African National Congress 1912 — 1987

The African National Congress, formed in 1912, embodies the aspirations of the South African people in their fight for freedom. The ANC is a people's organisation, and the 75 years of its existence have been characterised by sustained mass resistance despite intense repression. On the occasion of its 75th anniversary, the ANC appeals to peace- and freedom-loving people throughout the world to join with them in their struggle for liberation. The defeat of apartheid tyranny will be a victory against racism wherever it is found.
