FUBA Gallery is to:
host a three-man exhibition on June 28.

Paintings, draw-., ings, sculptures and:
artistsâ\200\230Gcina Maduna, Mpolokeng Rampho-

will be displayed at the gallery.

One of the artists â\200\224
self-taught Gcina Ma-duna â\200\224 talked to the NEW NATION.

"I like to do works
based on the environment I live in. The way people's faces
react to different circumstances fascin-ates me," he said

age. But he shelved
his talent for some time.

What brought him back to art again? He explained: "For almost three months I was lying sick on a hospital bed in Johannesburg.

"I got bored sleeping there waiting for the doctor to discharge me. So, I took a pen and did some drawings. Since then, I have not stopped painting.â\200\235

SCULPTORS Roy Ndinisa and E

: are to host a'two-week, two-man exhibition of their linoprints and paintings at the Fuba Gallery from May 31.

The exhibition forms a series of work by _artists outside the Joâ\200\231burg complex which Fuba is presently exploring. ;

While both artists may be relatively unknown to the arts fraternity in Joâ\200\231burg, their work has been described as â\200\234captivatingâ\200\235 by art critics.

and being appointed to a managerial position at the Market Theatre â\200\224 he is now to appear as Othello with actress Janet Suzman.

This will be Kani and Suzmanâ\200\231s second major production. Their first, The Death of Bessie Smith drew capacity crowds during its seasonal run.

However, in preparation for the production, thÃ© Market Theatre Company, will be holding auditions and the production is scheduled for September. .
