world was rocked by the death of George Floyd in the States. The Black Lives Matter movement began to echo around the world and we were called as a school, as a community and as individuals to look at ourselves long and hard.

Volatility, uncertainty, complexity and ambiguity were very much part of the day-to-day events as this unfolded within each of us and as a community. We had to understand that we do not know or understand everything. We needed to be open to listening for understanding and to learning to examine our own bias. To own hurt caused, intentionally or unintentionally, became part of the path to rebuilding a truly inclusive school.

‘Clear communication, good teamwork and collaboration is vital in this time. This will give us a clear direction and encourage us to solve complex problems together.’

As head of the senior school I commit fully to building this path with the community, to examining my own bias and to unlearning and relearning what I know and what I don’t. What I do know, is that together we can create a school built on African soil, that is a leader in its field, for before us sit generations of young women for whom the vision of establishing a school of excellence still stands firm and strong. Clear communication, good teamwork and collaboration is vital in this time. This will give us a clear direction and encourage us to solve complex problems together.

And so, as 2020 slowly comes to an end and the matrics in front of us sit poised for their final examinations and a future that is filled with possibilities, there are a few important things I have left to say.

Nicole, Sarah and Ugochi – leadership is not easy; it can be lonely and taxing. However, you have mastered a technique that many before you have not necessarily got right and that is to stand back to allow others to grow. You quickly pulled people in around you, allowed them to run with tasks and to carry the spotlight. You are all phenomenal young women and I am honoured to have walked 2020 alongside you. May you be blessed abundantly in your futures.

I end off with the following quote from Mandy Hale: ‘Trust the wait. Embrace the uncertainty. Enjoy the beauty of becoming. When nothing is certain, anything is possible.’

Violet Jack

In South Africa,
It snows purple flowers of Jacarandas –
Huge snowfalls of it.

Brought home by a
Foreign man, our Jack
Let his roots down and
Claimed the soil his own.

Jack forced Purple
Into the land of green, red, blue, yellow, Black and White.

How beautiful he is
With his sturdy trunk that
Took over spring and called upon
A violent winter.

Jack of the beanstalk,
Jack of all trades,
He took all the gold
And slayed all who owned it.

Oh what an admirable feat!
I am certain that the
Mulberry-violet stains
Will never
Leave the land.

CEV*

a deep inhale eyes shut
limp body
I prepare to travel
Paralysed by a kaleidoscopic scene
A regurgitation of the universe's brightest neons
Galaxies dancing before
Like my forefathers did beneath them
Everything is in alignment
I'm soaring, yet still
The patterns scream and shout
The racket is calming
Because I know now
And I know how

*Close eyed visions/hallucinations are patterns and colours usually seen by people under a drug-induced high but when seen in a sober state they are seen as signs of spiritual growth and awareness. This poem was written after I had seen the same colourful patterns for three consecutive nights during a very difficult time in my life.

What were you wearing

what were you wearing she is greeted with as she went to the police seeing her radiance and confidence felt like an invite but did it feel right
despite not ever hearing consent her fragility matched his masculinity

what was she wearing when a girl from the coast went to do the post but deemed a ghost
hear the voices crying out for help but are muffled by merciless malicious manipulative man hands to be asked what I was wearing I fear with more of a chance than to finish my matric year

what was she wearing when a please don't, stop was distorted into a please, don't stop

when will she feel in place
when will she not have her drink laced
when will I feel safe for what a call for help no man is of doubt that his ways are at fault

but is it simply assault

when will she not be blamed
when will she not feel ashamed when will he not be able to proclaim and frame to what she was wearing a wife fears for her life

as a knife holds more supremacy
as he has no empathy
when his blood flows with Hennessey

it is tiring
having to look back every now and then never being able to be out after half ten having to watch out for all these men but what were you wearing he'll forget what she was wearing she'll remember the cries for help for it smelts one in a personal hell.

No justice no peace
but yet is that all the matters
what you were wearing

Social Anxiety

I'm in the corner of the room,
eyes clinging to everyone as they walk past;
My hands are lightly gripping the clothes I spent 3 hours choosing
I've made it exceptionally clear that I'm nervous, and though I feel stares, no one is looking at me.

The room thunders with talkative teenagers,
each frantically looking for their friends.
Big groups of girls compared to smaller groups of boys;
The drama has already started and the chatter gets louder.
I've made it exceptionally clear that I'm timorous, and though no one is talking about me, I cringe hearing the titbits.

It's just past my Netflix hour,
I'd rather be at home or with my inner circle.
I know once I stay long enough I'll be more comfortable, but my heart is pounding like a drum as my breathing gets heavier.
I've made it exceptionally clear that I'm distant, though the butterflies in my stomach keep moving, I'm stay stationary in the corner.

I wouldn't try to approach someone,
and the few friends I have are late;
the Music and I are involving ourselves from a distance
And I'm aware that I was once close with everybody.
This is not my first party, so why am I behaving like this?
I've made it incredibly clear that I'm awkward and though I have many, many friends, social anxiety is one too.

*Goodbyes are not forever.
Goodbyes are not the end.
They simply mean I'll miss you until we meet again!*

School Song

Per Angusta Ad Augusta

Per angusta ad augusta
Per angusta ad augusta
Per angusta ad augusta
To this aim our lives we give.
Through all trials unto triumphs,
We will suffer, work and live
From the knowledge that we gather
Midst the warmth of friendly days.
We will honour, love and cherish
This our school in all our ways.
Per angusta ad augusta
Per angusta ad augusta
Per angusta ad augusta
To this aim our lives we give.
Per angusta ad augusta
To this aim our lives we give.
