

SECRET

4

The UN special representative for Angola, Issa DIALLO, said on 14 November it would be â\200\234usefulâ\200\235 to meet UNITAâ\200\231s SAVIMBI in order to put the stalled peace accord back on track.

DIALLO said after meeting Burkinese president and chairperson of the OAU, Blaise COMPAORE, that if there is a â\200\234chance in a million that talking to SAVIMBI can put the 1994

Lusaka protocol on track and bring peace back, we must take that chanceâ\200\235.
(SAPA-AFP 14/1 1/98)

SECRET

A/N PIQOIIQOOS( H

Smĩ-\\202lĩ-\\202n Aĩ-\\202jmccan Secrdf Service

Private 809 IS HHTFIELD
0028

'5' (012) 427 5500

PRETORIH

SECRET

SASS/N41/13/1/8

19 NOVEMBER 1998

OFFICE OF THE MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

ANGOLA UPDATE

1.

2.

Attached for your attention, a brief intelligence report on the above-mentioned topic.

Should you have any additional requirements on this issue, we will gladly try to assist in obtaining more information.

,;i)ĩ-\\201

//

jaxplli-\\201/LECTOR GENERAL

/:)

SECRET

E

SECRET

DISTRIBUTION LIST:

1.

â\200\234

.

9

9

9

9

9

$

â\200\235

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

OFFICE OF THE EXECUTIVE DEPUTY PRESIDENT

OFFICE OF THE MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

MINISTER OF DEFENCE

DEPUTY MINISTER OF INTELLIGENCE

COORDINATOR FOR INTELLIGENCE

DIRECTOR GENERAL OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

DDG: AFRICA

SECURITY AND ADMINISTRATIVE MEASURES

THIS DOCUMENT IS SUBJECT TO THE PROTECTION OF INFORMATION ACT (ACT 84 OF 1982).

THE DISTRIBUTION OF INFORMATION CONTAINED IN THIS DOCUMENT IS RESTRICTED TO OFFICIAL INSTITUTIONS OF THE REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA. PERMISSION FOR DEVIATION FROM THE AUTHORISED DISTRIBUTION LIST HAS TO BE OBTAINED FROM DIVISIONAL HEAD N41, ON BEHALF OF THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF THE SOUTH AFRICAN SECRET SERVICE.

AFTER USE, THIS DOCUMENT MUST BE DESTROYED BY MEANS OF BURNING OR SHREDDING. THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF THE SOUTH AFRICAN SECRET SERVICE MUST BE NOTIFIED ACCORDINGLY. SUCH NOTIFICATIONS MUST BE MARKED FOR THE ATTENTION OF THE DIVISIONAL HEAD N42.

SECRET

SECRET

2 from the government to join the government instigated a Renewal Committee. Their statement on

5 November in which they called for the democratisation and demilitarisation of UNITA, which may be construed as a rejection of Jonas SAVIMBI, should be seen against that background. He emphasised, however, that it was not his intention to send a signal that he wanted to break away from SAVIMBI to form a third block within UNITA. The criticism of UNITA continued

military capability was exploited by the government controlled media to create the impression that the group rejected SAVIMBI.

(Classified report)

The aerial reconnaissance project run for the Angolan Armed Forces (FAA) by a group of South

Africans under the leadership of Lafras LUITINGH, a former Executive Outcomes director, is experiencing contractual difficulties. Although the plane used for the aerial surveillance, a Beechcraft King Air, was recently serviced in South Africa and then returned to Angola (Luanda), the crew has not started missions because the relevant Angolan counterparts have not yet signed to renew the contract. The crew is not willing to undertake any missions until the Angolans have signed the contract.

(Classified report)

Fourteen people were killed in an attack on 14 November in northern Angola. The attack, blamed on UNITA, occurred in the town of Kateku-Kangola, in the Malanje province. Other attacks were reported elsewhere in the same province. On 16 November 20 people were killed near the southern city of Benguela during an ambush on two trucks in which at least 10 other people were wounded.

In another development Angolan troops tracking gunmen, who raided a Canadian-owned mine, have found three corpses believed to be those of three kidnapped expatriate workers. The gunmen attacked the mine at Yetwene, a remote mining village about 600 kilometers east of Luanda, killing eight employees and wounding 24 others.

(SAPA-AP 1 4/1 1/98)

More than 10 percent of Angola's population of just over 12 million are displaced as a result of years of civil war, which has flared anew in recent months. According to a UN official there are 331 000 new internally displaced persons since April 1998. Of these, 150 000 had been displaced

SECRET

SECRET

Angola Update 98/013

19 November 1998

COPY 003

Leading item

9

An analysis by the Angolan Military Intelligence Service (SSM) at the end of October 1998 , estimates that UNITA's total military force strength is now between 35 and 40 000 troops.

According to the SSM, this force is deployed as follows:

*

*

*

*

North: 25 battalions (12 000 troops)

East: 20 battalions (7 000 troops)

Centre: 26 battalions (14 000 troops)

South: 4 000 armed troops but not deployed as battalions

The SSM also believes that UNITA has the following range of weapons at its disposal: tanks,

EMF 1 and 2, VBTP, Frog missiles, D-30 and Uragan long-range artillery, Strela and Tunguska anti-air systems, Apila, TOW and Milan anti-tank systems, 106 and 107 mm canons, 120 mm mortars, various transport vehicles, and anti-personnel and anti-vehicle mines.

The SSM says UNITA has about 12 fully equipped and fortified command posts linked through a good communications network.

(Classified report)

Internal developments

0

UNITA's unofficial Parliamentary leader, Mr Abel CHIVUKUVUKU, in a private conversation

again expressed his severe disappointment and disillusionment with the UNITA leadership in Andulo/Bailundo. He complained about a total lack of direction, vision and focus from this leadership, failing to respond to opportunities to break out of its current position of i solation.

He also explained that the UNITA deputies in Luanda are under severe psychological pressure

SECRET

in

.

'4â\200\234. -

Noquu
CongoQ

.
*

3 a

-

m m n

â\200\231

W

\

V

V

:Nâ\200\230 dalatando

U Quela )
$???uĩ¬\201amij'anl9% â\200\230Cangandala

â\200\23550â\200\235 0â\200\230 Cuanza

AJQUIbaIa:
0., o
Gabela;

OCEAN

.

@

—

,

.

—

~

.

.

r

,

w

—
â\200\230

.

.

.

.

.

.

Cuanavale

Mavinga

-â\200\224'---

3

12Â°

han-

,:}. _

I

e n
e m
l

QLuatamba

xLucusse

~Lubango

OChibia

\Râ\200\231

K/

OCaconda/

Techamâ\200\230utete

r

Lumbala
N'guimbo

*NAMIBE gBibaIa

OQuulengues
HUILA

WÂ«5/1"
ï¬\201dNamlbe\

,C-Ã©bbï¬\201t -
g4 5:21mMaria;
I Qabadb;

â\200\230LOIVireI
C U AiN D O 0%

Cartographic Section Map No. 3727 Rev. 1

Department of Public Information

Januaty 1995 (Colour)

UNited NATIONS

SECRET

3

since the beginning of September 1998 while the UN could not assist about 10 000 of the 331 000 because of security and access problems.

(Reuters 1 7/11/98)

9

A convoy of 40 food aid trucks, including UN escorts, has been trapped in central Angola since

15 November when the road ahead was declared unsafe. Over 80 percent of the food aid allocated by World Food Programme (WFP) for the areas around southern Huambo, Bie and northern

Cuando Cubango remain undelivered. According to a WFP official there is about 3 7000 tonnes of food still outstanding for the month of November and as many as 200 000 people could be affected by this.

(Reuters 1 7/11/98)

External developments

9

A Zambian newspaper reported on 13 November 1998 that 200 Angolan refugees entered Zambia over the previous week and are presently accommodated at a transit centre in the Mwinilunga district.

The newspaper quoted a United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR)

spokesperson as saying initial reports seemed to indicate that at least some of them took flight after

incidents of forced conscription by UNITA forces in the Cazombo area in Angola's Mexico Province. However, a source at Jesuits Refugee Services in Lusaka has indicated that the influx of refugees was as a result of heavy bombing by the Angolan government forces on UNITA controlled Cazombo in eastern Angola.

The refugees will be transferred to Maheba refugee settlement in Zambia, which presently accommodates 28 200 refugees of which 24 700 originated from Angola. Zambia's Home Affairs Minister, Mr Katele KALUMBA, said on 15 November that there are now 65 000 refugees in Zambia.

(The Post, 13/11/98)

SECRET

SECRET

3

since the beginning of September 1998 while the UN could not assist about 10 000 of the 331 000 because of security and access problems.

(Reuters 1 7/11/98)

9

A convoy of 40 food aid trucks, including UN escorts, has been trapped in central Angola since

15 November when the road ahead was declared unsafe. Over 80 percent of the food aid allocated

by World Food Programme (WFP) for the areas around southern Huambo, Bie and northern

Cuando Cubango remain undelivered. According to a WFP official there is about 3 7000 tonnes of food still outstanding for the month of November and as many as 200 000 people could be affected by this.

(Reuters 1 7/11/98)

External developments

9

A Zambian newspaper reported on 13 November 1998 that 200 Angolan refugees entered Zambia over the previous week and are presently accommodated at a transit centre in the Mwinilunga

district.

The newspaper quoted a United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR)

spokesperson as saying initial reports seemed to indicate that at least some of them took flight after

incidents of forced conscription by UNITA forces in the Cazombo area in Angola's Mexico

Province. However, a source at Jesuit Refugee Services in Lusaka has indicated that the influx of refugees was as a result of heavy bombing by the Angolan government forces on UNITA controlled Cazombo in eastern Angola.

The refugees will be transferred to Maheba refugee settlement in Zambia, which presently accommodates 28 200 refugees of which 24 700 originated from Angola. Zambia's Home Affairs Minister, Mr Katele KALUMBA, said on 15 November that there are now 65 000 refugees in Zambia.

(The Post, 13/11/98)

SECRET

3%3

. kmh

WM banzaCongoQ

'Noqm

.
â\200\234
5

Andrzajda 2m
Lucapa

.
m m
â\200\230
Â©9

.
â\200\231
1

â\200\230
x
â\200\231
1
Â«

KNâ\200\230dalatando

MQuibalÃ©:

â\200\234wâ\200\230sâ\200\235,-
,â\200\224

t

v

Âçâ\200\2341UNDA

\)6"â\200\234

abela;

Cu

4

+WM/M-IULumeIe

"U' Ã©n" "

'ELOVireI W

Mavinga

,:}. _

_â\200\230 CMb&â\200\230ï¬\202bâ\200\231:

3

OCaconda/

antsMaria â\200\230

,

â\200\231

OQUIlenglâ\200\231JeS

JNamIbe\ 0933mm

on

K/

*NAMIBE

iBibaIa

Â«4z.WY?â\200\235Â«Lubango

ww

C U A/N D O 0%.

Department of Public lnformatIon Map No. 3727 Rev. 1

JanuaIy 1995 (Colour)

UNITED NATIONS

Cartographic SectIon

Cuanavale

.

K

"

ˆ

/./"'

,

,

SECRET

Angola Update 98/013

19 November 1998

COPY 003

Leading item

9

An analysis by the Angolan Military Intelligence Service (SSM) at the end of October 1998 , estimates that UNITA's total military force strength is now between 35 and 40 000 troops.

According to the SSM, this force is deployed as follows:

*

*

*

*

North: 25 battalions (12 000 troops)

East: 20 battalions (7 000 troops)

Centre: 26 battalions (14 000 troops)

South: 4 000 armed troops but not deployed as battalions

The SSM also believes that UNITA has the following range of weapons at its disposal: tanks,

EMF 1 and 2, VBTP, Frog missiles, D-30 and Uragan long-range artillery, Strela and Tunguska anti-air systems, Apila, TOW and Milan anti-tank systems, 106 and 107 mm canons, 120 mm mortars, various transport vehicles, and anti-personnel and anti-vehicle mines.

The SSM says UNITA has about 12 fully equipped and fortified command posts linked through a good communications network.

(Classified report)

Internal developments

0

UNITA's unofficial Parliamentary leader, Mr Abel CHIVUKUVUKU, in a private conversation

again expressed his severe disappointment and disillusionment with the UNITA leadership in Andulo/Bailundo. He complained about a total lack of direction, vision and focus from this leadership, failing to respond to opportunities to break out of its current position of i solation.

He also explained that the UNITA deputies in Luanda are under severe psychological pressure

SECRET

SECRET

2 from the government to join the government instigated â\200\234Renewal Committeeâ\200\235.

Their statement on

5 November in which they called for the democratisation and demilitarisation of UNITA, which may be construed as a rejection of Jonas SAVIMBI, should be seen against that background.

He

emphasised, however, that it was not his intention to send a signal that he wanted to break away from SAVIMBI to form a third block within UNITA. The criticism of UNITA â\200\2313 continued

military capability was exploited by the government controlled media to create the impression that the group rejected SA WEI.

(Classified report)

The aerial reconnaissance project run for the Angolan Armed Forces (FAA) by a group of South

Africans under the leadership of Lafras LUITINGH, a former Executive Outcomes director, is experiencing contractual difficulties. Although the plane used for the aerial surveillance, a Beechcraft King Air, was recently serviced in South Africa and then returned to Angola (Luanda),

the crew has not started missions because the relevant Angolan counterparts have not yet signed to renew the contract. The crew is not willing to undertake any missions until the Angolans have signed the contract.

(Classified report)

Fourteen people were killed in an attack on 14 November in northern Angola. The attack, blamed on UNITA, occurred in the town of Kateku-Kangola, in the Malanje province. Other attacks were reported elsewhere in the same province. On 16 November 20 people were killed near the southern city of Benguela during an ambush on two trucks in which at least 10 other people were wounded.

In another development Angolan troops tracking gunmen, who raided a Canadian-owned mine, have found three corpses believed to be those of three kidnapped expatriate workers. The gunmen attacked the mine at Yetwene, a remote mining village about 600 kilometers east of Luanda, killing eight employees and wounding 24 others.

(SAPAâ\200\224AP 1 4/1 1/98)

More than 10 percent of Angola's population of just over 12 million are displaced as a result of years of civil war, which has flared anew in recent months. According to a UN official there are 331 000 new internally displaced persons since April 1998. Of these, 150 000 had been displaced

SECRET

SECRET

DISTRIBUTION LIST:

1.

â\200\234

.

9

9

9

9

9

$

â\200\235

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

OFFICE OF THE EXECUTIVE DEPUTY PRESIDENT

OFFICE OF THE MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

MINISTER OF DEFENCE

DEPUTY MINISTER OF INTELLIGENCE

COORDINATOR FOR INTELLIGENCE

DIRECTOR GENERAL OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

DDG: AFRICA

SECURITY AND ADMINISTRATIVE MEASURES

THIS DOCUMENT IS SUBJECT TO THE PROTECTION OF INFORMATION ACT (ACT 84 OF 1982).

THE DISTRIBUTION OF INFORMATION CONTAINED IN THIS DOCUMENT IS RESTRICTED TO OFFICIAL INSTITUTIONS OF THE REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA.
PERMISSION FOR DEVIATION FROM THE AUTHORISED DISTRIBUTION LIST HAS TO BE OBTAINED FROM DIVISIONAL HEAD N41, ON BEHALF OF THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF THE SOUTH AFRICAN SECRET SERVICE.

AFTER USE, THIS DOCUMENT MUST BE DESTROYED BY MEANS OF BURNING OR SHREDDING. THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF THE SOUTH AFRICAN SECRET SERVICE MUST BE NOTIFIED ACCORDINGLY. SUCH NOTIFICATIONS MUST BE MARKED FOR THE ATTENTION OF THE DIVISIONAL HEAD N42.

SECRET

MPIOOIIQOOS1 H

Sï¬\202ï¬\202ï¬\202ï¬\202tï¬\202â\200\231ï¬\202 Aï¬\202jrï¬\202ccaum Secrei Service â\200
\230
,

3 (012) 427 5500

Private 809 x3
HRTFIELD
0028

PRETORIH

SECRET

SASS/N41/13/1/8

19 NOVEMBER 1998

OFFICE OF THE MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

ANGOLA UPDATE

1.

Attached for your attention, a brief intelligence report on the aboveâ\200\224mentioned topic.

2.

Should you have any additional requirements on this issue, we will gladly try to assist in obtaining more information.

,;:}ï¬\202

I

//

* <[(5{,ÂçZL\

jaleE/CTOR GENERAL

1:,/

!
f;

SECRET

E

SECRET

4

The UN special representative for Angola, Issa DIALLO, said on 14 November it would be
â\200\234usefulâ\200\235 to meet UNITAâ\200\231s SAVIMBI in order to put the stalled peace accord back on track.

DIALLO said after meeting Burkinese president and chairperson of the OAU, Blaise COMPAORE, that if there is a â\200\234chance in a million that talking to SAVIMBI can put
the 1994

Lusaka protocol on track and bring peace back, we must take that chanceâ\200\235.
(SAPA-AFP 14/1 1/98)

SECRET